Environmental Assessment Act

NOTICE OF ACCEPTANCE OF AN ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT

NOTICE OF APPROVAL TO PROCEED WITH AN UNDERTAKING

RE: An Environmental Assessment for Port Hope Flood Control

Proponent: Ganaraska River Region Conservation Authority and the Corporation of the Town of Port Hope

E.A. File No. 1-80-0014-000

TAKE NOTICE that the date for receipt by me for submissions or requirements for a hearing on the above environmental assessment and/or its review by the Ontario Government, pursuant to the Notice of Completion of Environmental Assessment Review, dated July 26, 1982, has expired as of September 10, 1982. I received two submissions and no requirements for a hearing by that date. Both submitters have waived their right to a hearing. I do not consider it advisable to require the Environmental Assessment Board to hold a hearing at this time.

ACCEPTANCE OF THE ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT

I have considered the purpose of the Act, the above environmental assessment and the review, and am of the opinion that the environmental assessment is satisfactory to enable a decision to be made as to whether approval to proceed with the undertaking should or should not be given, or should be given subject to terms and conditions.

Accordingly, I accept the environmental assessment.

HEARING

Under section 13 of the Act, Before I, or the Environmental Assessment Board, can consider whether approval to proceed with the undertaking should or should not be given, or should be given subject to terms and conditions, the proponent or anyone having previously made a submission under subsection 7 (2) of the Act on the Notice of Completion of Environmental Assessment Review for this undertaking, may require a hearing by the Environmental Assessment Board with respect to whether approval to proceed with the undertaking should or should not be given, or should be given subject to terms and conditions.

The proponent and the other submitter have waived the right to a hearing on the approval of the undertaking.

APPROVAL TO PROCEED WITH THE UNDERTAKING

I have considered the purpose of the Act and the environmental assessment of the undertaking as accepted by me.

Accordingly, I hereby give approval to proceed with the undertaking subject to the conditions set out below.

REASONS

The reasons for giving approval are:

(1) I received no submission requiring a hearing by the Environmental Assessment Board after giving the Notice of Completion of Environmental Assessment Review dated July 26, 1982 and the proponent and the other submitter have waived the right to a hearing on the approval of the undertaking. I am not aware of any outstanding issues with respect to this undertaking which suggests that a hearing should be required.

(2) No other more beneficial method of implementing the undertaking was identified.

CONDITIONS

1. Except as provided by the subsequent conditions, the proponent shall comply with all of the provisions of the EA which are hereby incorporated by reference.
2. Prior to the commencement of construction, the final plans, design specifications and methods of implementation of each stage of the channelization shall be approved by the Directors of the Central Regions of the Ministry of the Environment and the Ministry of Natural Resources, and copies of the final plans will be filed in the Public Record.
3. Construction activities shall only be carried out in the watercourse during the period specified in writing by the District Manager of the Lindsay District of the Ministry of Natural Resources. The District Manager shall advise the Director of the Central Region of the Ministry of the Environment and public record of these dates and any amendments.
4. Construction of the undertaking shall be conducted in accordance with the Ministry of the Environment's publication, Evaluating Construction Activities Impacting on Water Resources, particularly section #9 (Bridge Construction) and MOE Guidelines on Water Excavation. In addition, where excavation will interfere with existing bedrock well supplies, the proponent will provide alternate or improved groundwater supplies or municipal service.
5. The proponent shall be responsible for monitoring the construction site for the presence of contaminated materials. If during excavation, any radioactive materials are found the proponent will ensure that these materials are deposited in an approved site. If an approved temporary or permanent disposal site is not available, the material will be left stored and protected at the construction site until it can be transported to an approved disposal site.

   Radioactive materials are defined as materials having a concentration of radionuclides greater than the concentration present in the local soil. Gammaradiation measures in excess of background levels normal for the area may be a suitable indicator of the presence of radioactive materials.
6. The proponent shall carry out all construction blasting in accordance with the Ministry of the Environment's Model Municipal Noise By-Law Publication No. NPC-119. In carrying out the blasting, the proponent shall:
   - conduct a pre-blast survey of structures including structures located at 59 King Street in the Town of Port Hope;
   - provide a qualified powderman to undertake the blasting;
   - monitor the blast for noise, concussion and vibration under the direction of a qualified blasting consultant;

- limit the frequency of the blasting to two blasts per week and shall notify people potentially affected of the time of the blast;
- blasting shall occur only during favourable weather conditions as determined by the blasting consultant;
- purchase an insurance policy to provide coverage for any damage claims.

7. The proponent shall provide a description of the bridges to be demolished to the Director of the Archaeology and Heritage Planning Branch of the Ministry of Citizenship and Culture by completing the Ministry's Bridge Recording Form. A copy of this form shall also be supplied to the Public Record.

8. Prior to the commencement of construction, final plans and design specifications of the replacement bridges shall be provided to the Director of the Archaeology and Heritage Planning Branch of the Ministry of Citizenship and Culture for approval.

9. Subject to condition 10, the material supplied in the proponent's submission dated September 8, 1982 is incorporated in the Environmental Assessment by reference.

10. In addition to the parameters described in the proponents' submission Reference Number C:3 (c), turbidity shall be added to the list of water quality monitoring set out in clause 1 (a).

Dated at Toronto, this 8th day of December, 1982.

Minister of the Environment,

Having been advised that if the undertaking is subject to the application of the Act, the following injury, damage or interference with the persons and property indicated will occur:

A. The Ministry of Natural Resources will be damaged by the interference with the Ministry's commitment to protect significant natural and cultural environments and to provide the public with outdoor recreation opportunities and tourism benefits.

B. The public will be damaged by the loss of anticipated outdoor recreational opportunities and tourism benefits.

C. The Ministry of Natural Resources is preparing an Environmental Assessment for provincial parks. This work would be hampered by the requirement to seek separate approval for these activities.

Having weighed such injury, damage, or interference against the betterment of the people of the whole or any part of Ontario by the protection, conservation and wise management in Ontario of the environment which would result from the undertaking being subject to the application of the Act;

The undersigned is of the opinion that it is in the public interest to order and orders that the undertaking is exempt from the application of the Act for the following reasons:

A. The identification of park candidates has been on-going through Parks System Planning, and was the subject of the public Report of the Task Force on Parks System Planning, as well as being a key component of the Land Use Guidelines.

B. The selection of recommended park candidates incorporated input from the general public and interest groups by means of the public consultation process of the Land Use Guidelines.

C. The interim management of these parks will be carried out within a context of conservation, protection and wise management of the environment.

D. Approved MNR Class EA's will be followed for applicable projects carried out for interim park management.

E. The Ministry of Natural Resources is preparing an environmental assessment for provincial parks which will be submitted under the Act for acceptance and approval.

This exemption order is subject to the following terms and conditions:

1. This exemption does not apply to any plan or project:

2. MNR will provide the Environmental Assessment Branch as well as the Regional Office of the Ministry of the Environment with annual work plans for the Provincial Parks Program no less than 30 days prior to the implementation of any plan or project. The annual work plans will specify the nature, size and location of all plans and projects. MNR will notify the above offices of revisions to the work plans no less than 30 days prior to the implementation of any such revisions to plans or projects.

3. A copy of each plan included in the work plan noted in Condition 2 shall be available to the public for examination at the appropriate District Office of MNR at least 30 days before implementation commences.

4. Activities carried out in Provincial Parks that would be covered by an approved MNR Class Environmental Assessment, except that they are occurring in a Provincial Park, will:

   (a) follow the appropriate Class EA procedures, including notification, if there is no Master Plan; and

   (b) follow the environmental quality guidelines and Construction and Mitigation Handbook, if there is a Master Plan.

5. Should it become apparent to the Ministry of Natural Resources that any interim management of a project exempt under this order meets the criteria set out below, or the public approaches either the Ministry of Natural Resources or the Ministry of the Environment, and upon notice and consultation between Ministries, either Minister may decide that an individual Environmental Assessment be prepared in the following circumstances:

   (a) where a proposed plan or project generates an unusual amount of public or Government concern;

   (b) where there are unusual or significant potential environmental impacts not adequately treated in the pertinent planning exercise; or

   (c) where a land area that has significant earth science, life science or cultural features is acquired for the purposes of or is brought into the Provincial Parks Program.

6. Where an Environmental Assessment has been done and approval to proceed received or an exemption granted for an individual Provincial Parks plan or project, that plan or project shall be deemed to be a separate undertaking not exempt by this order.

7. During the period covered by this order, MNR will continue its compliance with the Environmental Protection Act and the Provincial Parks Program shall be planned, implemented and managed according to the following Provincial Parks' guidelines and policies:

   —Ontario Provincial Parks Policy
   —Park Management and Operating Plan Format —Landscape Design Principles and Guidelines —Visitor Services Interim Policy
   —Master Planning Guidelines (when approved).

8. Any revisions to the guidelines and policies cited in Condition 7 and any new policies and guidelines will be placed in the Public Record for this exemption order.

9. Those plans and projects planned under this exemption, but not fully implemented by the date of an approval being issued with respect to the Environmental Assessment of the undertaking referred to in Reason E will have their status under the Act reviewed in connection with the review of that Environmental Assessment and, if provided for in conditions of approval issued in connection with the undertaking, may continue to proceed in accordance with such conditions. Made—June 9th, 1983.
Approved—June 9th, 1983.

ORDER MADE UNDER THE ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT ACT

EXEMPTION—TOWNSHIP OF OWENS, WILLIAMSON AND IDINGTON—OWEN-TP-1

Having received a request from the Township of Owens, Williamson and Idington that an undertaking, namely:

> The activity of establishing, operating and maintaining a sewage disposal system in the community of Harty consisting of collector sewers and a lagoon sewage treatment facility, be exempt from the application of the Act pursuant to section 29; and

Having been advised that if the undertaking is subject to the application of the Act, the following injury, damage or interference with the persons and property indicated will occur:

A. The inhabitants of the community will be exposed for a longer period of time to a health hazard because of the presence of untreated sewage in local ditches; and

B. The inhabitants of the community will be exposed for a longer period of time to a health hazard due to the potential contamination of local well-water supplies.

Having weighed such injury, damage, or interference against the betterment of the people of the whole or any part of Ontario by the protection, conservation and wise management in Ontario of the environment which would result from the undertaking being subject to the application of the Act;

The undersigned is of the opinion that it is in the public interest to order and orders that the undertaking is exempt from the application of the Act for the following reasons:

A. The undertaking is needed to overcome health problems associated with the lack of servicing the existing population of the community.

B. The proponent advises that the environmental effects of the construction and operation of the sewage works are expected to be limited and not adverse.

C. The proponent advises that construction operations would only pose a short-term disruption to people living in the area.

This exemption is subject to the following terms and conditions:

1. Construction methods and schedules will be implemented in consultation with the Ministry of the Environment Timmins District Office and follow the "Environmental Considerations for the Planning and Construction of Sewer and Water Projects" (November, 1980) guidelines.

2. Site supervision will be provided by the consultant to ensure the enforcement of all protective measures.

3. All necessary provincial and other approvals are to be obtained before construction commences.

4. Where an activity which otherwise would be exempt under this order is being carried out as, or is part of, an undertaking for which an approval to proceed has been received, the activity shall be carried out in accordance with any terms or conditions in the approval to proceed as well as the conditions of this order.

5. Where an activity which is the subject of this order is being carried out as, or is part of, another undertaking which is the subject of an exemption order under the Act, the activity exempt under this order shall be carried out in accordance with any terms or conditions in the other exemption order as well as the conditions in this order. ## ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT ACT

O. Reg. 366/83.
Exemption—Ministry of Government Services—MGS-53.
Made—June 9th, 1983.
Approved—June 9th, 1983.
Filed—June 20th, 1983.

EXEMPTION—MINISTRY OF GOVERNMENT SERVICES—MGS-53

Having received a request from the Minister of Government Services that an undertaking, namely:

> The activity of constructing an addition to the Ministry of Transportation and Communications' Regional Office located at 355 Counter Street in Kingston,

be exempt from the application of the Act pursuant to section 29; and

Having been advised that if the undertaking is subject to the application of the Act, the following damage or interference with the persons and property indicated will occur:

A. The Ministry of Transportation and Communications will be interfered with, because they urgently require the undertaking to overcome existing inadequate facilities which severely hamper effective and efficient program delivery and the Ministry of Government Services has been unable to prepare an environmental assessment in sufficient time to meet the requirements of the Ministry of Transportation and Communications because the Ministry of Government Services has been preparing a class environmental assessment for this type of activity; and

B. The public will be interfered with and damaged because the level of service available from the Ministry of Government Services' client Ministry, the efficiency with which it is effected and the access to that service is diminished by the inadequacies of the existing accommodations.

Having weighed such damage, or interference against the betterment of the people of the whole or any part of Ontario by the protection, conservation and wise management in Ontario of the environment which would result from the undertaking being subject to the application of the Act;

The undersigned is of the opinion that it is in the public interest to order and orders that the undertaking is exempt from the application of the Act for the following reason:

A. The Minister of Government Services has assured me that the undertaking will not have any significant adverse effect on the environment, based in part, upon the fact that adequate municipal services exist at the site to accommodate the development, that zoning at the site will permit the contemplated use, and that there is an absence of unique environmental features.

This exemption is subject to the following terms and conditions:

1. The contract between a builder and the Crown for the construction of the addition must be signed before June 30, 1984.

2. That the Ministry of Government Services notify the Environmental Assessment Branch, Ministry of the Environment between 30 and 100 days prior to the calling of tenders for the project, advising that the Ministry of Government Services has reviewed the project and is of the opinion that the current situation under which the project is proposed is unchanged from the situation that existed on the date that this exemption order was issued.

3. Where an activity that would otherwise be exempt under this Order is being carried out in connection with, or as part of, an undertaking for which an environmental assessment has been done and approval to proceed received, the activity shall not be exempt under this Order but shall be carried out in accordance with the approval to proceed. ## ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT ACT

O. Reg. 367/83.
Exemption—The Corporation of the Town of Kapuskasing—MUN-TWN-KAP-1.
Made—June 9th, 1983.
Approved—June 9th, 1983.
Filed—June 20th, 1983.

ORDER MADE UNDER THE ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT ACT

EXEMPTION—THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWN OF KAPUSKASING—MUN-TWN-KAP-1

Having received a request from the Corporation of the Town of Kapuskasing that an undertaking, namely:

> The activity of establishing a separate sanitary sewer system to serve highway commercial and other properties located along Highway #11, West of the Kapuskasing River to Neetian Road,including a sewage collection system and a pre-fabricated extended aeration sewage treatment plant complete with building, be exempt from the application of the Act pursuant to section 29; and

Having been advised that if the undertaking is subject to the application of the Act, the following interference with the persons and property indicated will occur:

A. The owners of the properties in the area to be serviced by the undertaking would be interfered with in that the time required to prepare an environmental assessment for the undertaking would extend the planning phase of the project into 1984. As such, the owners would be required to install extremely expensive individual sanitary facilities this summer or curtail commercial activities.

B. Existing employment would be reduced if the establishments in the area to be served by the undertaking were required to reduce or cease operation as a result of not meeting sanitary regulations during 1983.

Having weighed such injury, damage, or interference against the betterment of the people of the whole or any part of Ontario by the protection, conservation and wise management in Ontario of the environment which would result from the undertaking being subject to the application of the Act;

The undersigned in accordance with the advice received from the Municipal Council of the Town of Kapuskasing, is of the opinion that it is in the public interest to order, and orders that the undertaking is exempt from the application of the Act for the following reasons:

A. The undertaking will provide a permanent solution to the public health hazard that is a result of the current practice of discharging raw sewage to the Kapuskasing River. The Porcupine Health Unit has indicated that this practice must cease and has indicated that if the undertaking does not proceed this summer, commercial activity in the area to be serviced will be permitted to continue.

B. The provision of proper sanitary sewage treatment will preserve existing employment and promote additional employment in the establishments in the area to be serviced by the undertaking.

This exemption is subject to the following terms and conditions:

1. Contracts for the construction of the undertaking shall be awarded no later than September 1, 1983.

2. Where an activity which otherwise would be exempt under this order, is being carried out in accordance with, or is part of, an undertaking for which an environmental assessment has been done and approval to proceed received, the activity shall not be exempt under this order but shall be carried out in accordance with the approval to proceed. ## ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT ACT

O. Reg. 417/83.
Exemption—Ministry of Natural Resources—MNR-11/6.
Made—June 24th, 1983.
Approved—June 24th, 1983.
Filed—June 29th, 1983.

EXEMPTION—MINISTRY OF NATURAL RESOURCES—MNR-11/6

Having received a request from the Minister of Natural Resources that an undertaking, namely:

> Forest management by the Ministry of Natural Resources on Crown land presently included within forest management units and associated tree nurseries, be exempt from the application of the Act for an additional period pursuant to section 29; and

Having been advised that if the undertaking is subject to the application of the Act, the following injury, damage or interference with the persons indicated will occur:

> The Crown and the public will be interfered with by the delay in planning and implementing of forest management plans which are scheduled to proceed within the period of the exemption.

Having weighed such injury, damage, or interference against the betterment of the people of the whole or any part of Ontario by the protection, conservation and wise management in Ontario of the environment which would result from the undertaking being subject to the application of the Act;

The undersigned is of the opinion that it is in the public interest to order and orders that the undertaking is exempt from the application of the Act for the following reasons:

A. The Ministry of Natural Resources will undertake measures to implement public participation in respect to the approval of Forest Management Agreements, Forest Management Plans and Operating Plans, including road plans prescribed by these, and in respect to aerial spraying of pesticides for forest management purposes.

B. The undertaking is an on-going activity of the Ministry of Natural Resources and is an integral part of the economy of the Province. Since the exemption for this undertaking under Exemption Order MNR 11/5, which was filed as O. Reg. 13/83, will expire on June 30, 1983, the application of the Act before December 31, 1983 in the absence of an approval under the Act would result in the halting of forest management on Crown land. Therefore, the interference which would be caused would be undue.

C. The Ministry of Natural Resources has completed a draft of the Environmental Assessment for forest management and has requested an additional period of time to allow interested parties to provide input to that Environmental Assessment before a formal submission for approval under the Act is made.

This exemption is subject to the following terms and conditions:

1. The Ministry of Natural Resources or its agent shall solicit input and comments from the public and Government agencies at an early stage of the preparation of Forest Management Plans and Operating Plans, as well as thirty days prior to the proposed plan being submitted for approval for implementation.

2. The Ministry of Natural Resources shall develop a procedure to solicit, evaluate and respond to input and comments from the public and Government agencies at an early stage of the preparation of Forest Management Plans and Operating Plans for Crown and company management units. This procedure shall be included as part of the Class Environmental Assessment to be submitted for the activity of forest management on Crown land in Ontario for approval under the Act, and will also be incorporated into the forest management planning process.

3. For the period that this exemption order is in force, the Ministry of Natural Resources shall plan primary public forest access roads on Crown Management Units in accordance with the approved Class Environmental Assessment for "Access Roads to MNR Facilities". This procedure shall give emphasis to the identification of alternative road locations and evaluation of the environmental effects of alternatives considered and shall provide a rationale for the alternative road location which is selected.

4. At least 30 days prior to the anticipated aerial spraying of herbicides or insecticides for forest management purposes, the Ministry of Natural Resources shall notify the public, the appropriate Regional Office of the Ministry of the Environment and the Environmental Assessment Branch of the project. During this period a project description shall be made available for public inspection at the appropriate district office of the Ministry of Natural Resources. Where there is a newspaper or radio or television station serving the area concerned, the public notice shall be in the form of a paid public notice in one or more of such media. An illustrative format which may be used for a printed notice is attached as follows:

Illustrative Format for Public Notice for Aerial Spraying of Herbicides and Insecticides

As part of the Ministry of Natural Resources' ongoing program to regenerate and protect our forests, selected stands (specified area) will be sprayed with an (insecticide or herbicide) to control (competing vegetation or name of insect) starting on or about (date).

Further details about this program, including specific locations, are available from the (District, Regional or Main) Office of the Ministry of Natural Resources.

— Telephone Number

5. The Ministry of Natural Resources shall prepare a letter for each plan prepared pursuant to this exemption and send it to the Director of the Environmental Assessment Branch for inclusion in the Public Record. The letter shall describe:

(a) the name of the Forest Management Unit or Forest Management Agreement Area (FMA) for which the plan is being prepared;

(b) a map of the Forest Management Unit or FMA covered by the Forest Management Plan, or a map of the area within the Forest Management Unit or FMA covered by the Operating Plan;

(c) the duration of the plan;

(d) the date(s) of public notification;

(e) the nature of the comments received from the public and other government ministries/agencies; and (f) the proponent's responses to the comments received.

This shall be submitted when the final solicitation under Condition 1 is commenced.

6. The Ministry of Natural Resources shall provide the Director of the Environmental Assessment Branch with a list of those plans scheduled for approval during the period of this order, by August 15, 1983. This list shall also identify plans which are under preparation during the period that this exemption is in force but which are scheduled for approval some time after the expiry date of this order.

7. Where the carrying out of the undertaking requires that some activity for which an Environmental Assessment has been done and an approval to proceed received or an exemption granted, be conducted, that activity is not exempt under this order but shall be carried out in accordance with the Environmental Assessment and approval to proceed, or the conditions of exemption whichever is applicable.

8. This order expires on the earlier date of December 31, 1983 or the granting of an approval under the Act for the forest management undertaking. O. Reg. 417/83.

ORDER MADE UNDER THE ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT ACT

EXEMPTION—CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF CHAPLEAU—CHAP-TP-1

Having received a request from the Corporation of the Township of Chapleau, that an undertaking, namely:

the activity of constructing, operating and maintaining a sewage works and collection system including aerated lagoon, forcemain, control building and outfall to the Nebskawashi River;

be exempt from the application of the Act pursuant to section 29; and

Having been advised that if the undertaking is subject to the application of the Act, the following injury, damage or interference with the persons and property indicated will occur:

A. The residents of the community could be exposed to a threat to the public health and safety because of poorly treated sewage entering the Nebskawashi River for a longer period of time.

B. The environmental degradation of the Nebskawashi River will continue for a longer period of time without an adequate community sewage treatment system.

Having weighed such injury, damage, or interference against the betterment of the people of the whole or any part of Ontario by the protection, conservation and wise management in Ontario of the environment which would result from the undertaking being subject to the application of the Act;

The undersigned is of the opinion that it is in the public interest to order and orders that the undertaking is exempt from the application of the Act for the following reasons:

A. The proponent advises that the environmental effects of the construction and operation of the sewage works are expected to be limited and not adverse.

B. The proposed sewage lagoon site is located in an area with no significant natural characteristics. The site is visually separated from the community.

C. The proponent advises that construction operations would only pose a short term disruption to people living in the area.

D. The proposed undertaking will be subject to a hearing held under section 24 of the Ontario Water Resources Act, in order to provide an opportunity to address public concerns.

This exemption order is subject to the following terms and conditions:

1. Construction of the undertaking not be commenced unless a hearing has been held under section 24 of the Ontario Water Resources Act in order to provide opportunity for public involvement in the proposed undertaking.

2. Construction methods and schedules are to be implemented in consultation with the Ministry of the Environment, Sault Ste. Marie District Office. O. Reg. 418/83.

Hypertension: Fixed Combination Drugs

A fixed combination drug is not indicated for initial therapy of hypertension. Hypertension requires therapy titrated to the individual patient. Recognizing this, if the fixed combination drug meets that titrated dose of its individual components, its use may be more convenient in the management of the individual patient. The treatment of hypertension is not static: it must be re-evaluated as conditions in each patient warrant. Adapted from F-D-C Reports, Sept. 11, 1972, p. 8 (FDA Cardiovascular Advisory Committee)

Hypertension: Fixed Combination Drugs

A fixed combination drug is not indicated for initial therapy of hypertension. Hypertension requires therapy titrated to the individual patient. Recognizing this, if the fixed combination drug meets that titrated dose of its individual components, its use may be more convenient in the management of the individual patient. The treatment of hypertension is not static; it must be re-evaluated as conditions in each patient warrant. Adapted from F-D-C Reports, Sept. 11, 1972, p. 8 (FDA Cardiovascular Advisory Committee).

Environmental Assessment Act

NOTICE OF ACCEPTANCE OF THE ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT

NOTICE OF APPROVAL TO PROCEED WITH THE UNDERTAKING

RE: An Environmental Assessment for the development of a Sanitary Landfill Site in Part of Lots 2 and 3, Concession V and Part of Lot 3, Concession VI, Township of Kendrey, District of Cochrane, for the Town of Smooth Rock Falls

Proponent: Town of Smooth Rock Falls

TAKE NOTICE that the date for receipt by me of submissions or requirements for a hearing on the above Environmental Assessment and/or its review by the Ontario Government, pursuant to the Notice of Completion of Environmental Assessment Review, dated March 16, 1983, has expired as of May 9, 1983. I received no requirements for a hearing by that date. I do not consider it advisable to require the Environmental Assessment Board to hold a hearing at this time.

ACCEPTANCE OF THE ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT

I have considered the purpose of the Act, the above Environmental Assessment and the Review, and am of the opinion that the Environmental Assessment is satisfactory to enable a decision to be made as to whether approval to proceed with the undertaking should or should not be given, or should be given subject to terms and conditions.

Accordingly, I accept the Environmental Assessment.

HEARING

Under section 13 of the Act, before I, or the Environmental Assessment Board, can consider whether approval to proceed with the undertaking should or should not be given, or should be given subject to terms and conditions, the proponent or anyone having previously made a submission under subsection 7 (2) of the Act on the Notice of Completion of Environmental Assessment Review for this undertaking, may require a hearing by the Environmental Assessment Board with respect to whether approval to proceed with the undertaking should or should not be given, or should be given subject to terms and conditions.

The Proponent has waived his right to a hearing on the approval of the undertaking and no submissions have been made by others under subsection 7 (2).

APPROVAL TO PROCEED WITH THE UNDERTAKING

I have considered the purpose of the Act and the environmental assessment of the undertaking as accepted by me.

REASONS

The reasons for giving approval are:

1. I received no submissions requiring a hearing by the Environmental Assessment Board after giving the Notice of Completion of Environmental Assessment Review dated March 16, 1983 and the proponent has waived the right to a hearing on the approval of the undertaking. I am not aware of any outstanding issues with respect to this undertaking which suggest that a hearing should be required.
2. No other more beneficial alternative method of implementing the undertaking was identified.
3. On the basis of the Proponent's Environmental Assessment, the review process and the conditions of approval, the operation and maintenance of the undertaking will be consistent with the purpose of the Act (section 2).

CONDITIONS

1. Except as provided by the subsequent condition, the Town of Smooth Rock Falls shall comply with all of the provisions of the EA which are herein incorporated by reference.

2. At the time an application for approval under Part V of the Environmental Protection Act is being made, the Proponent shall forward to the Ministry of Health the detailed design information on leachate seepage and shall demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Ministry of Health that the proposed undertaking will not adversely affect public health.

3. The information required for approval under Part V of the Environmental Protection Act shall be submitted to the Director of the Environmental Assessment Branch of MOE for inclusion in the Public Record File.

Dated at Toronto, this 9th day of June, 1983.

Approved by O.C. No. 1630/83

K. C. NORTON,
(3047) 30 Minister of the Environment.

TYPE OF RESPIRATOR REQUIRED

The respiratory equipment provided by an employer and used by a worker shall meet or exceed the following requirements:

| Airborne Concentration (Isocyanate vapour and particulates) | Type of Respirator Required |
|---|---|
| Less than or equal to 0.25 ppm or 10 $\mu$mol/m$^3$ (50 x TWAE) | Positive pressure supplied air respirator with full face-piece or hood or self-contained breathing apparatus with full face-piece. |
| Greater than 0.25 ppm or 10 $\mu$mol/m$^3$ (50 x TWAE) | A NIOSH Type C supplied air respirator operated in pressure demand or other positive pressure or continuous flow mode or self-contained breathing apparatus with a full face-piece operated in pressure demand. |
| Escape | Any escape self-contained breathing apparatus with full face-piece operated in pressure demand. |

Notes:

1. Vapours can be defined as the gaseous form of a substance which is normally either a liquid or a solid at ordinary temperatures and pressures.

2. Respirators need not be worn if the levels of isocyanates in air are less than the TWAE of 0.005 ppm. However, if the worker wishes to use a respirator below the TWAE, the organic vapour/particulate air purifying respirator (NIOSH/MESA T23C) can be used.

3. Supplied air respirator does not include a powered air purifying respirator.

GENERAL REQUIREMENTS FOR THE USE OF RESPIRATORS

1. Subject to the Table in this Code, respiratory protective equipment must be used in accordance with the procedure specified by the equipment manufacturer.

2. Written standard operating procedures governing the selection and use of respirators must be established.

3. Written procedures on use and care of respirators must be reviewed with workers.

4. Workers must be trained in the proper use of respirators and their limitations.

5. Respirators must be fitted so that there is an effective seal between the respirator and the worker's face.

6. Where practicable, the respirators are to be assigned to individual workers for their exclusive use.

7. Compressed air, compressed oxygen, liquid air and liquid oxygen used for respirators are to meet CSA standards when applicable.

8. Respirators must be regularly cleaned, disinfected and inspected. Those issued for the exclusive use of one worker must be cleaned after each day's use, or more often if necessary, while those used by more than one worker must be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected after each use.

9. Worn or deteriorated parts must be replaced.

10. Respirators for emergency use, such as self-contained devices, are to be thoroughly tested at least once a month, and serviced after each use.

11. All respirators and replacement parts must be stored in a convenient, clean and sanitary location.

12. Persons must not be assigned to tasks requiring use of respirators unless they are physically able to perform the work and use the equipment.

13. Workers required to wear respirators who experience breathing difficulty while using respirators must be referred to a physician for evaluation.

14. Records of frequency of use by the worker of respiratory equipment and its type are to be kept.

SAMPLING METHOD FOR TOLUENE DIISOCYANATE (TDI) OR METHYLENE BISPHENYL ISOCYANATE (MDI) IN AIR

1. Principle of the Sampling Method

Air, possibly containing TDI or MDI, is drawn at a specified flow rate for a known duration through a midget impinger containing an absorbing solution. The solution is then analyzed for toluene diamine (TDA) or methylene dianiline (MDA) by a colorimetric procedure. This method provides a means of monitoring the concentrations of airborne TDI or MDI at strategically selected locations in work areas.

2. Equipment

The sampling train used to obtain an air sample of TDI or MDI is to include the following components and satisfy the criteria suggested:

(1) A battery operated portable pump which:

(a) is capable of delivering for 6-8 hours, not less than 1.0 litre of air per minute with the midget impinger containing absorbing solution in the sampling train. The maximum deviation from the prescribed flow rate is not to exceed ±5% and the pump should be equipped with a pulsation damper;

(b) is intrinsically safe, i.e. certified by an accepted agency as safe for use in potentially explosive atmospheres;

(c) includes a calibrated flow meter or a mechanism for maintaining a constant flow rate;

(d) has an on-off switch and flow rate control or adjustment mechanism which are as tamper-proof as possible.

(2) A sample collection device (midget impinger) which is:

(a) constructed completely from borosilicate glass and has a standard ground glass joint;

(b) is capable of holding up to 25 mL of solution and is calibrated at 10 mL.

(3) An absorbing solution prepared by adding 35 mL of concentrated hydrochloric acid and 22 mL of glacial acetic acid to approximately 600 mL of deionized water. This solution is then diluted to one litre with deionized water. (ACS grade reagents or better should be used to prepare the solution).

(4) Tubing of sufficient length with appropriate wall thickness to prevent collapsing when air is drawn through and with appropriate inner diameter which will provide leak-proof connections between the outlet port of the impinger and the inlet port adapter of the portable pump.

(5) A tripod or other suitable means for supporting the sampling train.

(6) A mercury thermometer for ambient air temperature measurements, accurate to $\pm 1^{\circ}C$.

(7) A barometer for measuring atmospheric pressure, accurate to ± 5 mm Hg.

3. Sampling Procedure

(1) Preparation of Pumps

(a) The pump battery pack must be fully charged according to the manufacturer's instructions, before use in any workshift. If air sampling is carried out for more than one shift on the same day, a fully-charged battery pack must be substituted for the used one after each shift.

(b) Flow meters, or constant flow devices on the pumps must be calibrated at 1.0 litre per minute (L/min.) with the impinger in line by using a primary standard, such as a bubble meter, and the recommended procedure in the manufacturer's instructions for using such primary standard apparatus after:

(i) not more than 40 hours of operation;

(ii) receiving unusually harsh or potentially damaging treatment;

(iii) being disassembled for maintenance.

(2) Preparation of Impingers

(a) Prepare the impingers in a clean environment prior to the initiation of sampling.

(b) To each clean impinger, add 10 mL of absorbing solution. Assemble the base and the top of the impinger and seal the inlet and outlet ports with sleeves.

(3) Sampling

(a) Assemble the sampling train by connecting one end of the tubing to the inlet port of the pump and the other end to the outlet port of the impinger. (If the TDI or MDI concentration is estimated to be in excess of 2 ppm, the use of two impingers connected in series may be desirable).

(b) Check for air leaks in the sampling train by turning on the pump and sealing the inlet port of the impinger with a sleeve. The air flow indicator on a pump with a flow meter must drop to the zero flow position and oscillate slightly. If this does not occur, find the leak, if possible, and repair or replace the faulty component.

(c) Label the impinger with an appropriate sample number.

(d) Place the sampling train on a tripod or other suitable support. Ensure that it will not interfere with the worker's movements in the area.

(e) Check again that the sampling train is properly assembled, remove the sleeve from the inlet port of the impinger and switch on the pump. Allow the flow rate to stabilize for a short duration, then adjust the rate to the pre-calibrated mark of 1 litre per minute, if the pump has a flow meter. Pumps with constant flow devices must not be reset after the flow rate control mechanism has been calibrated to deliver air at this rate. A calibrated external flow meter may be used to check the air flow rate.

(f) Note the following information for each sampling train:

(i) date of sampling;
(ii) company name;
(iii) model and serial number of the sampling pump;
(iv) calibration date of the sampling pump;
(v) sampling location;
(vi) work or operation performed;

(vii) impinger or sample number;

(viii) air flow rate;

(ix) time of initiation of sampling.

(g) Ensure that for sampling performed during any survey, two control or blank impingers are prepared in the same manner as the sample impingers with absorbing solutions. These blank impingers must remain sealed during the sampling (i.e. no air is to be drawn through these impingers).

(h) The frequency and duration of sampling shall be such that the samples taken will properly reflect the concentration of TDI or MDI to which workers are exposed.

(i) When sampling is being conducted to determine a time-weighted average exposure of a worker in an area where an operation lasts for more than one hour, samples of at least one hour in duration shall be taken to collect the amount of analyte in each sample that is required to measure the airborne concentration. When a work operation is less than one hour, one sample shall be taken during the period of the entire operation.

(ii) When sampling is being conducted to determine a maximum concentration value the sampling period shall be fifteen minutes.

(i) During the sampling interval, the sampling train must be checked periodically to ensure that it is functioning properly. The air flow rate must not be readjusted after the initial flow rate is set. If the flow rate changes significantly, terminate sampling and take another sample.

(j) The ambient air temperature and pressure in the sampling area must be recorded at least once.

(k) To terminate sampling, perform the following sequence of steps:

(i) check the air flow rate just prior to termination of air sampling;

(ii) record the time of termination of sampling;

(iii) switch off the pump and carefully remove the sampling train from the support;

(iv) disconnect the impinger from the tubing and seal the inlet and outlet ports of the impinger with sleeves;

(v) remove each impinger stem and tap the stem gently against the inside wall of the impinger to recover as much of the trapped solution as possible;

(vi) rinse the absorbing solution adhering to the inside of the inlet and the stem directly into the impinger flask, if necessary, with a small volume (1-2 mL) of unused absorbing solution;

(vii) stopper the impinger tightly or transfer the content of each impinger into a small glass bottle equipped with a leak-proof screw cap lined with an inert material such as Teflon;

(viii) ship the stoppered impingers or glass bottles in a protective container as soon as possible to a laboratory for analysis, and ensure that they will not be overturned during transportation. Refrigerate the samples if analysis cannot be done within a day.

4. Analysis and Calculation of Results

(1) If TDI is sampled, follow the analytical method entitled "The Determination of Toluene Diisocyanate (TDI) as Toluene Diamine in Air Sampling Solutions" in carrying out the analyses of sample solutions.

(2) If MDI is sampled, follow the analytical method entitled "The Determination of Methylene Bisphenyl Isocyanate (MDI), as Methylene Dianiline in Air Sampling Solutions" in carrying out the analyses of sample solutions.

(3) Corrections for the field blank are made for each sample solution provided that the various amounts of analyte in all sample solutions are greater than the amount of analyte in the field blank solution.

(4) The concentration of TDI or MDI in an air sample can be calculated in parts per million (ppm) by volume, by using the following equation:

$$C = \frac{A \times 24.45}{F \times t \times \frac{298}{(273+T)} \times \frac{P}{760} \times M.W.}$$

where C = the concentration of TDI or MDI in ppm
A = the corrected amount of TDI or MDI, in ug, in the sample solution
F = the air flow rate in litres per minute
T = the temperature in $^{o}C$
P = the pressure in mm Hg
t = the sampling duration in minutes
M.W.= the molecular weight of TDI (174.15) or MDI (250.27)

SPECIAL NOTES

1. This sampling method shall not be used when the following substances are known or suspected to be present in the work place atmosphere:

   (a) Both TDI and MDI

   (b) Other isocyanates

   (c) A mixture of isocyanates

   (d) Any primary aromatic amine such as 4,4'-methylene bis(2-chloroaniline) i.e. MOCA

2. Continuous instruments equipped with alarm systems may be used for the purposes of routine monitoring of isocyanates in air.

ANALYTICAL PROCEDURES USED BY THE OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH LABORATORY WILL BE REVIEWED PERIODICALLY AND, IF NECESSARY, REVISED.

SAMPLING METHOD FOR HEXAMETHYLENE 1,6-DIISOCYANATE (HDI), ISOPHORONE DIISOCYANATE (IPDI), OR A MIXTURE OF DIISOCYANATES IN AIR

1. Principle of the Sampling Method

Air, possibly containing HDI, IPDI or a mixture of diisocyanates, (HDI, TDI, MDI), is drawn at a specified flow rate for a known duration through two midget impingers in series, each containing an absorbing solution (nitro reagent). The urea derivative(s) formed are analyzed by high performance liquid chromatography, using an ultraviolet detector. This method provides a means of monitoring the concentrations of airborne HDI, IPDI or a diisocyanate mixture at strategically selected locations in work areas.

2. Equipment

The sampling train used to obtain an air sample of HDI, IPDI or a diisocyanate mixture is to include the following components and satisfy the criteria suggested:

(b) is intrinsically safe, i.e., certified by an accepted agency as safe for use in potentially explosive atmospheres;

(c) includes a calibrated flow meter or a mechanism for maintaining a constant flow rate;

(d) has an on-off switch and flow rate control or adjustment mechanism which are as tamper-proof as possible.

(2) Two sample collection devices (midget impingers), each of which is:

(a) constructed completely from borosilicate glass and has a standard ground glass joint;

(b) is capable of holding up to 25 mL of solution and is calibrated at 15 mL.

(3) An absorbing solution (nitro reagent) prepared by:

(a) dissolving 12 mg of N-(p-nitrobenzyl)-n-propylamine hydrochloride in 3 mL of deionized water,

(b) adding 1.3 mL of 1N sodium hydroxide to precipitate the free amine,

(c) extracting the free amine with 3 mL of methylene chloride three times,

(d) adding 1 g anhydrous sodium sulphate to the methylene chloride extracts,

(e) evaporating off the methylene chloride by heating to $40^{\circ}C$ and using a stream of dry nitrogen,

(f) redissolving the residue in 250 mL acetonitrile. The freshly prepared absorbing solution must be kept in a dark glass bottle and stored in a refrigerator. Its shelf life is about five days.

(4) Tubing of sufficient length with appropriate wall thickness to prevent collapsing when air is drawn through and with appropriate inner diameter which will provide leak-proof connections between the various consecutive components in a sampling train.

(5) A tripod or other suitable means for supporting the sampling train.

3. Sampling Procedure

(1) Preparation of Pumps

(a) The pump battery pack must be fully charged according to the manufacturer's instructions, before use in any work shift. If air sampling is carried out for more than one shift on the same day, a fully charged battery pack must be substituted for the used one after each shift.

(b) Flow meters, or constant flow devices on the pumps must be calibrated at 1.0 litre per minute (L/min) with the impingers in line by using a primary standard, such as a bubble meter, and the recommended procedure in the manufacturer's instructions for using such primary standard apparatus, after:

(2) Preparation of Impingers

(a) Prepare the impingers in a clean environment prior to the initiation of sampling.

(b) To each clean impinger add 15 mL of fresh absorbing solution which is prepared within 5 days of initiating the air sampling. Assemble the base and the top of the impinger and seal the inlet and outlet ports with sleeves.

(3) Sampling

(a) Assemble the sampling train by connecting one end of the tubing to the inlet port of the pump and the other end to the outlet port of the first impinger. The two impingers connected in series must be held together.

(b) Check for air leaks in the sampling train by turning on the pump and sealing the inlet port of the first impinger with a sleeve. The air flow indicator on a pump with a flow meter must drop to the zero flow position and oscillate slightly. If this does not occur, find the leak, if possible, and repair or replace the faulty component.

(c) Label both impingers with appropriate sample numbers.

(d) Place the sampling train on a tripod or other suitable support. Ensure that it will not interfere with the workers' movements in the area.

(e) Check again that the sampling train is properly assembled, remove the sleeve from the inlet port of the first impinger and switch on the pump. Allow the flow rate to stabilize for a short duration, then adjust the rate to the pre-calibrated mark of 1 litre per minute, if the pump has a flow meter. Pumps with constant flow devices must not be reset after the flow rate control mechanism has been calibrated to deliver air at this rate. A calibrated external flow meter may be used to check the air flow rate.

(f) Note the following information for each sampling train:

(i) date of sampling;
(ii) company name;
(iii) model and serial number of the sampling pump;
(iv) calibration date of the sampling pump;
(v) sampling location;

(g) Ensure that for sampling performed during any survey, two control or blank impingers are prepared in the same manner as the sample impingers with absorbing solutions. These blank impingers must remain sealed during the sampling (i.e., no air is to be drawn through these impingers).

(h) The frequency and duration of sampling shall be such that the samples taken will properly reflect the concentration of HDI, IPDI or the mixture of diisocyanates to which workers are exposed.

(i) When sampling is being conducted to determine a time-weighted average exposure of a worker in an area where an operation lasts for more than two hours, samples of at least two hours in duration shall be taken to collect the amount of analyte in each sample that is required to measure the airborne concentration. When a work operation is less than two hours, one sample shall be taken during the period of the entire operation.

(ii) When sampling is being conducted to determine a maximum concentration value the sampling period shall be fifteen minutes.

(i) During the sampling interval, the sampling train must be checked periodically to ensure that it is functioning properly. In particular the level of absorbing solution in the impinger should be checked regularly. Where necessary, small quantities of unused absorbing solution should be added to the impinger. The air flow rate must not be re-adjusted after the initial flow rate is set. If the flow rate changes significantly, terminate sampling and take another sample.

(j) The ambient air temperature and pressure in the sampling area must be recorded at least once.

(k) To terminate sampling, perform the following sequence of steps:

(i) check the air flow rate just prior to termination of air sampling;

(ii) record the time of termination of sampling;

(iii) switch off the pump and carefully remove the sampling train from the support;

(iv) disconnect the impingers from the tubing and seal the inlet and outlet ports of both impingers with sleeves;

(v) remove each impinger stem and tap the stem gently against the inside wall of the impinger to recover as much of the trapped solution as possible;

(vi) rinse the absorbing solution adhering to the inside of the inlet and the stem directly into the impinger flask, if necessary, with a small volume (1-2 mL) of unused absorbing solution;

(viii) ship the stoppered impingers or glass bottles in a protective container as soon as possible to a laboratory for analysis, and ensure that they will not be overturned during transportation. Refrigerate the samples if analysis cannot be done within a day.

4. Analysis and Calculation of Results

(1) If HDI or a diisocyanate mixture (HDI, TDI, MDI) is sampled, follow the analytical method entitled "The Determination of Hexamethylene 1,6-Diisocyanate (HDI) and Mixtures of Diisocyanates in Air Sampling Solutions by High Performance Liquid Chromatography" in carrying out the analysis of sample solutions.

THE DETERMINATION OF 2,4-TOLUENE DIISOCYANATE (TDI) AS TOLUENE DIAMINE IN AIR SAMPLING SOLUTIONS

The colorimetric method described in the following can only be used for quantifying TDI in the absence of other isocyanates and primary amines.

1. Principle of Method

(1) A known volume of air is drawn through an absorbing solution to collect the analyte.

(2) TDI is hydrolysed by the absorbing solution to toluene diamine (TDA).

(3) The TDA is diazotised with sodium nitrite - sodium bromide.

(4) The diazonium compound is coupled with N-(1-naphthyl)-ethylenediamine to form a coloured complex.

(5) The amount of coloured complex formed is in direct proportion to the amount of TDI present and is determined by measuring the absorbance of the solution at 550 nm.

2. Apparatus

(1) A spectrophotometer incorporating a recorder capable of a ten-fold scale expansion.

(2) Cells, 5 cm matched.

(3) Cylinders, 25 mL, mixing, graduated with glass stoppers.

(4) Balance capable of weighing to 0.1 mg.

(5) Pipettes, delivery: 1,3,5 and 10 mL
graduated: 1 mL.

(6) Volumetric flasks: 100, 500 and 1000 mL.

(7) 15 mL centrifuge tubes.

(8) A centrifuge.

3. Reagents

All reagents must be made using ACS Reagent grade or better.

The concentration of TDI in air can also be calculated in terms of the older convention of ppm, defined as µL TDI/L of air.

$$ppm = \frac{\mu g}{Vs} \times \frac{24.45}{MW}$$ ppm = parts per million TDI µg = micrograms TDI (Section 6(2))

Vs = corrected volume of air

The impingers should be washed as above and then rinsed with methanol before drying.

(2) Analysis of Samples

(a) Tranfer each sample solution of IPDIU to a clean 25 mL round bottom flask and rinse the container with 2 mL of acetonitrile.

$$C = \frac{\mu g \text{ IPDI in sample}}{1000} \times \frac{1000}{Vs}$$ where Vs is volume of air sampled in litres.

8. Interferences

(1) Any compound which has the same retention volume as IPDIU under the conditions of the HPLC and shows absorption in the region of 254 nm is an interference.

(2) Interferences can arise if the nitro reagent is exposed to strong light and excessive heat over an extended period. At least two reagent blanks must accompany each batch of samples analyzed in order to assure the integrity of the nitro reagent used.

(3) 2,4-TDI, 2,6-TDI, isophorone diisocyanate, MDI and MOCA do not interfere when present up to about 50 µg in a sample.

OF ISOCYANATES EXPOSED WORKERS

MINISTRY OF LABOUR
OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY DIVISION

MEDICAL SURVEILLANCE PROGRAM

1. Purpose

The objective of a medical surveillance program is to protect the health of workers by:

(1) ensuring fitness for exposure to isocyanates;

(2) evaluating the effect of isocyanates on workers;

(3) enabling remedial action to be taken when necessary;

(4) providing health education.

2. Program

A complete medical surveillance program shall include the following:

(1) Pre-employment and pre-placement examinations;

(2) Periodic medical examinations;

(3) Clinical tests;

(4) Health education;

(5) Record keeping.

At a pre-placement screening the examining physician shall obtain the medical status from existing records if the worker has been previously assessed under this regulation. A screening respiratory questionnaire shall be administered prior to employment and at six monthly intervals thereafter. The extent and the frequency of the medical examinations and the clinical tests will depend on the types of isocyanates, the degree of exposure and the results of previous assessments.

3. Medical Examinations

The examination shall include the following:

(1) History

The initial medical and occupational history shall include enquiry for previous exposure to isocyanates (both occupational and non-occupational), allergies, asthma and history of present or past respiratory or dermatological disorders. The periodic questionnaire shall be used to update:

(a) history of frequency and duration of exposure to isocyanates since previous examination;

(b) signs and symptoms that may be an early indication of isocyanate sensitivity, e.g.,

acute
- irritation of eyes, nose and throat,
- cough and wheezing,

chronic
- skin changes of sensitization,
- cough, wheezing, sputum or dyspnoea.

(2) Physical Examination

When a limited physical examination is required, particular attention shall be directed to those systems which may be affected by isocyanates.

4. Clinical Tests

Clinical tests aid in the assessment of a worker's fitness for and continued exposure to isocyanates.

The x-ray and pulmonary function testing facilities used shall meet the quality requirements of the Occupational Health Branch.

(1) Pulmonary Function Tests

Pulmonary function tests shall be undertaken if indicated by the questionnaire and at least two yearly. They shall include FVC, $FEV_1$, $FEV_1$/FVC ratio, FEF 25-75% or other equivalent flow rate. All measurements are to be corrected to body temperature and pressure (BTPS). The instruments shall be calibrated to currently applied standards as published in the "Snowbird Workshop on Standardization of Spirometry", American Review of Respiratory Illness, Vol. 119, 831 - 838, 1979. The pulmonary function test should preferably be undertaken on the first day of the employee's workweek, following 36 hours without exposure to isocyanates. The tests may be repeated with advantage during the shift, no sooner than four and no later than ten hours after the beginning of the work shift.

(2) X-rays

A chest x-ray may be requested by the examining physician if indicated by questionnaire and pulmonary function results.

(3) Action Levels

(a) If the pulmonary function tests show a 15% decline in $FEV_1$, FVC or other significant change from the preplacement or previous periodic test, and this is confirmed, the worker shall be referred for further investigation and his suitability for exposure to isocyanates shall be reviewed.

(b) If the worker shows evidence of reaction to isocyanates, the examining physician shall refer the worker for further assessment. On receiving the report of the further assessment, the examining physician shall advise the employer and the worker as provided for in section 17 of the regulation.

(c) The term "unfit" may be appropriate for those sensitized individuals with known severe reactions. The term "fit with limitations" may be appropriate for:

(i) sensitized individuals with mild and stable reaction patterns, and

(ii) individuals with hyper-reactive airways whose reactive levels can be specified.

Subsequently, a decision shall be made by the physician as to when the worker may return to work.

5. Health Education

Personal cleanliness is important and eating, drinking and smoking should be prohibited in isocyanate-exposed areas. Workers should be encouraged to stop smoking at all times. All workers shall be made aware of the hazards of isocyanates and their examination results must be discussed.

6. Medical History and Examination Records

Under the provisions of the Isocyanates Regulation the co-ordinating examining physician in charge of the medical surveillance program shall maintain health records for each worker examined. Such records should include:

- name in full of worker;
- maiden surname of mother;
- date of birth;
- sex;
- Social Insurance Number;
- occupations or job titles;
- date occupations or jobs commenced;
- date occupations or jobs ended;
- the kinds of operations or processes in which the worker was involved;
- concentrations of airborne isocyanates to which the worker is exposed;
- use of respiratory equipment;
- date of visits to physician's office;
- medical examination reports;
- health assessments;
- results of clinical tests, e.g. x-rays and pulmonary function tests;
- copies of referral letter to a hospital or physician;
- copies of Forms 7 and 8 to the Workers' Compensation Board if completed;
- all relevant correspondence concerning health, and any information concerning the actions taken in response to abnormal clinical tests.

A worker's health records must be kept in a secure place by the co-ordinating examining physician for,

(a) a period of forty years from the time such records were first made, or

(b) a period of twenty years from the time the last of such records were made, whichever is longer. Where the examining physician or his successor is no longer able or willing to keep the records, the records are to be forwarded to the Chief Physician of the Occupational Health Medical Service of the Ministry of Labour, who will keep them in a secure place.

8. Where a change is made in a process involving benzene, or in the methods and procedures in the production, use, handling or storage of benzene and the change could result in a significant difference in the exposure of a worker to the inhalation or absorption of benzene, the employer shall cause a further assessment to be made forthwith and the provisions of sections 6 and 7 apply to the further assessment.

9. (1) Where disputes arise between an employer and a joint health and safety committee as to an assessment required under section 6 or 8 or as to the measures and procedures mentioned in subsection 7(1) or the benzene control program or its provisions required under section 7 or 8, the employer, a member of the joint health and safety committee or the committee may notify an inspector thereof who shall investigate and give a decision in writing to the employer and to the member or the committee.

SCHEDULE

The time-weighted average exposure of a worker to airborne benzene shall be calculated as follows:

1. The average concentrations of benzene to which a worker is exposed shall be determined from analyses of air samples taken as being representative of the exposure of the worker to benzene during work operations as set out in the Code mentioned in section 11.

2. The results of the analyses are the concentrations of benzene expressed as parts benzene per million parts of air by volume or as mg benzene per $m^3$ of air.

3. The concentrations shall be multiplied by the time in hours to which the worker is taken to be exposed to such concentrations.

4. The weekly exposure shall be calculated as follows:

   $C_1T_1 + C_2T_2 + \ldots + C_nT_n$ = cumulative weekly exposure, where $C_1$ is the concentration found in an air sample and $T_1$ is the total time in hours to which the worker is taken to be exposed to concentration $C_1$ in a week.

5. The time-weighted average exposure shall be calculated by dividing the cumulative weekly exposure by 40.

(5) Sodium sulphate, anhydrous.

(6) Hydrochloric acid, concentrated.

(7) Prepurified dry gases: nitrogen hydrogen

(8) Deionized water.

4. Procedure

(1) Cleaning of equipment:

(a) Before use all new glassware should be soaked in a detergent solution to remove any residual grease or chemicals.

(b) Glassware should be cleaned by soaking in an approximately one in five dilution of concentrated nitric acid in water for at least 6 hours, and then rinsed thoroughly with tap water and deionized water, in that order, and then dried.

(2) Analysis of sample:

(a) Introduce 5.0 mL of the urine specimen into a glass tube (12 mL) containing 1 mL of 0.2 mol/L sodium acetate buffer.

(b) Transfer 200 µL of Sulfatase solution into the sample tube.

(c) Cap the tube, mix the contents thoroughly and incubate at $37 \pm 1^{\circ}C$ for four hours.

(d) Add an additional 50 µL of Sulfatase solution to the tube and continue incubation at $37^{\circ}C$ for an additional 20 hours.

(e) Cool the tube to room temperature and add 0.5 mL of concentrated hydrochloric acid.

(f) Add 1.0 mL of diisopropyl ether, containing the internal standard, to the tube and cap it immediately.

(g) Shake the tube for 20 minutes on a shaker.

(h) Centrifuge the tube at 2500 rpm for 5 minutes to complete the phase separation.

(i) Transfer aproximately 0.5 mL of the diisopropyl ether layer by means of a Pasteur pipette into a 1 mL vial containing approximately 50 mg of anhydrous sodium sulphate.

(j) Seal the vial immediately to avoid the loss of solvent.

(k) Withdraw 2.0 µL of the diisopropyl ether extract and inject it into the gas chromatograph (GC).

(m) Determine the peak areas for phenol and the benzyl alcohol internal standard in the sample.

(n) Calculate the ratio of peak areas for each injection.

(o) An appropriate reagent blank must be analyzed in accordance with the total procedure.

5. Calibration and Standards

(1) Prepare at least four regularly spaced standards of phenol in urine using a urine specimen of negligible phenol content. These standards should be in the range of 0 to 1000 µmoles phenol/L of urine.

(2) Analyze the above standards using the same procedure and chromatographic conditions as for the samples (see section 4(2)).

(3) An appropriate blank must be analyzed in accordance with the total procedure.

(4) Calculate the ratio of the peak areas of phenol and benzyl alcohol for each concentration.

(5) Plot the above area ratios against the corresponding concentrations of phenol in the urine standards.

(6) The curve is found to be linear in the range of 10 to 2000 umoles phenol/L of urine.

(7) If the microprocessor of the GC being used is capable of calibrations using the internal standard method, calibrate the instrument using a 100 µmole phenol/L standard.

6. Calculations

(1) Read the concentration in µmoles/L corresponding to each peak area ratio (section 4(2)(n)) from the standard curve. No volume corrections are needed, because the volume of sample injected is identical to the volume of the standards injected.

(2) Corrections for the blank must be made for each sample:

µmoles = µmoles sample - µmoles blank

CODE FOR MEASURING AIRBORNE BENZENE

OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY DIVISION

July 15, 1983

AIR SAMPLING METHOD FOR BENZENE

1. Principle of the Sampling Method

Air, possibly containing benzene, is drawn at a specified flow rate for a known duration through a glass tube containing 20/40 mesh activated charcoal. The sample is analyzed for benzene by desorption of activated charcoal with carbon disulfide and then by gas chromatographic assay of the solvent extract. Both personal and area samples may be collected by this method.

2. Equipment

The sampling train used to obtain an air sample of benzene is to include the following components and satisfy the criteria specified.

(1) A battery operated portable pump which:

(a) is capable of delivering, for 6-8 hours not less than 0.20 litre of air per minute with the glass tube containing activated charcoal in the sampling train. The maximum deviation from the prescribed flow rate is not to exceed 5% and the pump should be equipped with a pulsation damper;

(b) is intrinsically safe, i.e. certified by an accepted agency as safe for use in potentially explosive atmospheres;

(c) includes a calibrated flow meter or a mechanism for maintaining a constant flow rate;

(d) has an on-off switch and flow rate control or adjustment mechanism which are as tamper-proof as possible.

(2) A sample collection device (glass tube) which is constructed from glass tubing approximately 70 millimetres (mm) in length, 4.0 mm in inner diameter and 6.0 mm in outer diameter and which contains, in sequence, the following materials:

(a) a plug of silanized glass wool immediately behind the inlet port;

(b) 100 mg of 20/40 mesh activated charcoal in the front section;

(c) a 2 mm portion of urethane foam;

(d) 50 mg of 20/40 mesh activated charcoal in the back-up section; and

(e) a 3 mm long plug of urethane foam immediately before the outlet port.

Each tube must be flame-sealed at both ends and be supplied with two plastic caps for sealing the tube after it has been used for air sampling.

(3) A tube holder which:

(a) includes an alligator clip for attachment to clothing;

(b) includes an adapter for flexible tubing to ensure a leak proof fit for the sample collection device; and

(c) provides adequate protection against tube breakage.

(4) Tubing of sufficient length with appropriate wall thickness to prevent collapsing when air is drawn through and with appropriate inner diameter which will provide a leak proof fit to the tube holder and to the inlet port of the portable pump.

(5) A mercury thermometer for ambient air temperature measurement, accurate to $\pm$ 1°C.

(6) A barometer for measuring atmospheric pressure, accurate to $\pm$ 5 mm Hg (0.67 kPa).

3. Sampling Procedure

(1) Preparation of pumps:

(a) The pump battery pack must be fully charged, according to the manufacturer's instructions, before use in any workshift. If air sampling is carried out for more than one shift on the same day, a fully-charged battery pack must be substituted for the used one.

(b) Flow meters or constant flow devices on the pumps must be calibrated at 0.20 L/min with the charcoal tube in line by using a primary standard, such as a bubble meter, and the recommended procedure in the manufacturer's instructions for using such a primary standard apparatus, after:

(i) not more than 40 hours of operation;

(ii) receiving unusually harsh or potentially damaging treatment;

(iii) being disassembled for maintenance.

(2) Sampling:

(a) Assemble the sampling train by connecting one end of the tubing to the inlet port of the pump and the other end to the adapter on the tube holder. The ends of the glass tube must be broken to form openings of at least 2 mm before it is inserted into the tube holder.

(b) Check for air leaks in the sampling train by turning on the pump and sealing the open end of the tube. The air flow indicator on a pump with a flow meter must drop to the zero flow position and oscillate slightly. If this does not occur, find and either repair the leak if possible, or replace the faulty component.

(c) Label the tube with an appropriate sample number.

(d) Attach the pump preferably to the worker's belt or place it in a pocket, draw the flexible tubing over the shoulder and fix the tube holder to the worker's clothing as near as possible to the breathing zone with the tube vertical and the air inlet port facing upward. Ensure that the sampling train will not interfere with the worker's normal duties.

(e) Check again that the sampling train is properly assembled and switch on the pump. Allow the flow rate to stabilize for a short duration, then adjust the rate to the pre-calibrated mark of 0.20 L/min, if the pump has a flow meter. Pumps with constant flow devices must not be reset after the flow rate control mechanism has been calibrated to deliver air at this rate. A calibrated external flow meter may be used to check the air flow rate.

(f) Note the following information for each sampling train:

(i) date of sampling;
(ii) company name;
(iii) model and serial number of the sampling pump;
(iv) calibration date of the sampling pump;
(v) name of worker being monitored;
(vi) job title;
(vii) work or operation performed;
(viii) tube or sample number;
(ix) air flow rate;
(x) time of initiation of sampling.

(g) Ensure that for any sampling performed during any survey, two control or blank charcoal tubes are obtained from the same source and the same batch as the sample tubes. These blank tubes are handled in the same manner as the sample tubes (break, seal and transport) except that no air is drawn through them.

(h) The maximum sampling duration for obtaining an air sample should not exceed 100 minutes. A shorter sampling duration should be used to avoid significant breakthrough if a high concentration of benzene and/or the presence of other organic solvent vapours are known or suspected. However, the minimum sampling duration for obtaining an air sample should not be less than 50 minutes. A sufficient number of sequential air samples must be taken to cover a full workshift or operation during which the worker is exposed to benzene. When it is necessary to obtain a better estimate of the worker's time-weighted average exposure, air sampling should be conducted for a sufficient number of workshifts or days in a work week.

(i) During any sampling interval, the sampling train must be checked periodically to ensure that it is functioning properly. The air flow rate must not be readjusted after the initial flow rate is set. If the flow rate changes significantly, terminate sampling and take another sample.

(j) The ambient air temperature and pressure in the sampling area should be recorded at least once.

(k) When another substance is known or suspected to be present in the air, such information, including the suspected identity, should be recorded since the compound may interfere with the analysis of benzene.

(l) To terminate sampling, perform the following sequence of steps:

(i) check the air flow rate just prior to termination of air sampling;

(ii) record the time of termination of sampling;

(iii) switch off the pump and carefully remove the sampling train from the worker;

(iv) remove the glass tube and cap the inlet and outlet ports;

(v) pack the capped tubes tightly to minimize breakage and ship them to a laboratory in an airtight plastic container placed inside a thermos containing ice.

(m) Where a maximum concentration determination is required, it shall be determined by following the procedure specified above with the following exceptions:

(i) An air sample should be taken for a period of time, generally 15 minutes, in order to allow accurate determination of the concentration of benzene; and

(ii) a sufficient number of air samples should be taken during the time periods when peak concentrations are anticipated from a knowledge of the work process, work operation, work cycle, or work practices.

(n) A sample of the bulk sample, known or suspected to contain benzene, should also be submitted to the laboratory in a glass container with a screw cap lined with an inert material such as polytetrafluoroethylene (PTFE). This sample should not be transported in the same shipping container as the sample tubes.

4. Analysis and Calculation of Results

(1) Follow the analytical method entitled "Determination of Benzene on Charcoal Used for Air Sampling" in carrying out the analyses of sample tubes for benzene.

(2) Corrections of analytical results for the field blank are made for each sample, provided that the various amounts of analyte in all sample tubes are greater than the amount of analyte in the field blank tubes.

(3) When the amount of benzene in the back-up section exceeds 25% of the total benzene found in both the front and back-up sections of a sample tube, there has been a significant breakthrough and the concentration of benzene determined for the sample is likely underestimated. If a significant breakthrough is found in most of the samples analyzed, the sampling strategy used should be reviewed and, if necessary, revised.

(4) The concentration of benzene in an air sample can be calculated in parts per million by volume (ppm) by using the following equation:

$$C = 0.313 \times A \times \frac{760}{P} \times \frac{T + 273}{F \times t \times 298}$$

where C = concentration of benzene in ppm

A = corrected amount of benzene in the sample tube in µg

F = air flow rate in litres per minute

T = temperature in $^{o}C$

P = pressure in mm

THE DETERMINATION OF BENZENE ON CHARCOAL USED FOR AIR SAMPLING

1. Principle of Method

(1) Air, possibly containing benzene, is drawn at a specified flow rate for a known duration through a glass tube containing charcoal to adsorb the organic substances present. The tube is then closed with the supplied plastic caps and kept cool ($4^{o}C$) pending analysis.

(2) The tube is scored with a file in front of the first portion of charcoal and broken open. The charcoal is transferred to a small, stoppered sample container and the analyte is desorbed with carbon disulfide.

(3) A known volume of the solvent extract is injected into a gas chromatograph (GC).

(4) The detector response to the benzene present in the sample is determined and compared with that of appropriate standards.

2. Apparatus

(1) Gas chromatograph equipped with a flame ionisation detector (FID).

(2) Column (3.0 m x 3.2 mm OD stainless steel) packed with 10% FFAP stationary phase on 80/100 mesh Chromosorb W/AW-DMCS.

Note: Other contaminants collected with the analyte under review may modify the choice of column packing. Other columns may give an equivalent performance.

(3) An electronic integrator or some other suitable method for measuring detector response.

(4) 5 mL sample containers with caps lined with an inert material such as polytetrafluoroethylene (PTFE).

(5) Microliter syringes: 10 µL and other convenient sizes for preparing standards.

(6) Pipettes: 1.0 mL delivery pipettes.

(7) Volumetric flasks: 1.0, 5.0 and 10.0 mL sizes for preparing standard solutions.

(8) Pressure-reducing valves: a 2-gauge, 2-stage pressure-reducing valve and appropriate hose connections are needed for each tank of compressed gas used.

(9) A rotary shaker.

3. Reagents

(1) Carbon disulfide, chromatographic quality.

(2) Benzene, reagent grade.

(3) Hexane, reagent grade.

(4) Purified nitrogen.

(5) Prepurified hydrogen.

(6) Predried compressed air.

(7) Deionized water.

4. Procedure

(1) Cleaning of equipment:

(a) Before use, all new glassware should be soaked to remove any residual grease or chemicals.

(b) Glassware should be cleaned by soaking in an approximately one in five dilution of concentrated nitric acid in water for at least 6 hours, and then be rinsed thoroughly with tap water and deionized water, in that order, and then dried.

(2) Analysis of sample:

(a) Preparation of sample: Each charcoal tube is scored with a file in front of the first portion of charcoal and broken open. The glass wool is removed and discarded. The charcoal in the first (larger) section is transferred to a 5 mL stoppered sample container. The polyurethane foam partition separating the front and back portions of charcoal is removed and discarded; the second portion is transferred to another stoppered container. These two portions are analyzed separately.

(b) Desorption of samples. Immediately prior to analysis 1.0 mL of carbon disulfide is pipetted into each sample container. (All work with carbon disulfide must be performed in a hood). Tests indicate that, with agitation, on a rotary shaker, desorption is complete in 30 minutes.

(c) GC conditions. The typical operating conditions for the gas chromatograph are:

(i) 20 mL/min (gauge pressure 200 kPa) nitrogen carrier gas flow.

(ii) 250°C injector temperature.

(iii) 300°C detector temperature.

(iv) 90°C column temperature.

(d) A measured volume of sample is injected into the GC and the area of the sample peak is measured, preferably by means of an electronic integrator.

(e) One tube is handled in the same manner as a sample tube (break, seal and transport), except that no air is sampled through this tube. This tube is labelled as a blank and must be analyzed in accordance with the total procedure.

(f) It is also necessary to determine the blank value for the batch of charcoal used to prepare the sample tubes.

5. Calibration and Standards

It is convenient to express concentration of standards in terms of µg/mL carbon disulfide. The density of benzene (0.878 g/mL) is used to convert µg into microliters (µL) for easy measurement with a syringe. A series of standards, varying in concentration over the range 10 to 5,000 µg/mL, are prepared and analyzed under the same GC conditions and during the same time period as the unknown samples. A standard curve is prepared by plotting concentration in µg/1.0 mL versus peak area and is found to be linear over the concentration range 10 to 5,000 µg/mL.

Note: Since no internal standard is used in this method, standard solutions must be included with each batch of samples analyzed.

6. Determination of Desorption Efficiency

(1) The desorption efficiency of benzene may vary from one batch of charcoal to another and from one laboratory to another. Thus, it is necessary to determine, at least once, the percentage of the benzene that is removed in the desorption process, for each batch of charcoal used. The percentage recovery is variable with the amount of benzene present and the concentration range used must cover that found in the samples.

Note: Unless a vapour chamber is available for the preparation of suitable spiked samples, the NIOSH technique of spiking charcoal with known amounts of a solution of benzene dissolved in hexane should be followed.

(2) Procedure for determining desorption efficiency:

(a) 100 mg of activated charcoal is measured into a 5 mL glass vial.

(b) A known amount of a hexane solution of benzene containing 43.9 µg benzene/µL hexane (i.e. 50 µL benzene/mL hexane) is injected directly into the activated charcoal with a microliter syringe and the vial is sealed using a screw cap with a septum faced with an inert material such as polytetrafluoroethylene (PTFE).

(c) The prepared vials are allowed to stand overnight to assure complete adsorption of the analyte onto the charcoal.

These vials are referred to as the sample.

(d) A blank is prepared by measuring 100 mg of activated charcoal into a 5 mL vial, adding to it an amount of hexane equal to that used in the sample preparation and treating it in the manner described above.

(e) The sample and blank tubes are treated in exactly the same manner as the sample tube described in sections 4(2)(b) to 4(2)(d).

$$\text{Desorption efficiency} = \frac{\text{Average weight recovered (µg)}}{\text{weight added}}$$

| Amount of Benzene added to the sample (µg) | Average Amount of Benzene recovered (µg) | Desorption efficiency | No. of samples | % Relative standard deviation |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 17.3 | 17.4 | 1.004 | 3 | 1.4 |
| 43.3 | 43.1 | 0.995 | 3 | 1.4 |
| 131.7 | 136.7 | 1.038 | 3 | 4.1 |
| 219.5 | 231.0 | 1.052 | 3 | 0.6 |

7. Calculations

(1) Read the weight, in µg, corresponding to each peak area (section 4(2)(d)) from the standard curve. No volume corrections are needed, because the standard curve is based on µg/1.0 mL carbon disulfide and the volume of sample injected is identical to the volume of the standards injected.

(2) Corrections for the blank must be made for each sample:

µg = µg sample - µg blank

where

µg sample = µg found on front portion of sample tube

µg blank = µg found on front portion of blank tube

A similar procedure is followed for the back-up sections.

8. Detection Limit

(1) The detection limit, based on a 2 µL injection, was found to be 10 µg benzene/mL carbon disulfide.

9. Interferences

(1) When the amount of water in the air is so great that condensation occurs in the tube, organic vapours will not be adsorbed efficiently.

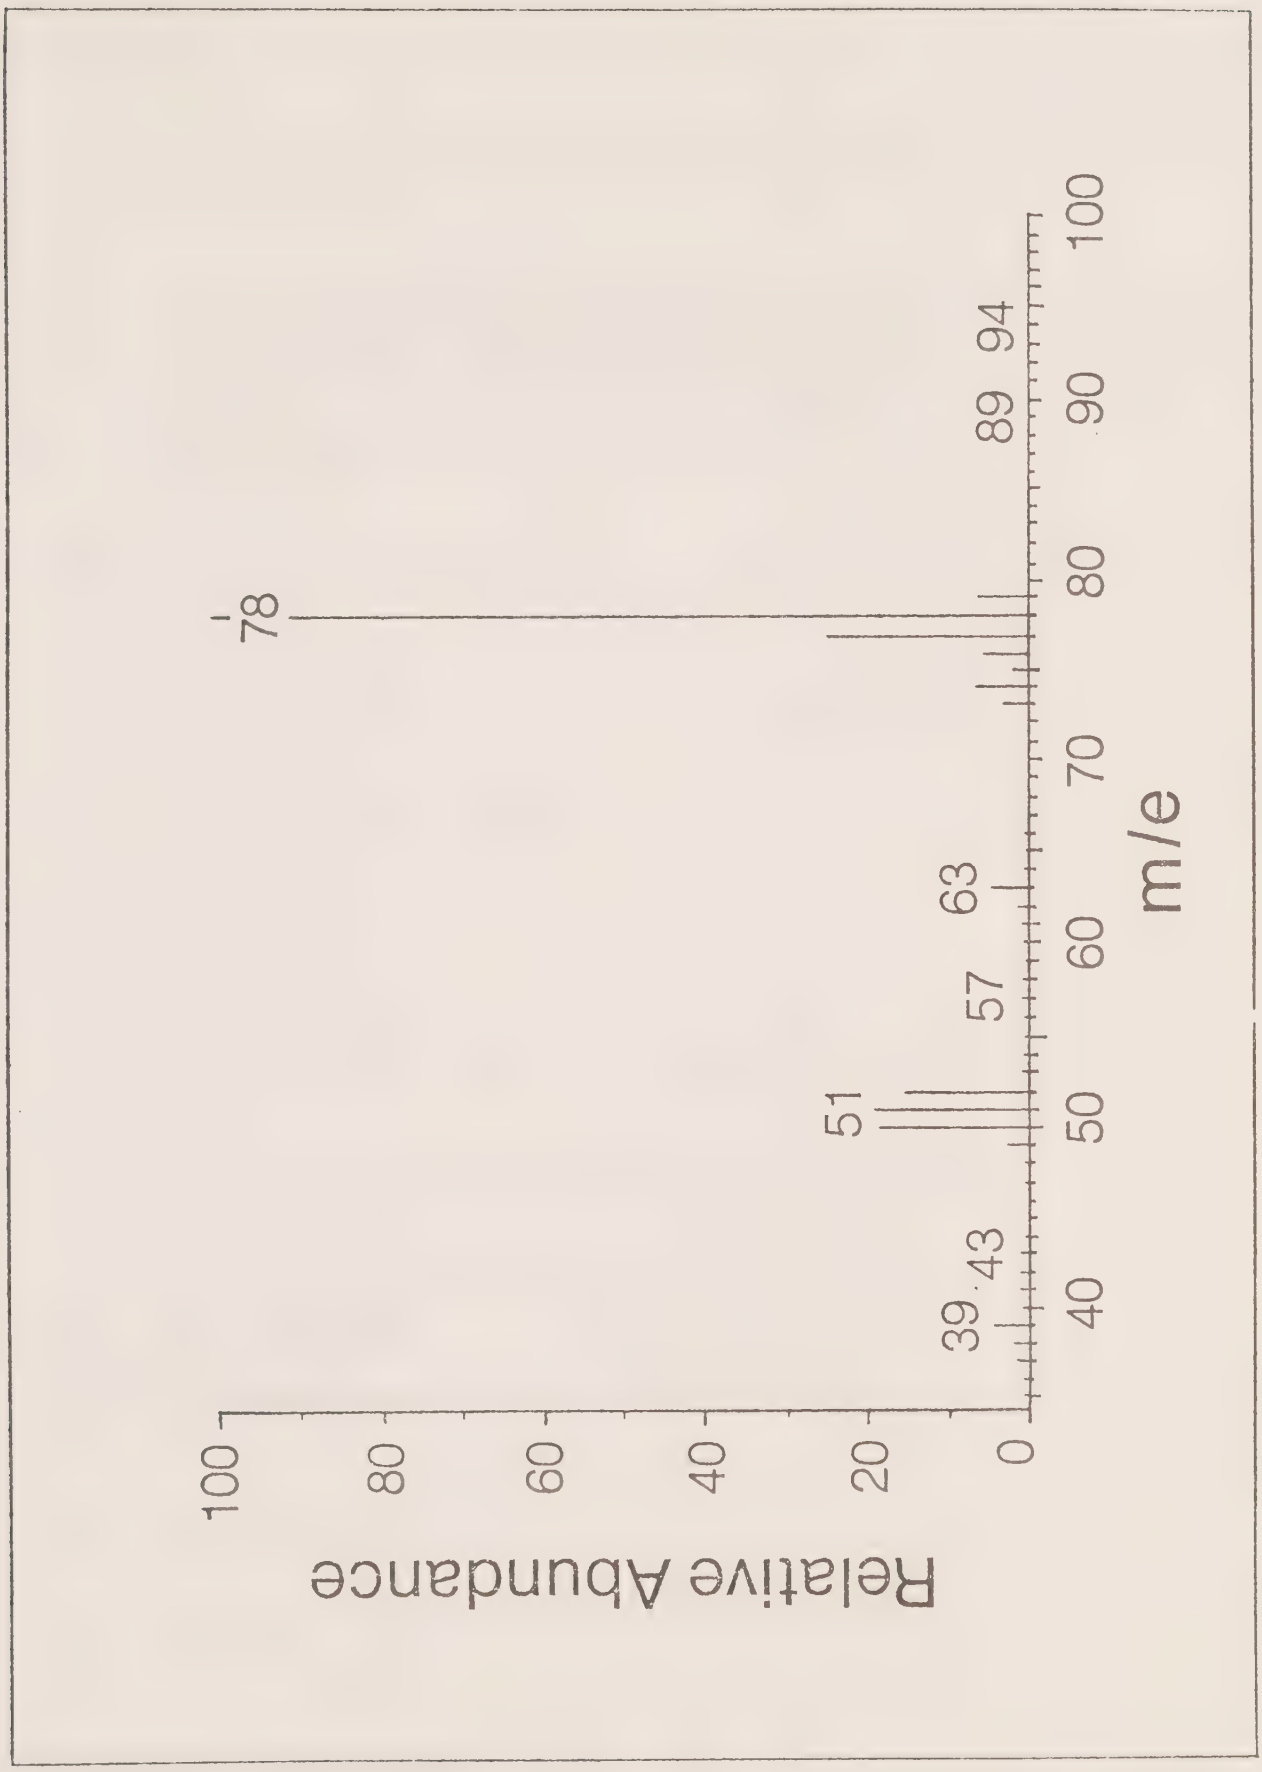

(2) Any compound which has the same retention time as the analyte at the operating conditions described in this method may interfere. Retention time data for a single GC system does not provide proof of chemical identity; a mass spectrogram of the sample may serve to confirm identity (see attached spectrogram).

Note: The data listed in sections 6 and 8 were obtained on a Hewlett-Packard 5840A Gas Chromatrograph.

The mass spectrogram was obtained on a Hewlett-Packard 5985 GC/MS system.

The equipment listed above is specified for clarification purposes only and should not be taken as an endorsement by the Ministry.

MEDICAL SURVEILLANCE PROGRAM

1. Purpose

The objective of a medical surveillance program is to protect the health of workers by:

(a) identifying workers with conditions which may be aggravated by exposure to benzene and establishing a baseline measure for determining changes in health;

(b) evaluating the effects of benzene exposure on workers;

(c) enabling remedial action to be taken when necessary;

(d) providing health education.

2. Program

The medical surveillance program shall consist of the following:

(a) pre-employment and pre-placement examinations;

(b) periodic medical examinations;

(c) clinical tests;

(d) health education;

(e) record keeping.

3. Medical Examinations

The examination shall include the following:

(1) History: The initial medical and occupational history shall include enquiry for previous exposure to benzene and other hematological toxins (both occupational and non-occupational), personal habits including alcohol intake and drug use, personal hygiene and history of present or past renal, hepatic, dermal, hematological, cardiovascular and neurological disorders.

At the periodic examination the history shall be updated to include:

(a) history of frequency and duration of exposure to benzene since previous examination;

(b) enquiry for signs and symptoms that may be an indication of benzene intoxication; acute - irritation of mucous membranes,

- dizziness and confusion,
- headache, weakness.

chronic - hematologic changes including leukemia,
- dermatitis.

(2) General Physical Examination: A general physical examination is required. Particular attention shall be directed to those systems which may be affected by benzene. The co-ordinating examining physician shall determine the frequency of the periodic examination, but it shall be at least annually.

4. Clinical Tests

Clinical tests aid in the assessment of a worker's fitness for and continued exposure to benzene.

(1) Hematological Tests: These shall include:

(a) complete blood count (CBC), at least annually, and

(b) additional tests such as serum bilirubin and reticulocyte count at the discretion of the examining physician.

If the hematological tests indicate red or white cell abnormalities, which are confirmed on repeat specimen, the worker shall be removed from exposure to benzene and referred for investigation.

(2) Phenol in Urine: Urine testing for phenol may be used to monitor benzene exposure. However, it should be noted that some food, beverages and medications may be metabolized to phenol and this should be considered when interpreting the results.

The frequency of the periodic urinary phenol tests depends on the extent of the hazard, and the worker's previous tests results, and should usually be at one to three month intervals.

If symptoms or signs of benzene intoxication are present, the worker shall be removed from benzene exposure regardless of the clinical test results.

A determination by the co-ordinating examining physician shall be made as to whether the worker is fit with limitations or unfit, and action taken in accordance with section 16 of the Benzene Regulation. Subsequently, a decision shall be made by the physician as to whether the worker may return.

Urine Sample Collection: To obtain representative samples, the urine specimen should normally be collected towards the end of the work week and at the end of the shift. Collect 50 mL in a clean polyethylene container with screw cap (no liner). Keep refrigerated until analysis.

5. Health Education

Personal hygiene is important. All workers, especially women in the child-bearing period, shall be made aware of the hazards of benzene and their examination results shall be discussed.

6. Medical History and Examination Records

Under the provisions of the Benzene Regulations the co-ordinating examining physician in charge of the medical surveillance program shall maintain health records for each worker examined. Such records should include:

all relevant correspondence concerning health, and any information concerning the actions taken in response to abnormal clinical tests.

A worker's health records shall be kept in a secure place by the co-ordinating examining physician for:

(a) a period of forty years from the time such records were first made, or

(b) a period of twenty years from the time the last of such records were made, whichever is the longer. Where the co-ordinating examining physician or his successor is no longer able or willing to keep the records, the records are to be forwarded to the Chief Physician of the Occupational Health Medical Service of the Ministry of Labour, who will keep them in a secure place.

AIR SAMPLING METHOD FOR FORMALDEHYDE

1. Principle of the Sampling Method

Air, possibly containing formaldehyde, is drawn at a specified flow rate for a known duration through a midget impinger with a fritted glass bubbler containing an absorbing solution. The sample solution is then reacted with chromotropic acid-sulphuric acid solution to form a coloured complex. The absorbance of the coloured solution is determined spectrophotometrically and is proportional to the quantity of formaldehyde in the solution. This method provides a means of monitoring the concentrations of formaldehyde at strategically selected locations in work areas where there is an exposure to formaldehyde. It may also be used under certain conditions for personal sampling by attaching a spill-resistant midget impinger with a fritted glass bubbler and the holder to the worker's clothing as near as possible to the breathing zone and attaching the pump preferably to the worker's belt or placing it in a pocket.

2. Equipment

The sampling train used to obtain an air sample of formaldehyde is to include the following components and satisfy the criteria specified.

(1) A battery operated portable pump which:

(a) is capable of delivering for 6-8 hours not less than 1 litre of air per minute with the midget impinger and fritted glass bubbler containing absorbing solution in the sampling train. The maximum deviation from the prescribed flow rate is not to exceed 5% and the pump should be equipped with a pulsation damper;

(b) is intrinsically safe, i.e., certified by an accepted agency as safe for use in potentially explosive atmospheres;

(c) includes a calibrated flow meter or a mechanism for maintaining a constant flow rate;

(d) has an on-off switch and flow rate control or adjustment mechanism which are as tamper-proof as possible.

(2) A sample collection device (midget impinger with a fritted glass bubbler) which is:

(a) constructed completely from borosilicate glass and has a fritted tip and standard ground glass joint;

(b) is capable of holding up to 25 mL of solution and is calibrated at 15 mL.

(3) Deionized water is normally used as the absorbing solution. Alternatively, a 1% solution of sodium bisulfite, prepared by dissolving 10 g of reagent grade sodium bisulfite in 1 L deionized water, may be used if desired and in any case should be used as an absorbing medium for:

(a) determining the formaldehyde concentration in the presence of oxides of nitrogen;

(b) simultaneous air sampling for formaldehyde, acrolein and low molecular weight aliphatic aldehydes; or

This solution should be freshly prepared. In order to protect the pump from corrosive sulfur dioxide, an absorption tube containing soda lime may be inserted between the pump and the impinger.

(4) Tubing of sufficient length with appropriate wall thickness to prevent collapsing when air is drawn through and with appropriate inner diameter which will provide a leak-proof fit to the outlet port of the bubbler and to the inlet port adapter of the portable pump.

(5) A tripod or other suitable means for supporting the sampling train.

(6) A mercury thermometer for ambient air temperature measurements, accurate to $\pm$ 1°C.

(7) A barometer for measuring atmospheric pressure, accurate to $\pm$ 5 mm Hg (0.67 kPa).

3. Sampling Procedure

(1) Preparation of Pumps

(a) The pump battery pack must be fully charged according to the manufacturer's instructions, before use in any workshift. If air sampling is carried out for more than one shift on the same day, a fully-charged battery pack must be substituted for the used one after each shift.

(b) Flow meters, or constant flow devices on the pumps must be calibrated at 1.0 L/min with the sampling apparatus in line by using a primary standard, such as a bubble meter, and the recommended procedure in the manufacturer's instructions for using such primary standard apparatus after:

(i) not more than 40 hours of operation;

(ii) receiving unusually harsh or potentially damaging treatment; or

(iii) being disassembled for maintenance.

(2) Preparation of Bubblers

(a) Prepare the bubblers in a clean environment prior to the initiation of sampling.

(b) To each clean bubbler, add 15 mL of absorbing solution. Assemble the base and the top of the bubbler and seal the inlet and outlet ports with sleeves.

(3) Sampling

(a) Assemble the sampling train by connecting one end of the tubing to the inlet port of the pump and the other end to the outlet port of the bubbler.

(b) Check for air leaks in the sampling train by turning on the pump and sealing the inlet port of the bubbler with a sleeve. The air flow indicator on a pump with a flow meter must drop to the zero flow position and oscillate slightly. If this does not occur, find the leak if possible and repair or replace the faulty component.

(c) Label the bubbler with an appropriate sample number.

(d) Place the sampling train on a tripod or other suitable support. Ensure that it will not interfere with the worker's movements in the area.

(e) Check again that the sampling train is properly assembled, remove the sleeve from the inlet port of the bubbler and switch on the pump. Allow the flow rate to stabilize for a short duration, then adjust the rate to the pre-calibrated mark of 1 L/min, if the pump has a flow meter. Pumps with constant flow devices must not be reset after the flow rate control mechanism has been calibrated to deliver air at this rate. A calibrated external flow meter may be used to check the air flow rate.

(f) Note the following information for each sampling train:

(i) date of sampling;
(ii) company name;
(iii) model and serial number of the sampling pump;
(iv) calibration date of the sampling pump;
(v) sampling location;
(vi) work or operation performed;
(vii) bubbler or sample number;
(viii) air flow rate;
(ix) time of initiation of sampling;

(g) Ensure that for any sampling performed during any survey, two control or blank bubblers are prepared in the same manner as the sample bubblers with absorbing solution. These blank bubblers must remain sealed during the sampling (i.e., no air should be drawn through these bubblers);

(h) An air sample should be taken for a period of time, generally 15 minutes, in order to allow accurate determination of the concentration of formaldehyde. A sufficient number of such air samples should be taken during the time periods when peak concentrations are anticipated from a knowledge of the work process, work operation work cycle or work pratices.

(i) During the sampling interval, the sampling train must be checked periodically to ensure that it is functioning properly. The air flow rate must not be readjusted after the initial flow rate is set. If the flow rate changes significantly, terminate sampling and take another sample.

(j) The ambient air temperature and pressure in the sampling area should be recorded at least once.

(k) To terminate sampling, perform the following sequence of steps:

(i) check the air flow rate just prior to termination of air sampling;

(ii) record the time of termination of sampling;

(iii) switch off the pump and carefully remove the sampling train from the support;

(iv) disconnect the bubbler from the tubing and seal the inlet and outlet ports of the bubbler with sleeves;

(v) remove each bubbler stem and tap the stem gently against the inside wall of the bubbler to recover as much of the trapped solution as possible;

(vi) rinse the absorbing solution adhering to the inside of the inlet and the stem directly into the bubbler flask, if necessary, with a small volume (1-2 mL) of unused absorbing solution;

(vii) stopper the bubbler tightly or transfer the content of each bubbler into a small glass bottle on which is placed a leak proof screw cap which is lined with an inert material such as polytetrafluoroethylene (PTFE);

(viii) ship the stoppered bubblers or glass bottles in a protective container as soon as possible to a laboratory for analysis, and ensure that they will not be overturned during transportation;

(ix) refrigerate the samples if analysis cannot be done within a day.

4. Analysis and Calculation of Results

(1) Follow the analytical method entitled "The Determination of Formaldehyde in Air Sampling Solutions" in carrying out the analysis of sample solutions.

(2) Corrections of analytical results for the field blank are made for each sample solution provided that the various amounts of analyte in all sample solutions are greater than the amount of analyte in the field blank solution.

(3) The concentration of formaldehyde in an air sample can be calculated in parts per milion (ppm) by volume, by using the following equation:

$$C = 0.815\ A\ X\ \frac{760}{P}\ X\ \frac{T + 273}{F \times t \times 298}$$

where C = concentration of formaldehyde in ppm

A = corrected amount of formaldehyde, in μg, in the sample solution

F = air flow rate in litres per minute

T = temperature in $^{o}C$

P = pressure in mm Hg

THE DETERMINATION OF FORMALDEHYDE IN AIR SAMPLING SOLUTIONS

1. Principle of Method

(1) Air, possibly containing formaldehyde, is drawn for a known duration through an impinger containing absorbing solution.

(2) Formaldehyde is subsequently reacted with chromotropic acid-sulphuric acid solution to form a purple monocationic chromogen.

(3) The amount of coloured complex formed is in direct proportion to the amount of formaldehyde present and is determined by measuring the absorbance of the solution.

2. Apparatus

(1) A spectrophotometer

(2) Cells, 1 cm matched cells

(3) Cylinders, 25 mL, mixing, graduated with glass stoppers

(4) Balance, capable of weighing to 0.1 mg

(5) Pipettes, delivery: 1, 2, 3, 5, and 10 mL
graduated: 1 mL, 10 mL

(6) Volumetric flasks: 100, 250, 500 and 1000 mL

(7) Erlenmeyer flasks, 250 mL

(8) Burettes: 50 mL, 25 mL and 5 mL

(2) Chromotropic acid (4,5-dihydroxy-2,7-naphthalenedisulfonic acid), disodium salt, dihydrate.

(3) Chromotropic acid reagent (1% w/v).
Dissolve 0.10 g of chromotropic acid, disodium salt, dihydrate in water and dilute to 10 mL. Filter if necessary and store in a brown bottle. Make up fresh weekly.

(4) Chloroform.

(5) Starch, soluble potato, powder.

(6) Starch solution, 1% w/v.
Make a paste with 1 g of soluble starch and 2 mL of water. Slowly add the paste to 100 mL of boiling water. Cool, add 2 mL of chloroform as a preservative, and store in a stoppered bottle. Discard when a mold growth is noticeable.

(7) Concentrated sulphuric acid.
Also prepare a 5% v/v sulphuric acid solution.

(8) Sodium thiosulphate ($Na_2S_20_3.5H_20$).

(9) Sodium thiosulphate, 0.1 N.

Dissolve 25 g of sodium thiosulphate in water in a 1 L volumetric flask and make up to volume. Add 3 drops of chloroform as a preservative.

(10) Potassium iodide.

(11) Potassium iodate.

(12) Standardize the sodium thiosulphate solution against dried potassium iodate using the following procedure:

(a) Weigh out accurately 0.09 to 0.10 g of the dried potassium iodate and dissolve it in 25 mL of water.

(b) Add 2 g of potassium iodide and 5 mL of 5% v/v sulphuric acid.

(c) Titrate the liberated iodine with the thiosulphate solution with constant stirring.

(d) When the colour of the liquid has become a pale yellow, dilute to approximately 100 mL with water, add 0.5 mL of starch solution, and continue the titration until the colour changes from blue to colourless.

(e) A reagent blank must also be carried out.

(f) 1.0 mL of 0.1 N sodium thiosulphate = 0.003567 g of potassium iodate.

$$\text{Normality} = \frac{W}{(T - B)} \times \frac{0.1}{0.003567}$$

W = Accurate weight of potassium iodate

T = Calibration titration volume (mL)

B = Reagent blank titration volume (mL).

(13) Iodine, sublimed.

(14) Iodine, 0.1 N.

Dissolve 25 g of potassium iodide in about 25 mL of water, add 12.7 g of iodine and dilute to 1 L with water. Standardize against standardized sodium thiosulphate solution to a colourless endpoint as in 3(12)(d) above.

(15) Iodine, 0.01 N.

Dilute 100 mL of standardized 0.1 N iodine solution to 1 L. Protect from light at all times and prepare fresh daily.

(16) Sodium carbonate, anhydrous.

(17) Glacial acetic acid.

(18) Sodium carbonate buffer solution.

Dissolve 80 g of anhydrous sodium carbonate in about 500 mL of water. Slowly add 20 mL of glacial acetic acid and dilute to 1 L with water.

(19) Sodium formaldehyde bisulfite.

(20) Formaldehyde standard solution "A" (1 mg/mL).

Accurately weigh out approximately 4.47 g of sodium formaldehyde bisulfite, dissolve in water and dilute to 1 L. A 1 litre solution of 4.4703 g is equivalent to 1 mg formaldehyde/mL solution.

(21) Formaldehyde standard solution "B" (10 µg/mL).
Dilute 1.0 mL of standard solution "A" to 100 mL with water. Make up fresh daily.

4. Procedure

(1) Cleaning of equipment:

(a) Before use, all new glassware should be soaked in a detergent solution to remove any residual grease or chemicals.

(b) Glassware should be cleaned by soaking in an approximately one in five dilution of concentrated nitric acid for at least 6 hours, and then be rinsed thoroughly with tap water and deionized water, in that order, and then dried.

(2) Analysis of sample:

(a) Transfer the sample solution from the impinger to a 25 mL graduated cylinder.

(b) Note the volume of the sample solution.

(c) Pipette a 4.0 mL aliquot from the sample solution into a 25 mL graduated cylinder.

Note: If the formaldehyde content of the aliquot exceeds the limit of the method, a smaller aliquot diluted to 4.0 mL with absorbing solution is used.

(d) Add 0.1 mL of 1% w/v chromotropic acid reagent to the solution and mix.

(e) To the solution, pipette slowly and cautiously 6.0 mL of concentrated sulphuric acid.

Note: The solution becomes extremely hot during the addition of the sulphuric acid. If the acid is not added slowly, some loss of sample could occur due to splattering.

(f) Allow to cool to room temperature*.

(g) Transfer the solution to a 1-cm cell.

(h) Determine the absorbance of each sample at 580 nm against water.

(i) An appropriate impinger solution blank must be analyzed in accordance with the total procedure.

5. Calibration and standards

(1) Standardization of formaldehyde solution:

(a) Pipette 1.0 mL of formaldehyde standard solution "A" into an Erlenmeyer flask. Into another flask pipette 1 mL of water. This solution serves as the blank.

(b) Chill the flask in an ice bath, add 25 mL of chilled sodium carbonate buffer and 0.5 mL of starch solution.

* If 1% sodium bisulfite was used as the absorbing solution then the graduated cylinder is placed in a water bath at 95 - 100°C for 15 minutes and then allowed to cool to room temperature.

(c) Titrate the liberated sulphite with standardized 0.01 N iodine, using a microburette, to a faint blue end point.

Note: The amount of iodine added in this step must be accurately measured and recorded.

(d) The sample size was 1.0 mL, therefore the formaldehyde concentration of the standard solution in mg/mL

$$= \text{volume of iodine titration (mL)} \times 0.15 \times \text{normality factor of 0.01 N iodine}$$

Note: One mL of 0.0100 N iodine is equivalent to 0.15 mg of formaldehyde.

(2) Preparation of standard curve:

(a) Pipette 0.0, 0.05, 0.1, 0.5, 1.0 and 2.0 mL of standard solution "B" into 25 mL glass stoppered graduated cylinders.

(b) Dilute each standard to 4 mL with deionized water.

(c) Develop the colour as described in the analysis procedure (Section 4(2)).

(d) Construct a standard curve by plotting the net absorbance against mg formaldehyde in the colour developed solution.

6. Calculations

(a) From the calibration curve (Section 5(2)), read µg formaldehyde corresponding to the sample aliquot used for analysis.

(b) The value of the impinger blank must be subtracted from each sample.

(c) Calculate the amount of formaldehyde in the sample as A where

$$A = \mu g \text{ formaldehyde in the colour developed solution corrected for the blank} \times \frac{\text{total sample volume (mL)}}{\text{aliquot used for analysis (mL)}}$$

7. Detection Limit

(a) The detection limit was found to be 0.05 µg formaldehyde per mL of colour developed solution.

8. Interferences

There is little if any positive interference from other aldehydes in the procedure using chromotropic acid. Alcohols, olefins, phenols and aromatic hydrocarbons may give rise to negative interference if present in large amounts (NIOSH, P & CAM 125).

9. Precision

| Standard solution being measured, µg formaldehyde per mL of colour developed solution | % Relative standard deviation (n=10) |
|---|---|
| 0.05 | 7.4 |
| 0.1 | 10.7 |
| 0.5 | 1.6 |
| 1.0 | 0.7 |
| 2.0 | 1.4 |

Note: The data listed in sections 7 and 9 were obtained on a Varian Superscan using 1 cm glass cells.

The equipment listed above is specified for clarification purposes only and should not be taken as an endorsement by the Ministry.

SAMPLING AND ANALYTICAL PROCEDURES USED BY THE MINISTRY WILL BE REVIEWED PERIODICALLY AND, IF NECESSARY, REVISED.

MEDICAL SURVEILLANCE PROGRAM

1. Purpose

The objective of a medical surveillance program is to protect the health of workers by:

2. Program

The medical surveillance program shall consist of the following:

(a) pre-employment and pre-placement examinations;

(b) periodic medical examinations;

(c) clinical tests;

(d) health education;

(e) record keeping.

3. Medical Examinations

The examination shall include the following:

(1) History: The initial medical and occupational history shall include enquiry for previous exposure to formaldehyde (both occupational and non-occupational), allergies, personal habits (smoking, hygiene), history of past or present skin, eye and respiratory tract disorders.

A periodic questionnaire shall be administered at six-month intervals.

(a) history of frequency and duration of exposure to formaldehyde since previous examination;

(b) signs and symptoms that may be an indication of formaldehyde exposure;

acute - irritation of mucous membranes (eyes, nose, throat),

- cough and wheezing,

chronic - skin changes due to sensitization,

- cough, wheezing, sputum, or dyspnoea.

(2) Physical Examination: At the pre-placement screening a limited physical examination is required with particular attention directed to those systems which may be affected by formaldehyde. The periodic physical examination shall be performed at the discretion of the co-ordinating examing physician.

The extent and frequency of the examinations and the clinical tests will depend on the degree of the exposure to formaldehyde and the results of previous assessments.

4. Clinical Tests

Clinical tests aid in the assessment of a worker's fitness for and continued exposure to formaldehyde.

The x-ray and pulmonary function testing facilities used shall meet the quality requirements of the Occupational Health Branch.

(1) X-rays: The necessity and frequency for x-rays shall be decided by the co-ordinating examining physician.

(2) Pulmonary Function Tests: Pulmonary function tests shall be undertaken if so indicated by the questionnaire and at least once every two years. They shall include FVC, $FEV_1$, FEF 25 - 75% corrected to body temperature and pressure (BTPS), or other equivalent flow rate tests. The instruments used shall be calibrated to currently applied standards as published in the "Snowbird Workshop on Standardization of Spirometry", American Review of Respiratory Disease, 119, 831-838, 1979. The pulmonary function tests should preferably be undertaken on the first day of the employee's work week, following 36 hours without exposure to formaldehyde. The tests may be repeated with advantage during the shift, no sooner than four and no later than ten hours after the beginning of the workshift.

(3) Action Levels: If the pulmonary function tests show a 15% decline in FEV/FVC ratio or other significant change from the pre-placement or previous periodic tests, and this is confirmed, the worker shall be referred for investigation and his suitability for further exposure to formaldehyde shall be reviewed.

If the worker shows evidence of reaction to formaldehyde the examining physician shall refer the worker for further assessment. On receiving the report of the further assessment the co-ordinating examining physician shall advise the employer and the worker as provided for in section 16 of the regulation.

The term "unfit" may be appropriate for those sensitized individuals with known severe reactions. The term "fit with limitations" may be appropriate for:

(i) sensitized individuals with mild and stable reaction patterns, and

(ii) individuals with hyper-reactive airways whose reactive levels can be specified.

5. Health Education

Personal hygiene is important and eating, drinking and smoking should be prohibited in formaldehyde exposure areas. Workers should be advised of the hazards associated with smoking. All workers shall be made aware of the hazards of formaldehyde, and their examination results shall be discussed.

6. Medical History and Examination Records

Under the provisions of the Formaldehyde Regulation, the co-ordinating examining physician in charge of the medical surveillance program shall maintain health records for each worker examined. Such records should include:

- name in full of worker;
- maiden name of mother;

- date occupations or jobs commenced;

- date occupations or jobs ended;
- the kinds of operations or processes in which the worker was involved;
- concentrations of airborne formaldehyde to which worker was exposed;
- use of respiratory equipment;
- date of visits to physician's office;

A worker's health records shall be kept in a secure place by the co-ordinating examining physician for;

(a) a period of forty years from the time such records were first made, or

(b) a period of twenty years from the time the last of such records were made,

whichever is the longer. Where the co-ordinating examining physician or his successor is no longer able or willing to keep the records, the records are to be forwarded to the Chief Physician of the Occupational Health Medical Service of the Ministry of Labour, who will keep them in a secure place.

2.—(1) "Name" when used in the expression "if the use of that name would be likely to deceive" used in clause 9 (1) (b) of the Act includes,

(a) a name that would lead to the inference that the business or activities carried on or intended to be carried on by the corporation under the proposed name and the business or activities carried on by any other person are one business or one activity, whether or not the nature of the business or activity of each is generally the same;

(b) a name that would lead to the inference that the corporation bearing the name or proposed name is or would be associated or affiliated with a person if the corporation and such person are not or will not be associated or affiliated; or

(c) a name whose similarity to the name of a person would lead someone who has an interest in dealing with that person, to deal with the corporation bearing the name in the mistaken belief that he is dealing with the person.

(2) In this section,

(a) "person" means a person, whether in existence or not; and

(b) "use" means actual use by a person that carries on business in Canada or elsewhere. O. Reg. 446/83, s. 2.

3. For the purpose of section 12 of the Act, the matters the Director may consider when determining whether a name is contrary to section 9 of the Act include,

(2) Subject ot subsection (3), an employer to whom this Regulation applies shall take every precaution reasonable in the circumstances to ensure that every worker who is not an employee of the employer but who is working in the work place of the employer and is exposed to isocyanates and whose health is likely to be affected thereby is protected and the worker shall comply with the requirements of the employer.

(3) Subsection (2) and sections 4 to 18 of this Regulation do not apply to a constructor, an employer who is carrying out a project or a worker working on or at a project. O. Reg. 455/83, s. 3.

4.—(1) Every employer shall take all necessary measures and procedures by means of engineering controls, work practices and hygiene practices and facilities to ensure that the time-weighted average exposure of a worker to toluene diisocyanate (TDI), methylene bisphenyl isocyanate (MDI), hexamethylene 1,6-diisocyanate (HDI) or isophorone diisocyanate (IPDI) is reduced to the lowest practical level and in any case shall not exceed 0.005 parts of the isocyanate per million parts of air by volume or 0.2 micromoles of the isocyanate per $m^3$ of air.

Schedule

The time-weighted average exposure of a worker to airborne isocyanates referred to in subsection 4 (1) shall be calculated as follows:

1. The average concentrations of isocyanates to which a worker is exposed shall be determined from analyses of air samples representative of the exposure of the worker to isocyanates during work operations as set out in the Code mentioned in section 12.

2. The results of analyses are the concentrations expressed as parts of isocyanates per million parts of air by volume or as micromoles of isocyanates per $m^3$ of air.

3. The concentrations shall be multiplied by the time in hours to which the worker is taken to be exposed to such concentrations.

4. The weekly exposure shall be calculated as follows:

   $C_1T_1 + C_2T_2 + \ldots + C_nT_n =$ cumulative weekly exposure, where $C_1$ is the concentration found in an air sample and $T_1$ is the total time in hours to which the worker is taken to be exposed to concentration $C_1$ in a week.

5. The time-weighted average exposure shall be calculated by dividing the cumulative weekly exposure by 40. O. Reg. 455/83, Sched.

PROPOSED REGULATION MADE UNDER THE OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY ACT

DESIGNATED SUBSTANCE - ACRYLONITRILE

1. In this Regulation,

(a) "joint health and safety committee" includes a joint health and safety committee established under section 8 of the Act, a committee of like nature and the workers or their representatives who participate in an arrangement, program or system conforming to subsection 8(2) of the Act;

(b) "$m^3$" means cubic metre;

(c) "mg" means milligrams.

2. Acrylonitrile is prescribed as a designated substance.

3. (1) Subject to subsection (3), this Regulation applies to every employer and worker at a work place where acrylonitrile is present, produced, processed, used, handled or stored and at which the worker is likely to inhale, absorb or come into contact with acrylonitrile.

(2) Subject to subsection (3), an employer to whom this Regulation applies shall take every precaution reasonable in the circumstances to ensure that every worker who is not an employee of the employer but who is working in the work place of the employer and is exposed to acrylonitrile and whose health is likely to be affected thereby is protected and the worker shall comply with the requirements of the employer.

(3) Subsection (2) and sections 4 to 17 of this Regulation do not apply to a constructor, an employer who is carrying out a project or a worker working on or at a project.

4. (1) Every employer shall take all necessary measures and procedures by means of engineering controls, work practices and hygiene practices and facilities to ensure that the time-weighted average exposure of a worker to airborne acrylonitrile is reduced to the lowest practical level and in any case shall not exceed one part acrylonitrile per million parts of air by volume or 2.2 mg acrylonitrile per $m^3$ of air.

(2) Notwithstanding subsection (1), an employer shall ensure that the exposure of a worker to acrylonitrile shall not exceed five parts acrylonitrile per million parts of air by volume or 10.8 mg acrylonitrile per $m^3$ of air at any time.

(3) Subject to section 5, every employer shall comply with subsections (1) and (2), without requiring a worker to wear and use respiratory equipment.

(4) The time-weighted average exposure of a worker to airborne acrylonitrile shall be calculated in accordance with the Schedule and the result of the calculation of the exposure may be certified by an inspector.

(5) Every worker shall work in compliance with the work practices and hygiene practices in accordance with the provisions of the acrylonitrile control program.

(6) On a prosecution for a failure to comply with subsection (1) or (2), it shall be a defence for an employer to prove that he has complied with subsection (1) or (2) and that a breach of subsection (1) or (2) occurred solely because a worker failed to work in compliance with the work practices and hygiene practices in accordance with the provisions of the acrylonitrile control program and the employer has taken every precaution reasonable in the circumstances to require the worker to do so.

5. (1) Where the strict duty imposed by subsection 4(1) or 4(2) cannot be complied with because,

(a) an emergency exists; or

(b) the measures and procedures necessary to control the exposure of a worker to acrylonitrile,

(i) do not exist or are not available,

(ii) are not reasonable or practical for the length of time or frequency of exposure or the nature of the process, operation or work, or

(iii) are not effective because of a temporary breakdown of equipment, the employer shall provide a worker with respiratory equipment which shall be used by the worker.

(2) Where respiratory equipment is provided by an employer and used by a worker, the respiratory equipment shall:

(a) be appropriate in the circumstances for the concentration of airborne acrylonitrile;

(b) meet or exceed the requirements set out in the Code for Respiratory Equipment for Acrylonitrile dated the 15th day of July, 1983, and issued by the Ministry; and

(c) be used in accordance with the requirements of the Code.

(3) The employer shall provide training and instruction to a worker in the proper care and use of respiratory equipment provided by the employer.

6. (1) Every employer to whom this Regulation applies shall cause an assessment to be made in writing of the exposure or likelihood of exposure in a work place of a worker to the inhalation, absorption or contact with acrylonitrile.

(2) In causing the assessment to be made, the employer shall consider and take into account such matters as,

(a) the methods and procedures used or to be used in the production, processing, use, handling or storage of acrylonitrile;

(b) the extent and potential extent of the exposure of a worker to the inhalation, absorption or contact with acrylonitrile; and

(c) the measures and procedures necessary to control such exposure by means of engineering controls, work practices and hygiene practices and facilities.

(3) In causing the assessment to be made, the employer shall consult thereon with the joint health and safety committee and the committee may make recommendations with respect to the assessment.

(4) A copy of the assessment made by an employer shall be given by the employer to each member of the joint health and safety committee.

7. (1) Where the assessment discloses or would, if made in conformity with section 6, disclose that a worker is likely to inhale, absorb or come into contact with acrylonitrile and that the health of the worker may be affected thereby, the employer shall develop, establish, put into effect and maintain measures and procedures to control the exposure of the worker to acrylonitrile and shall incorporate the same into an acrylonitrile control program.

(2) The acrylonitrile control program shall include provisions for,

(a) engineering controls, work practices and hygiene practices and facilities to control the exposure of a worker to acrylonitrile;

(b) methods and procedures to monitor the concentrations of airborne acrylonitrile in the work place and the exposure of a worker thereto;

(c) personal records of the exposure of a worker to acrylonitrile at the work place, including the time-weighted average exposure of the worker and of the concentrations of acrylonitrile and the times in which such concentrations were taken to be representative of the exposure of the worker and used in calculating the average exposure, to be maintained by the employer;

(d) medical examinations and clinical tests of a worker;

(e) records of medical examinations and clinical tests of a worker to be maintained by a physician who has examined the worker or under whose direction the examinations and tests have been performed; and

(f) a training program for supervisors and workers on the health effects of acrylonitrile and the measures and procedures required under the acrylonitrile control program.

(3) In developing the measures and procedures mentioned in subsection (1) and the acrylonitrile control program, the employer shall consult with the joint health and safety committee and the committee may make recommendations with respect to the same.

8. Where a change is made in a process involving acrylonitrile, or in the methods and procedures in the production, use, handling or storage of acrylonitrile and the change could result in a significant difference in the exposure of a worker to the inhalation, absorption or contact with acrylonitrile, the employer shall cause a further assessment to be made forthwith and the provisions of sections 6 and 7 apply to the further assessment.

9. (1) Where disputes arise between an employer and a joint health and safety committee as to an assessment required under section 6 or 8 or as to the measures and procedures mentioned in subsection 7(1) or the acrylonitrile control program or its provisions required under section 7 or 8, the employer, a member of the joint health and safety committee or the committee may notify an inspector thereof who shall investigate and give a decision in writing to the employer and to the member or the committee.

(2) Nothing in subsection (1) applies so as to affect the power of an inspector to issue an order for a contravention of this Regulation.

10. (1) A copy of the acrylonitrile control program put into effect by the employer shall be given by the employer to each member of the joint health and safety committee and the employer shall acquaint every worker affected by the acrylonitrile control program with its provisions.

(2) A copy of the acrylonitrile control program put into effect by the employer shall be made available by the employer in English and in the majority language of the work place.

11. Subject to section 17, the procedures for monitoring, sampling and determining the concentrations of airborne acrylonitrile in a work place and the exposure of a worker thereto shall be those set out in the Code for Measuring Airborne Acrylonitrile dated the 15th day of July, 1983, and issued by the Ministry.

12. The results of monitoring the concentrations of airborne acrylonitrile in the work place and the exposure of a worker thereto as provided by the acrylonitrile control program shall be,

(a) posted forthwith by the employer as soon as the results are available in a conspicuous place or places at the work place where they are most likely to come to the attention of the workers affected thereby for a period of at least fourteen days;

(b) furnished to the joint health and safety committee; and

(c) kept by the employer for a period of at least five years.

13. (1) A worker shall, at the expense of the employer, undergo the medical examinations and clinical tests required under the acrylonitrile control program.

(2) The medical examinations and clinical tests required under the acrylonitrile control program shall make provisions for,

(a) pre-employment and pre-placement medical examinations to include,

(i) a medical history,

(ii) a physical examination, and

(iii) clinical tests, as required by the examining physician; and

(b) periodic medical examinations and clinical tests consisting of the items prescribed by clause (a).

(3) The medical history, physical examination, and clinical tests shall meet the provisions of the Code for Medical Surveillance of Acrylonitrile Exposed Workers dated the 15th day of July, 1983, and issued by the Ministry.

14. (1) The records of the exposures of each worker to airborne acrylonitrile at the work place to be maintained as provided by the acrylonitrile control program shall identify the worker, including his date of birth, his jobs or occupations at the work place, the results of monitoring for exposure to airborne acrylonitrile in his work area and the use by the worker of respiratory equipment and its type.

(2) The employer shall provide a copy of the records of the exposures of the worker to airborne acrylonitrile as provided by the acrylonitrile control program to the physician who examines the worker and under whose supervision the clinical tests of the worker are performed.

15. (1) The records of medical examinations and clinical tests of a worker obtained and made under this Regulation and of the exposures of the worker to airborne acrylonitrile furnished by the employer under subsection 14(2) shall be kept in a secure place by the physician who has conducted the examinations and tests or under whose supervision the examinations and tests have been made for,

(a) a period of forty years from the time such records were first made; or

(b) a period of twenty years from the time the last of such records were made,

whichever is the longer.

(2) Where the physician is no longer able or willing to keep the records, the records shall be forwarded to the Chief Physician, Occupational Health Medical Service of the Ministry, or a physician designated by the Chief Physician and the provisions of subsection (1) shall, with necessary modifications, apply thereto.

16. (1) The physician conducting the physical examination or clinical tests or under whose supervision the examination or tests are made shall advise the employer, who shall act thereon, and the worker whether the worker is fit or, because of a condition resulting from the exposure to acrylonitrile, is fit with limitations or unfit for work in acrylonitrile exposure without giving or disclosing to the employer the records or results of the examination or tests, and in advising that the worker is fit with limitations or unfit, the physician shall be governed by the provisions of the Code for Medical Surveillance of Acrylonitrile Exposed Workers referred to in subsection 13(3).

(2) Where a worker is removed from acrylonitrile exposure because a physical examination or clinical test discloses that the worker may have or has a condition resulting from the exposure to acrylonitrile and suffers a loss of earnings occasioned thereby, the worker is entitled to compensation for the loss in the manner and to the extent provided by the Workers' Compensation Act.

(3) Upon advising the employer and the worker that a worker, because of a condition resulting from exposure to acrylonitrile, is fit with limitations or unfit for work in acrylonitrile exposure, the physician shall advise in writing upon a confidential basis the joint health and safety committee thereof and in giving such advice shall indicate his opinion as to the interpretation to be placed thereon.

(4) Copies of the exposure records and the records and results of physicial examinations and clinical tests of a worker shall be given by the physician conducting the examination or tests,

(a) to the worker or his physician upon the request in writing of the worker; and

(b) in the case of a deceased worker, to the next of kin or personal representative of the worker, upon the request in writing of such next of kin or personal representative, and any authorization of another person by the worker or his next of kin or personal representative is of no effect.

(5) Where the physician advises the employer that a worker, because of a condition resulting from exposure to acrylonitrile, is fit with limitations or is unfit for work in acrylonitrile exposure, the physician shall forthwith communicate such advice to the Chief Physician, Occupational Health Medical Service of the Ministry.

17. For the purposes of this Regulation, the methods and procedures that may be used or adopted may vary from the codes issued by the Ministry if the protection afforded thereby or the factors of accuracy and precision used or adopted are equal to or exceed the protection or the factors of accuracy and precision in the codes issued by the Ministry.

18. (1) This Regulation, except sections 4, 5, 7, 8 and 10 to 17, comes into force on the day this Regulation is filed with the Registrar of Regulations.

(2) Sections 4, 5, 7, 8 and 10 to 17 come into force ninety days after the day this Regulation is filed with the Registrar of Regulations.

SCHEDULE

The time-weighted average exposure of a worker to airborne acrylonitrile shall be calculated as follows:

1. The average concentrations of acrylonitrile to which a worker is exposed shall be determined from analyses of air samples taken as being representative of the exposure of the worker to acrylonitrile during work operations as set out in the Code mentioned in section 11.

2. The results of the analyses are the concentrations of acrylonitrile expressed as parts acrylonitrile per million parts of air by volume or as mg acrylonitrile per $m^3$ of air.

3. The concentrations shall be multiplied by the time in hours to which the worker is taken to be exposed to such concentrations.

4. The weekly exposure shall be calculated as follows:

   $C_1T_1 + C_2T_2 + ...+ C_nT_n$ = cumulative weekly exposure, where $C_1$ is the concentration found in an air sample and $T_1$ is the total time in hours to which the worker is taken to be exposed to concentration $C_1$ in a week.

5. The time-weighted average exposure shall be calculated by dividing the cumulative weekly exposure by 40.

AIR SAMPLING METHOD FOR ACRYLONITRILE

1. Principle of the Sampling Method

Air, possibly containing acrylonitrile, is drawn at a specified flow rate for a known duration through a glass tube containing activated charcoal. The sample is analyzed for acrylonitrile by desorption of activated charcoal with carbon disulfide and then by gas chromatographic assay of the solvent extract. Both personal and area samples may be collected by this method.

2. Equipment

The sampling train used to obtain an air sample of acrylonitrile is to include the following components and satisfy the criteria specified:

(1) A battery operated portable pump which:

(a) is capable of delivering, for 6-8 hours, not less than 0.20 litre of air per minute with the glass tube containing activated charcoal in the sampling train. The maximum deviation from the prescribed flow rate is not to exceed ±5% and the pump should be equipped with a pulsation damper;

(b) is intrinsically safe, i.e., certified by an accepted agency as safe for use in potentially explosive atmospheres;

(c) includes a calibrated flow meter or a mechanism for maintaining a constant flow rate; and

(d) has an on-off switch and flow rate control or adjustment mechanism which are as tamper-proof as possible.

(2) A sample collection device which is constructed from glass tubing approximately 70 mm in length, 4.0 mm in inner diameter and 6.0 mm in outer diameter and which contains in sequence the following materials:

(a) a plug of silanized glass wool immediately behind the inlet port;

(b) 100 mg of 20/40 mesh activated charcoal in the front section;

(c) a 2 mm long plug of urethane foam;

(d) 50 mg of 20/40 mesh activated charcoal in the back-up section and

(e) a 3 mm long plug of urethane foam immediately before the outlet port.

Each tube must be flame-sealed at both ends and be supplied with two plastic caps for sealing the tube after it has been used for air sampling.

(3) A tube holder which:

(a) includes an alligator clip for attachment to clothing;

(b) includes an adapter for flexible tubing to ensure a leak proof fit for the sample collection device and

(c) provides adequate protection against tube breakage.

(4) Tubing of sufficient length with appropriate wall thickness to prevent collapsing when air is drawn through and with appropriate inner diameter which will provide a leak proof fit to the tube holder and to the inlet port of the portable pump.

(5) A mercury thermometer for ambient air temperature measurement, accurate to $\pm 1^{o}C$.

(6) A barometer for measuring atmospheric pressure, accurate to $\pm$ 5 mm Hg (0.67 kPa).

3. Sampling Procedure

(1) Preparation of pumps:

(a) The pump battery pack must be fully charged, according to the manufacturer's instructions, before use in any workshift. If air sampling is carried out for more than one shift on the same day, a fully-charged battery pack must be substituted for the used one.

(b) Flow meters or constant flow devices on the pumps must be calibrated at 0.20 L/min with the charcoal tube in line by using a primary standard, such as a bubble meter, and the recommended procedure in the manufacturer's instructions for using such a primary standard apparatus, after:

(i) not more than 40 hours of operation;
(ii) receiving unusually harsh or potentially damaging treatment or
(iii) being disassembled for maintenance.

(2) Sampling:

(a) Assemble the sampling train by connecting one end of the tubing to the inlet port of the pump and the other end to the adapter on the tube holder. The ends of the glass tube must be broken to form openings of at least 2 mm before it is inserted into the tube holder.

(b) Check for air leaks in the sampling train by turning on the pump and sealing the open end of the tube. The air flow indicator on a pump with a flow meter must drop to the zero flow position and oscillate slightly. If this does not occur, find and either repair the leak if possible, or replace the faulty component.

(c) Label the tube with an appropriate sample number.

(d) Attach the pump preferably to the worker's belt or place it in a pocket, draw the flexible tubing over the shoulder and fix the tube holder to the worker's clothing as near as possible to the breathing zone with the tube vertical and the air inlet port facing upward. Ensure that the sampling train will not interfere with the worker's normal duties.

(e) Check again that the sampling train is properly assembled and switch on the pump. Allow the flow rate to stabilize for a short duration then adjust the rate to the precalibrated mark of 0.20 L/min, if the pump has a flow meter. Pumps with constant flow devices must not be reset after the flow rate control mechanism has been calibrated to deliver air at this rate. A calibrated external flow meter may be used to check the air flow rate.

(f) Note the following information for each sampling train:

(i) date of sampling;
(ii) company name;
(iii) model and serial number of the sampling pump;
(iv) calibration date of sampling pump;
(v) name of worker being monitored;
(vi) job title;
(vii) work or operation being performed;
(viii) tube or sampling number;
(ix) air flow rate;
(x) time of initiation of sampling.

(g) Ensure that for any sampling performed during any survey, two control or blank charcoal tubes are obtained from the same source and the same batch as the sample tubes. One of the blank tubes should be handled in the same manner as the sample tubes (break, seal and transport) except that no air is drawn through it.

(h) The maximum sampling duration for obtaining an air sample should not exceed 100 minutes. A shorter sampling duration should be used to avoid significant breakthrough if a high concentration of acrylonitrile and/or the presence of other organic solvent vapours are known or suspected. However, the minimum sampling duration for obtaining an air sample should not be less than 50 minutes. A sufficient number of sequential air samples must be taken to cover a full workshift or operation during which the worker is exposed to acrylonitrile. Where it is necessary to obtain a better estimate of the worker's time-weighted average exposure, air sampling should be conducted for a sufficient number of workshifts or days in a work week.

(i) During any sampling interval, the sampling train must be checked periodically to ensure that it is functioning properly. The air flow rate must not be readjusted after the initial flow rate is set. If the flow rate changes significantly, terminate sampling and take another sample.

(j) The ambient air temperature and pressure in the sampling area should be recorded at least once.

(k) When two or more substances are known or suspected to be present in the air, such information, including their suspected identities, should be recorded since these compounds may interfere with the analysis of acrylonitrile.

(l) To terminate sampling, perform the following sequence of steps:

(i) check the air flow rate just prior to termination of air sampling;
(ii) record the time of termination of sampling;
(iii) switch off the pump and carefully remove the sampling train from the worker;
(iv) remove the glass tube and cap the inlet and outlet ports;
(v) pack the capped tubes tightly to minimize breakage and ship them to a laboratory in an airtight plastic container placed inside a themos containing ice.

(m) Where a maximum concentration determination is required, it shall be determined by following the procedure specified above with the following exceptions:

(i) an air sample should be taken for a period of time, generally 15 minutes, in order to allow accurate determination of the concentration of acrylonitrile; and

(ii) a sufficient number of air samples should be taken during the time periods when peak concentrations are anticipated from a knowledge of the work process, work operation, work cycle, or work practices.

(n) A sample of the bulk material known or suspected to contain acrylonitrile should also be submitted to the laboratory in a glass container with a screw cap lined with polytetrafluoroethylene (PTFE). This sample should not be transported in the same shipping container as the sample tubes.

4. Analysis of Calculation of Results

(1) Follow the analytical method entitled "Determination of Acrylonitrile on Charcoal Used for Air Sampling" in carrying out the analyses of sample tubes for acrylonitrile.

(2) Corrections of analytical results for the field blank are made for each sample provided that the various amounts of analyte in all sample tubes are greater than the amount of analyte in the field blank tube.

(3) When the amount of acrylonitrile in the back-up section exceeds 25% of the total acrylonitrile found in both the front and back-up sections of a sample tube, there has been a significant breakthrough and the concentration of acrylonitrile determined for the sample is likely underestimated. If a significant breakthrough is found in most of the samples analyzed, the sampling strategy used should be reviewed and, if necessary, revised before repeat sampling is carried out.

(4) The concentration of acrylonitrile in the air sample can be calculated in parts per million by volume (ppm) by using the following equation:

$$C = 0.461\ A \times \frac{760}{P} \times \frac{T + 273}{298\ F \times t}$$

where C = concentration of acrylonitrile in ppm

A = corrected amount of acrylonitrile in the sample tube in µg

F = air flow rate in litres per minute

T = temperature in $^{o}C$

P = pressure in mm Hg

THE DETERMINATION OF ACRYLONITRILE ON CHARCOAL USED FOR AIR SAMPLING

1 Principle of Method

(1) Air, possibly containing acrylonitrile, is drawn at a specified flow rate for a known duration through a glass tube containing charcoal to adsorb the organic substances present. The tube is then closed with the supplied plastic caps and kept at a temperature of $4^{o}C$ pending analysis.

(2) The tube is scored with a file in front of the first portion of charcoal and broken open. The charcoal is transferred to a small, stoppered sample container and the analyte is desorbed with carbon disulfide.

(3) A known volume of the solvent extract is injected into a gas chromatograph (GC).

(4) The detector response to the acrylonitrile present in the sample is determined and compared with that of appropriate standards.

2. Apparatus

(1) Gas chromatograph equipped with a flame ionization detector (FID).

(2) Column (3.0 m x 3.2 mm OD stainless steel) packed with 10% FFAP stationary phase on 80/100 mesh Chromosorb W AW-DMCS.

Note: Other contaminants collected with the analyte under review may modify the choice of column packing. Other columns may give an equivalent performance.

(3) An electronic integrator or some other suitable method for measuring detector response.

(4) 5 mL sample containers with PTFE-lined caps*.

(5) Microliter syringes: 10 µL and other convenient sizes for preparing standards.

(6) Pipettes: 1.0 mL delivery pipettes.

(7) Volumetric flasks: 1.0, 5.0 and 10.0 mL sizes for preparing standard solutions.

(8) Pressure-reducing valves: a 2-gauge, 2-stage pressure-reducing valve and appropriate hose connections are needed for each tank of compressed gas.

(9) A rotary shaker.

3. Reagents

(1) Carbon disulfide, chromatographic quality.

(2) Acrylonitrile, reagent grade.

(3) Hexane, reagent grade.

(4) Purified nitrogen.

(5) Prepurified hydrogen.

(6) Predried compressed air.

* PTFE - polytetrafluoroethylene

(7) Deionized water.

4. Procedure

(1) Cleaning of equipment:

(a) Before use, all new glassware should be soaked to remove any residual grease or chemicals.

(b) Glassware should be cleaned by soaking in an approximately one in five dilution of concentrated nitric acid in water for at least 6 hours and then be rinsed thoroughly with tap water and deionized water, in that order, and then dried.

(2) Analysis of sample:

(a) Preparation of sample: Each charcoal tube is scored with a file in front of the first portion of charcoal and broken open. The glass wool is removed and discarded. The charcoal in the first (larger) section is transferred to a 5 mL stoppered sample container. The polyurethane foam partition separating the front and back portions of charcoal is removed and discarded; the second portion is transferred to another stoppered container. These two portions are analyzed separately.

(b) Desorption of samples. Immediately prior to analysis, 1.0 mL of carbon disulfide is pipetted into each sample container. (All work with carbon disulfide should be performed in a hood.) Tests indicate that, with agitation, on a rotary shaker, desorption is complete in 30 minutes.

(c) GC Conditions. The typical operating conditions for the gas chromatograph are:

(i) 20 mL/min (gauge pressure 200 kPa) nitrogen carrier gas flow.

(ii) 250°C injector temperature.

(iii) 255°C detector temperature.

(iv) 120°C column temperature.

(d) A known volume of sample is injected into the GC and the area of the sample peak is measured, preferably by means of an electronic integrator.

(e) One tube is handled in the same manner as a sample tube (break, seal and transport), except that no air is sampled through this tube. This tube is labelled as a blank and must be analyzed in accordance with the total procedure.

(f) It is also necessary to determine the blank value for the batch of charcoal used to prepare the sample tubes.

5. Calibration and Standards

It is convenient to express the concentration of standards in terms of µg/mL carbon disulfide. The density of acrylonitrile (0.806 g/mL) is used to convert µg into microlitres (µL) for easy measurement with a syringe calibrated in microlitres. A series of standards, varying in concentration over the range 10 to 1,500 µg/mL, are prepared and analyzed under the same GC conditions and during the same time period as the unknown samples. A standard curve is prepared by plotting concentration in µg acrylonitrile/mL solution versus peak area and is found to be linear over the concentration range 10 to 1,500 µg/mL.

Note: Since no internal standard is used in this method, standard solutions must be included with each batch of samples analyzed.

6. The Determination of Desorption Efficiency

(1) The desorption efficiency of a particular compound may vary from one batch of charcoal to another and from one laboratory to another. Thus, it is necessary to determine, at least once, the percentage of the specific compound that is removed in the desorption process, for each batch of charcoal used. The percentage recovery is variable with the amount of compound present and the concentration range used must cover that found in the samples.

Note: Unless a vapour chamber is available for the preparation of suitable spiked samples, the NIOSH technique of spiking samples with known amounts of a solution of acrylonitrile dissolved in hexane should be followed.

(2) Procedure for determing desorption efficiency:

(a) 100 mg of activated charcoal is measured into a 5 mL glass vial.

(b) A known amount of a suitable solution of acrylonitrile in hexane (i.e. high range: 200 µg acrylonitrile/µL hexane, low range: 8 µg acrylonitrile/µL hexane) is injected directly into the activated charcoal with a microliter syringe and the vial is sealed using a PTFE-lined screw cap.

(c) The prepared vials are allowed to stand overnight to assure complete adsorption of the analyte onto the charcoal. These vials are referred to as the sample.

(d) A blank is prepared by measuring 100 mg of activated charcoal into a 5 mL vial, adding to it an amount of hexane equal to that used in the sample preparation and treating it in the manner described above.

(e) The sample and blank tubes are treated in exactly the same manner as the sampling tube described in sections 4(2)(b) to 4(2)(d).

| Amount of acrylonitrile added to the sample (µg) | Average amount of acrylonitrile recovered (µg) | Desorption efficiency | No. of samples | % Relative standard deviation |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 15.95 | 10.0 | 0.627 | 3 | 6.2 |
| 95.7 | 74.7 | 0.780 | 3 | 4.1 |
| 667.2 | 582.8 | 0.874 | 3 | 2.7 |
| 1334.2 | 1144.5 | 0.858 | 3 | 3.7 |

7. Calculations

(1) Read the weight, in µg, corresponding to each peak area (section 4(2)(d)), from the standard curve. No volume corrections are needed, because the standard curve is based on µg acrylonitrile/mL carbon disulfide solution, and the volume of sample injected is identical to the volume of the standards injected.

(2) Corrections for the blank must be made for each sample:

$$\mu g = \mu g \text{ sample} - \mu g \text{ blank}$$

where

$\mu g$ sample = $\mu g$ found on front portion of sample tube

$\mu g$ blank = $\mu g$ found on front portion of blank tube

A similar procedure is followed for the back-up sections.

8. Detection Limit

(1) The detection limit, based on a 2 µL injection, was found to be 10 µg acrylonitrile/mL carbon disulfide.

9. Interference

(1) When the amount of water in the air is so great that condensation occurs in the tube, organic vapours will not be adsorbed efficiently.

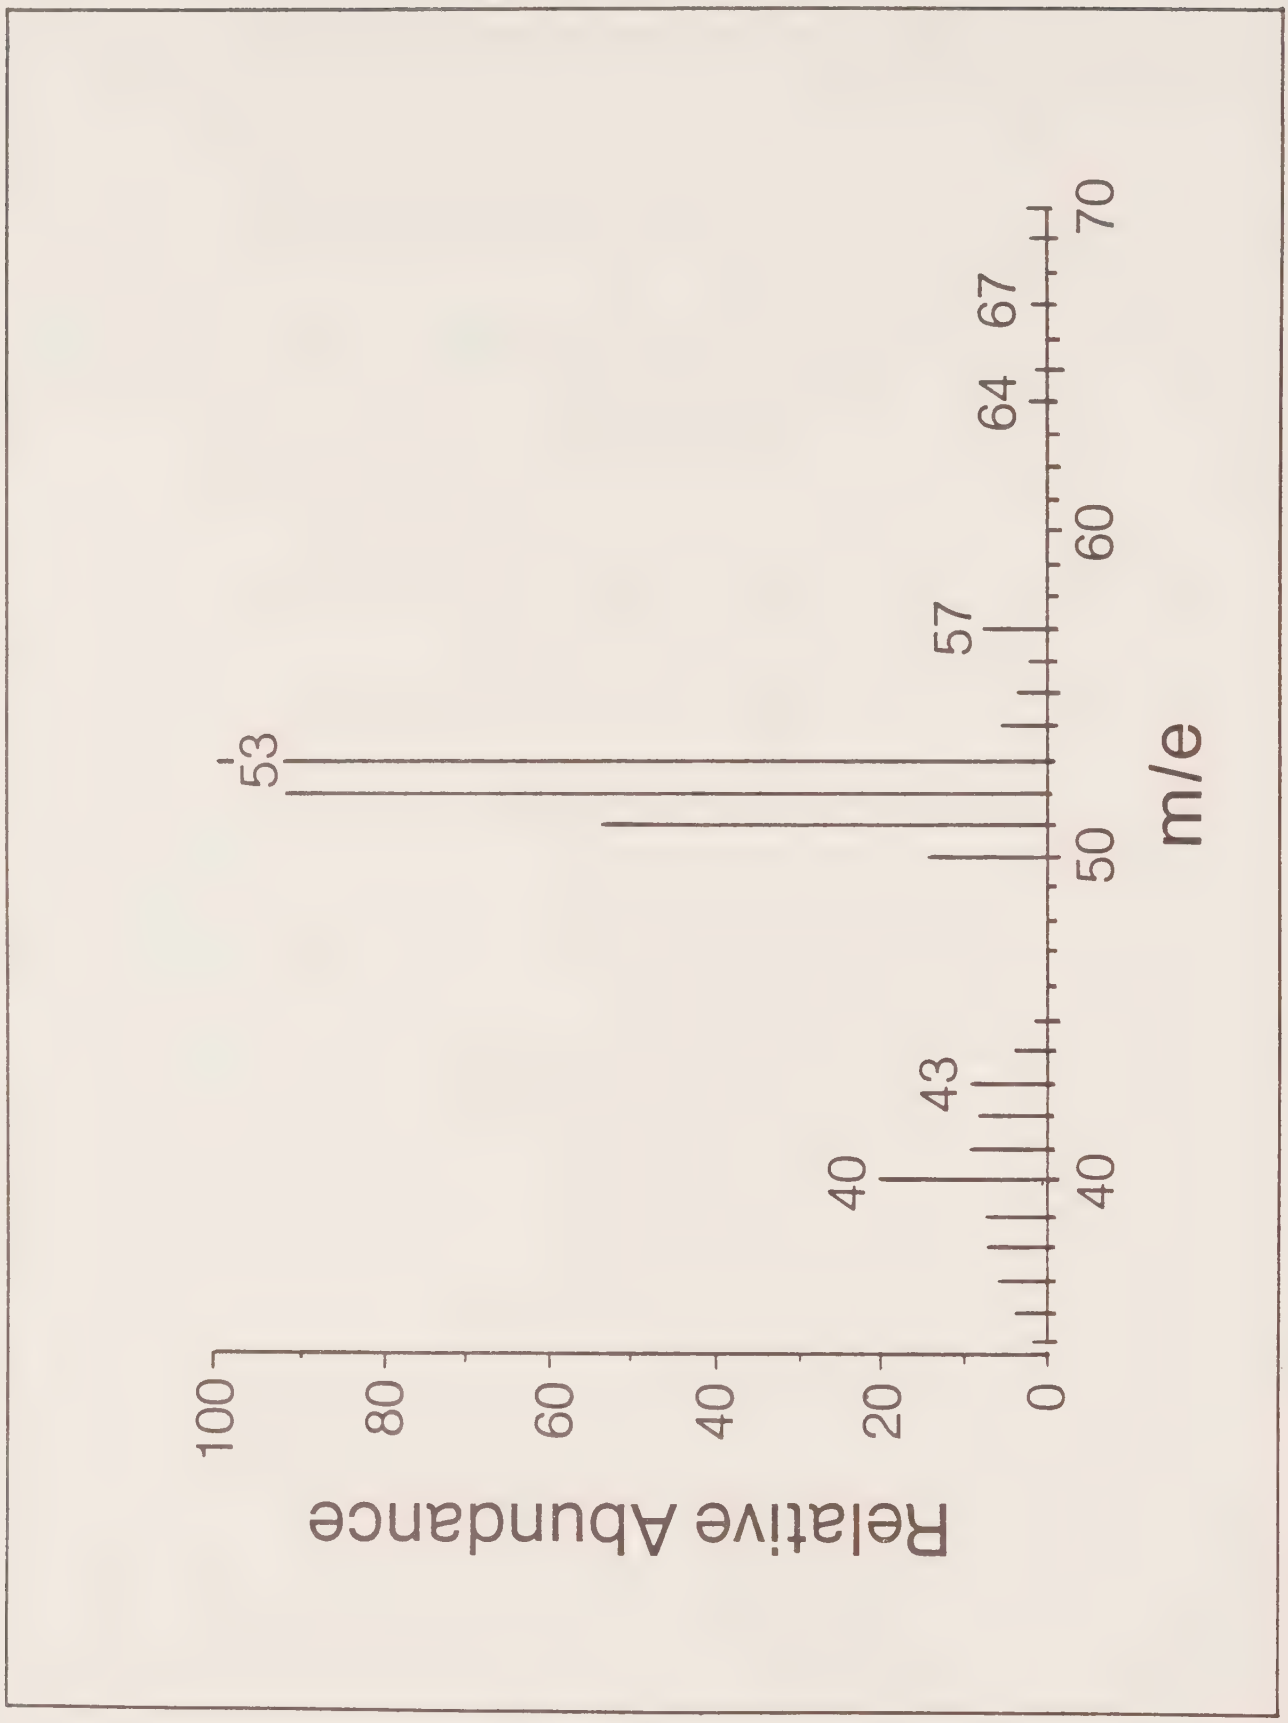

(2) Any compound which has the same retention time as the analyte at the operating conditions described in this method may interfere. Retention time data for a single GC system does not provide proof of chemical identity; a mass spectrum of the sample may serve to confirm identity (see attached spectrum).

Note: The data listed in sections 6 and 8 were obtained on a Hewlett-Packard 5840A Gas Chromatograph.

The mass spectrum was obtained on a Hewlett-Packard 5985 GC/MS system.

CODE FOR MEDICAL SURVEILLANCE OF ACRYLONITRILE EXPOSED WORKERS

OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY DIVISION

July 15, 1983

MEDICAL SURVEILLANCE PROGRAM

1. Purpose

The objective of a medical surveillance program is to protect the health of workers by:

(a) identifying workers with conditions which may be aggravated by exposure to acrylonitrile and establishing a baseline measure for determining changes in health;

(b) evaluating the effects of acrylonitrile exposure on workers;

(c) enabling remedial action to be taken when necessary;

(d) providing health education.

2. Program

The medical surveillance program shall consist of the following:

(a) pre-employment and pre-placement examinations;

(b) periodic medical examinations;

(c) clinical tests;

(d) health education;

(e) record keeping.

3. Medical Examinations

The examination shall include the following:

(1) History: The initial medical and occupational history shall include enquiry for previous exposure to acrylonitrile, smoking, personal hygiene, history of present or past dermal, hepatic, gastro-intestinal, cardiovascular, neurological (particularly fainting or convulsions), renal and respiratory disorders.

At the periodic examination the history shall be updated to include:

(a) history of frequency and duration of exposure to acrylonitrile since previous examination;

(b) enquiry for signs and symptoms that may be an indication of acrylonitrile intoxication;

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| acute; local | - | skin blisters (often not detected for some hours after exposure) |
| | - | eye irritation |
| acute; systemic | - | headaches, weakness |
| | - | nausea, vomiting, diarrhea |
| | - | asphyxia as in cyanide poisoning |
| chronic | - | liver dysfunction |
| | - | cancer of lung and colon (particularly in workers over 40 years of age). |

(2) General Physical Examination: A general physical examination is required. Particular attention shall be directed to those systems which may be affected by acrylonitrile. The co-ordinating examining physician shall determine the frequency of the periodic examination, but it shall be at least annually.

4. Clinical Tests

Clinical tests aid in the assessment of a worker's fitness for and continued exposure to acrylonitrile.

(1) Liver Function Tests: Examination for liver function by blood tests, such as for alanine aminotransferase (ALT; formerly serum glutamic pyruvic transaminase, SGPT), serum aspartate aminotransferase (AST; formerly serum glutamic oxalacetic transaminase, SGOT), gamma-glutamyl transpeptidase (GGTP), serum bilirubin and serum alkaline phosphatase, may aid in the evaluation of the effect of acrylonitrile.

The frequency of testing depends on the extent of the hazard, as well as the worker's previous test levels and shall be decided by the co-ordinating examining physician. An annual interval would be appropriate.

(2) Fecal occult blood test: This test may be used for selected workers. The co-ordinating examining physician shall decide when it is appropriate for it to be introduced, and the frequency of testing. An annual interval would be reasonable.

(3) X-rays: The necessity for and frequency for x-rays shall be decided by the co-ordinating examining physician.

(4) Acrylonitrile absorption tests: These are reported in the literature and may be considered. Acrylonitrile and its metabolites may be assessed in blood and urine:

e.g. - Blood and urinary acrylonitrile,

- Blood cyanide, and

- Urinary thiocyanate.

Results of these tests indicate the degree of absorption and excretion.

(5) Action Levels: An assessment of fitness for work shall be based on the clinical examination in conjunction with the clinical tests.

(a) Liver Function Tests: No specific action levels are stated. If the examining physician determines that liver function tests are abnormal they should be repeated in four to six weeks. If the abnormality is confirmed, a decision shall be made by the physician as to whether the worker should be removed from acrylonitrile exposure.

(b) Fecal occult blood test: No specific action levels are stated. If the test is positive, and is confirmed on a repeat specimen, the worker shall be referred for further investigation.

If symptoms or signs of acrylonitrile or cyanide intoxication are present the worker shall be removed from acrylonitrile exposure regardless of the clinical test results.

A determination by the co-ordinating examining physician shall be made as to whether the worker is fit with limitations or unfit, and action taken in accordance with section 16 of the acrylonitrile regulation. Subsequently, a decision shall be made by the physician as to whether the worker may return.

5. Health Education

Personal hygiene is important. Workers shall be advised to wash before eating, drinking and smoking and to shower at the end of the work shift.

All workers shall be made aware of the hazards of acrylonitrile and their examination results shall be discussed.

6. Medical History and Examination Records

Under the provisions of the Acrylonitrile Regulation, the co-ordinating examining physician in charge of the medical surveillance program shall maintain health records for each worker examined. Such records should include:

- name in full of worker;
- maiden surname of mother;
- date of birth;
- sex;
- Social Insurance Number;
- date occupations or jobs commenced;
- date occupations or jobs ended;
- the kinds of operations or processes in which the worker was involved;
- concentrations of airborne acrylonitrile to which worker is exposed;
- use of respiratory equipment;
- date of visits to physician's office;
- medical examination reports;
- health assessments;
- results of clinical tests;
- copies of referral letter to a hospital or physician;

- copies of Forms 7 and 8 to the Workers' Compensation Board if completed;
- all relevant correspondence concerning health, and any information concerning the actions taken in response to abnormal clinical tests.

A worker's health records shall be kept in a secure place by the co-ordinating examining physician for:

(a) a period of forty years from the time such records were first made, or

(b) a period of twenty years from the time the last of such records were made,

whichever is the longer. Where the co-ordinating examining physician or his successor is no longer able or willing to keep the records, the records are to be forwarded to the Chief Physician of the Occupational Health Medical Service of the Ministry of Labour, who will keep them in a secure place.

8. (1) Where engineering controls come into existence through the development of knowledge and technology and would, if adopted and implemented by an employer, reduce the exposure of a worker to or below the time-weighted average exposure limit prescribed by this Regulation, the employer shall adopt and implement the engineering controls where it is reasonable or practical so to do.

(2) Where a change is made in a process involving arsenic, in mining or in the methods and procedures in the use, handling or storage of arsenic and the change could result in a significant difference in the exposure of a worker to the inhalation, ingestion, absorption or contact with arsenic, the employer shall cause a further assessment to be made forthwith and the provisions of sections 6 and 7 apply to the further assessment.

9. (1) Where disputes arise between an employer and a joint health and safety committee as to an assessment required under section 6 or 8 or as to the measures and procedures mentioned in subsection 7(1) or the arsenic control program or its provisions required under section 7 or 8, the employer, a member of the joint health and safety committee or the committee may notify an inspector thereof who shall investigate and give a decision in writing to the employer and to the

15. (1) The records of medical examinations and clinical tests of a worker obtained and made under this Regulation and of the exposures of the worker to airborne arsenic furnished by the employer under subsection 14(2) shall be kept in a secure place by the physician who has conducted the examinations and tests or under whose supervision the examinations and tests have been made for,

(a) a period of forty years from the time such records were first made; or

(b) a period of twenty years from the time the last of such records were made,

whichever is the longer.

(2) Where the physician is no longer able or willing to keep the records, the records shall be forwarded to the Chief Physician, Occupational Health Medical Service of the Ministry, or a physician designated by the Chief Physician and the provisions of subsection (1) shall, with necessary modifications, apply thereto.

16. exposure without giving or disclosing to the employer the records or results of the examination or tests, and in advising that the worker is fit with limitations or unfit, the physician shall be governed by the provisions of the Code for Medical Surveillance of Arsenic Exposed Workers referred to in subsection 13(4).

(2) Where a worker is removed from arsenic exposure because a physical examination or clinical test discloses that the worker may have or has a condition resulting from exposure to arsenic and suffers a loss of earnings occasioned thereby, the worker is entitled to compensation for the loss in the manner and to the extent provided by the Workers' Compensation Act.

(3) Upon advising the employer and the worker that a worker, because of a condition resulting from exposure to arsenic, is fit with limitations or unfit for work in arsenic exposure, the physician shall advise in writing upon a confidential basis the joint health and safety committee thereof and in giving such advice shall indicate his opinion as to the interpretation to be placed thereon.

(4) Copies of the exposure records and the records and results of physical examinations and clinical tests of a worker shall be given by the physician conducting the examinations or tests,

(a) to the worker or his physician upon the request in writing of the worker; and

(b) in the case of a deceased worker, to the next of kin or personal representative of the worker, upon the request in writing of such next of kin or personal representative, and any authorization of another person by the worker or his next of kin or personal representative is of no effect.

(5) Where the physician advises the employer that a worker, because of a condition resulting from exposure to arsenic, is fit with limitations or is unfit for work in arsenic exposure, the physician shall forthwith communicate such advice to the Chief Physician, Occupational Health Medical Service of the Ministry.

17. For the purposes of this Regulation, the methods and procedures that may be used or adopted may vary from the codes issued by the Ministry if the protection afforded thereby or the factors of accuracy and precision used or adopted are equal to or exceed the protection or the factors of accuracy and precision in the codes issued by the Ministry.

18. (1) This Regulation, except sections 4, 5, 7, 8 and 10 to 17 comes into force on the day this Regulation is filed with the Registrar of Regulations.

(2) Sections 4, 5, 7, 8 and 10 to 17 come into force ninety days after the day this Regulation is filed with the Registrar of Regulations.

SCHEDULE

The time-weighted average exposure of a worker to airborne arsenic shall be calculated as follows:

1. The average concentrations of arsenic to which a worker is exposed shall be determined from analyses of air samples taken as being representative of the exposure of the worker to arsenic during work operations as set out in the Code mentioned in section 11.

2. The results of the analyses are the concentrations of arsenic expressed as micrograms (μg) arsenic per $m^3$ of air.

3. The concentrations shall be multiplied by the time in hours to which the worker is taken to be exposed to such concentrations.

4. The weekly exposure shall be calculated as follows:

   $C_1T_1 + C_2T_2 + ... + C_nT_n$ = cumulative weekly exposure, where $C_1$ is the concentration found in an air sample and $T_1$ is the total time in hours to which the worker is taken to be exposed to concentration $C_1$ in a week.

5. The time-weighted average exposure shall be calculated by dividing the cumulative weekly exposure by 40.

CODE FOR DETERMINATION OF ARSENIC IN URINE

OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY DIVISION

THE DETERMINATION OF TOTAL ARSENIC (As) IN URINE

1. Principle of the Method

(1) A measured volume of urine is digested with a mixture of concentrated nitric, sulphuric and perchloric acids to destroy organic matter. This step is carried out to convert the organo-arsenic compounds present in the urine to inorganic pentavalent arsenic.

(2) The digest is treated to remove all traces of nitric and perchloric acids and a suitable portion of the digest is transferred to the reaction flask of a hydride generation system. The pentavalent arsenic is reduced to the trivalent form by the addition of acidic potassium iodide solution.

(3) Arsine, generated by the addition of alkaline sodium borohydride to the trivalent arsenic digest, is flushed into the heated quartz cell of an atomic absorption spectrophotometer where it is decomposed and the absorption of the arsenic measured at 193.7 nm.

2. Apparatus

(1) A 100 mL arsenic-free container with screw cap (no liner) for the specimen.

(2) An atomic absorption spectrophotometer (AAS) equipped with a hydride generation apparatus. The hydride generation apparatus normally comprises an analyser assembly, a heated quartz cell assembly and, if automated, a controller.

A suitable hydride generation apparatus plus all necessary equipment can be purchased from commercial sources.

(3) An arsenic electrodeless discharge lamp.

(4) A flatbed chart recorder.

(5) A supply of prepurified nitrogen to serve as the carrier gas.

(6) A 2-gauge, 2-stage pressure reducing valve and appropriate hose connection.

(7) Balance capable of weighing to $\pm$0.1 mg.

(8) Heating mantle.

(9) The appropriate support stands, rods, connectors and clamps to build a support framework.

(10) Tongs.

(11) Cork rings, 11 cm outer diameter.

(12) Qualitative filter paper, 32 cm in diameter such as Whatman #2.

(13) Anti-bumping granules.

(14) Glassware, borosilicate:
- (a) 300 mL Kjeldahl flasks.
- (b) Volumetric flasks: 50, 100, 250, and 500 mL.
- (c) Pipettes: Assorted in the range 1.0 to 25.0 mL.

(15) A power supply for the electrodeless discharge lamp.

3. Reagents

All chemicals should be ACS reagent grade or better.

(1) Distilled, deionized water.

(2) Nitric acid, concentrated.

(3) Hydrochloric acid, concentrated.

(4) Sulphuric acid, concentrated.

(5) Perchloric acid, 70%.

(6) Potassium iodide solution (10% w/v).
Dissolve 10 g of potassium iodide in distilled, deionized water and dilute to 100 mL with distilled, deionized water.
The solution must be colourless.

(7) Sodium hydroxide solution (1% w/v).
Dissolve 10 g of sodium hydroxide in distilled, deionized water and dilute to 1000 mL with distilled, deionized water.

(8) Sodium borohydride ($NaBH_4$) solution (2% w/v).
Dissolve 10 g of sodium borohydride in a sodium hydroxide solution (1% w/v) and dilute to 500 mL with the same solution. Filter through filter paper. The solution can be stored for up to 3 days.

(9) Glacial acetic acid.

(10) Arsenic pentoxide ($As_2O_5$). This material is very hygroscopic and should be dried in an oven at 120°C for 2 hours and stored in a dessicator with phosphorus pentoxide as dessicant.

(11) Potassium hydroxide (20% w/v).
Dissolve 20 g of potassium hydroxide in 60 mL of distilled, deionized water and allow to cool. Make up to 100 mL with distilled, deionized water.

(12) Sulphuric acid (20% v/v).
Slowly add, with occasional shaking, 20 mL of sulphuric acid to approximately 70 mL of distilled, deionized water. Mix well and allow to cool. Make up to 100 mL with distilled, deionized water.

(13) Sulphuric acid (1% v/v).
Dilute 50 mL of 20% (v/v) sulphuric acid solution to 1000 mL with distilled, deionized water.

(14) Ethanol (95%).

(15) Phenolphthalein indicator solution.
Dissolve 0.5 g of phenolphthalein in 50 mL of ethanol (95%) and add 50 mL of distilled, deionized water.

(16) Nitric acid/perchloric acid mixture (4:1).

(17) Nitric acid/sulphuric acid mixture (1:1).
Mix 50 mL of nitric acid and 50 mL of sulphuric acid. Allow to cool to room temperature.

(18) Dilution solution.
Add 50 mL of sulphuric acid and 200 mL of hydrochloric acid to approximately 700 mL of distilled, deionized water. Mix well and allow to cool. Dilute to 1000 mL with distilled, deionized water.

(19) Solution A.

Accurately weigh out approximately 0.767 g of arsenic pentoxide and dissolve in 15 mL of 20% (w/v) potassium hydroxide solution. Neutralise with 20% (v/v) sulphuric acid using phenolphthalein as indicator. Make up to 500 mL with sulphuric acid (1% v/v).

A 1 litre solution of 0.7671 g of dry arsenic pentoxide is equivalent to 13.35 µmol As/mL. An appropriate correction factor must be applied for the actual weight recorded.

(20) Solution B.

Dilute 5.0 mL of solution A to 500 mL with distilled, deionized water. This is equivalent to 0.134 µmol As/mL.

(21) Solution C.

Dilute 2.0 mL of solution B to 100 mL with distilled, deionized water. This is equivalent to 0.00268 µmol As/mL.

(22) Solution D.

Dilute 5.0 mL of solution C to 100 mL with dilution solution. This is equivalent to 0.000134 µmol As/mL.

Note: Solutions B, C and D must be prepared fresh daily.

4. Procedures

(1) Cleaning of equipment:

(a) Before use, all new glassware should be soaked to remove any residual grease or chemicals.

(b) Glassware should be cleaned by soaking in an approximately one in five dilution of concentrated nitric acid for at least 6 hours and then rinsed thoroughly with tap water and deionized water, in that order, and then dried.

(2) Collection of sample:

(a) A minimum of 50 mL of urine should be collected in an arsenic-free container with screw cap (no liner). Add 6 drops of glacial acetic acid to the specimen immediately after collection.

(3) Analysis of sample:

(a) Transfer 25.0 mL of urine to a 300 mL Kjeldahl flask and add a few boiling chips.

(b) Add 30 mL of a (4:1) nitric acid/perchloric acid mixture and allow to react at ambient temperature for one hour.

(c) Cautiously heat until gentle foaming begins.

(d) Continue gentle heating until foaming subsides.

(e) Increase the heating rate until the mixture is gently boiling and continue until volume is reduced by approximately 50%.

(f) Remove the flask from the heat and allow to cool to ambient temperature.

(g) Add 10 mL of a (1:1) sulphuric acid/nitric acid mixture.

(h) Return the flask to the heat and continue heating through the perchloric acid oxidation stage which is characterised by a vigorous surface reaction and evolution of white fumes.

(i) The sample normally is colourless at the completion of step 4(3)(h). At this point increase the rate of heating and note that the mixture soon turns yellow/green in colour.

Note: If the initial rate of heating is too high the sample will not clear but goes straight to the yellow/green colour.

(j) Continue final heating until the solution becomes clear and colourless and dense white fumes appear.

(k) Allow the digest to cool and transfer it quantitatively, with distilled, deionized water, to a 100 mL volumetric flask. Add 20 mL of hydrochloric acid and make up to volume with distilled, deionized water.

(l) Transfer a suitable portion of the digest to the reaction vessel making sure that the portion does not exceed 20 mL.

Note: It may be necessary to do preliminary determinations to determine a suitable portion.

(m) Adjust the volume of the digest in the reaction vessel to 20 mL with dilution solution if necessary.

(n) Add 1.0 mL of potassium iodide solution and allow to stand for 15 minutes.

(o) After 15 minutes hook the reaction vessel up to the hydride generator.

(p) Flush the system for 30 seconds with nitrogen to remove all traces of air in the system.

(q) Add 7 mL of the sodium borohydride solution and allow to react for 10 seconds.

(r) Flush the system for 30 seconds with nitrogen to complete the reaction and sweep the last traces of hydrogen and arsine out of the system.

Note: In this type of apparatus the passage of nitrogen through the system serves a two fold purpose: To act as a carrier gas for the arsine generated and to provide a mixing action for the reaction solution.

(s) Note the peak height of the As peak on the recorder.

(t) An appropriate digest blank must be analyzed in accordance with the total procedure.

Note: The method described above utilises measurement of peak height to determine the absorbance of arsenic in the quartz cell. Peak area gives results as precise as those of peak height and may be used.

5. Calibration and Standards

(1) To a series of 4 reaction vessels add the following amounts of solution D: 0.0, 1.0, 3.0, and 5.0 mL respectively.

(2) To the flasks add dilution solution in the same order as solution D was added: 20.0, 19.0, 17.0 and 15.0 mL, so that the final volume is 20 mL. The flasks now contain 0.0, 0.000134, 0.000402 and 0.000670 μmol of arsenic respectively. The first flask of the series is the reagent blank.

(3) Complete the procedure described in sections 4(3)(n) to 4(3)(s) inclusive.

(4) Construct a standard curve by plotting the peak height against µmol arsenic.

(5) The linear relationship between peak height and amount of arsenic holds true up to at least an amount of 0.000670 micromoles arsenic.

6. Calculations

(1) The value of the digest blank must be subtracted from each sample.

(2) From the calibration curve (section 5), read µmol As corresponding to the absorbance of the sample.

(3) Calculate the concentration of arsenic in urine in µmol/L.

$$S = \mu mol \times \frac{100}{A} \times \frac{1000}{25}$$

S = concentration of arsenic in µmol/L

µmol = micromoles arsenic (section 6(2))

A = aliquot used for analysis (4(3)(l))

7. Interferences

The total arsenic method also measures arsenic containing substances derived from eating fish or shellfish. Thus in any study to determine occupational exposure to arsenic, the arsenic which is derived from fish is a positive interference. Studies have shown that this interference can be both substantial and long-lasting.

8. Detection Limit

The absolute detection limit was found to be 0.0000268 µmol arsenic.

9. Precision

The precision study was carried out using arsenic pentoxide as the standard material.

| Standard solution being measured (nmol As) | % Relative Standard deviation n = 10 |
|---|---|
| 0.134 | 3.6 |
| 0.402 | 3.8 |
| 0.536 | 2.6 |

10. Recovery Study

| Conc. of arsenic in the spiked urine (µmol/L) | Avg. conc. of arsenic recovered (µmol/L) | % Recovery | No. of samples | % Relative standard deviation |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 0.0536 | 0.0505 | 94.3 | 10 | 9.8 |
| 0.536 | 0.559 | 104.3 | 10 | 2.6 |
| 2.68 | 2.78 | 103.7 | 15 | 8.4 |

Notes: The recovery study was carried out using dimethylarsinic acid as the spiking agent.

The data listed in sections 8 to 10 were obtained using a Perkin-Elmer atomic absorption spectrophotometer and a Perkin-Elmer MHS-20 hydride generator system. The equipment listed above is specified for clarification purposes only and should not be taken as an endorsement by the Ministry.

ANALYTICAL PROCEDURES USED BY THE MINISTRY WILL BE REVIEWED PERIODICALLY AND, IF NECESSARY, REVISED.

CODE FOR MEASURING AIRBORNE ARSENIC

OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY DIVISION

July 15, 1983

AIR SAMPLING METHOD FOR ARSENIC AND ITS COMPOUNDS, EXCEPT ARSINE *

1. Principle of the Sampling Method

Air, possibly containing arsenic and/or its compounds, is drawn at a specified fixed flow rate for a known duration through a mixed cellulose ester filter of specified pore size and diameter and held in a worker's breathing zone by a plastic closed-face filter holder. The particulate matter collected on the sample filter is then analyzed in a laboratory for the total quantity of arsenic present. Both personal and area samples may be collected by this method.

2. Equipment

The sampling train used to obtain an air sample of arsenic particulate is to include the following components, and satisfy the criteria suggested:

(1) A battery operated portable pump which:

(a) is capable of delivering, for 6-8 hours, not less than 2 litres of air per minute with a filter in the sampling train. The maximum deviation from the prescribed flow rate is not to exceed $\pm$ 5% and the pump should be equipped with a pulsation damper;

* This method is not a general sampling method for organoarsenic compounds. However, airborne particulate organoarsenic compounds may be collected on the filter and will be included in the total arsenic measured as outlined in the code for The Determination of Total Arsenic (As) on Air Sampling Filters.

(b) is intrinsically safe, i.e., certified by an accepted agency as safe for use in potentially explosive atmospheres;

(c) includes a calibrated flow meter or a mechanism for maintaining a constant flow rate;

(d) has an on-off switch and flow rate control or adjustment mechanism which are as tamper-proof as possible.

(2) Mixed cellulose ester filters* of appropriate size, preferably 37 millimetre (mm) in diameter, 0.8 micrometre in pore size.

(3) Filter support pads of the same size as the mixed cellulose ester filters used, preferably 37 mm in diameter.

(4) A closed-face filter holder of the same size as the mixed cellulose ester filters and the filter support pads used, preferably 37 mm in inner diamater and with an adapter which provides a leak-proof fit for connecting flexible tubing.

(5) A sufficient length of flexible tubing with appropriate wall thickness to prevent its collapsing when air is drawn through and with appropriate inner diameter which will provide a leak-proof connection to the filter holder adapter and to the inlet port adapter of the portable pump.

(6) A mercury thermometer, accurate to $\pm$ 1°C, for ambient air temperature measurement, if required.

* Mixed cellulose ester filters pretreated with sodium carbonate and glycerol must be used in the air sampling of arsenic fumes. Each pretreated filter is prepared by adding 0.3 mL of 9:1 1 mol/L sodium carbonate: glycerol solution uniformly to the filter surface and allowing to dry overnight.

(7) A barometer, accurate to ±5 mm Hg (±0.67 kPa), for measuring atmospheric pressure, if required.

3. Sampling Procedure

(1) Preparation of Pumps

(a) The pump battery pack must be fully charged according to the manufacturer's instructions, before use in any work-shift. If air sampling is carried out for more than one shift on the same day, a fully-charged battery pack must be substituted for the used one.

(b) Flow meters, or constant flow devices on the pumps, must be calibrated at 2.0 litres per minute with the filter/filter holder assembly in line by using a primary standard, such as a bubble meter, and the recommended procedure in the manufacturer's instructions for using such primary standard apparatus, after:

(i) not more than 40 hours of operation;
(ii) receiving unusually harsh or potentially damaging treatment;
(iii) being disassembled for maintenance.

(2) Preparation of Filter Holders

(a) Assemble the filter holders in a clean environment prior to initiation of sampling.

(b) Each filter holder must be prepared by the following procedure:

(i) Use only a clean filter holder and handle the filter support pad and filter with tweezers. Place a filter support pad and a mixed cellulose ester filter in the base of a filter holder;

(ii) plug the inlet and outlet ports;

(iii) ensure that the joints of the filter holder are sealed with non-porous, shrinkable cellulose band or tape.

(3) Sampling

(a) Assemble the sampling train by fixing one end of the flexible tubing to the inlet port of the pump and the other end, with the adapter, to the outlet port of the filter holder.

(b) Check for air leaks in the sampling train by turning on the pump and inserting a clean plastic plug into the inlet port of the filter holder. The air flow indicator on a pump with a flow meter must drop to the zero flow position and oscillate slightly. If this does not occur, find and either repair the leak if possible, or replace the faulty component.

(c) Label the filter holder with an appropriate sample number.

(d) Attach the pump preferably to the worker's belt or place it in a pocket; place the flexible tubing over the shoulder and clip the filter holder to the clothing as near as possible to the breathing zone, with the inlet port facing downward. Ensure that the sampling train does not interfere with the worker's movements.

(e) Check again that the sampling train is properly assembled, remove the plastic plug from the filter holder's inlet port and switch on the pump. Allow the flow rate to stabilize for a short duration and then adjust the rate to the pre-calibrated mark of 2 litres per minute, if the pump has a flow meter. Pumps with constant flow devices must not be reset after the flow rate control mechanism has been calibrated to deliver air at this rate. A calibrated external flow meter may be used to check the air flow rate.

(f) Note the following information for each sample:

(i) date of sampling;
(ii) company name;
(iii) model and serial number of the sampling pump;
(iv) calibration date of the sampling pump;
(v) name of the worker;
(vi) job title;
(vii) work or operation performed;
(viii) filter holder or sample number;
(ix) air flow rate;
(x) time of initiation of sampling.

(g) Ensure that for any sampling performed during any survey, two control or blank filters are prepared in the same manner as the sample filters. These blank filters must remain in sealed filter holders during the survey (i.e. no air is to be drawn through these filters).

(h) Sampling must be carried out for a full workshift or operation during which the worker is exposed to arsenic. Sequential air samples may be taken, as opposed to single air samples, during a workshift or operation. Where it is necessary to obtain a better estimate of the worker's time-weighted average exposure, air sampling should be conducted for a sufficient number of workshifts or days in a work week.

(i) During the sampling interval, the sampling train must be checked periodically to ensure that it is functioning properly. The air flow rate must not be re-adjusted after the initial flow rate is set. If the flow rate changes significantly, terminate sampling and take another sample.

(j) The ambient air temperature and pressure in the sampling area, if required, should be recorded at least once.

(k) To terminate sampling, perform the following sequence of steps:

(i) check the air flow rate just prior to termination of air sampling;
(ii) record the time of termination of air sampling;
(iii) switch off the pump and carefully remove the sampling train from the worker;
(iv) remove the filter holder and insert clean plastic plugs into the inlet and outlet ports;
(v) ship the filter and filter holder together to a laboratory and request analysis of the filter for arsenic.

(l) Where a maximum concentration determination is required, it shall be determined by following the procedure specified above with the following exceptions:

(i) an air sample should be taken for a period of time, generally 15 minutes, in order to allow accurate determination of the concentration of arsenic; and

(ii) a sufficient number of air samples should be taken during the time periods when peak concentrations are anticipated from a knowledge of the work process, work operation, work cycle, or work practices.

(4) A sufficient number of area samples should be taken at selected work locations, where necessary.

4. Calculation of Results

(a) Corrections for the field blank are made for each sample provided that the various amounts of analyte in all sample filters are greater than the amount of analyte in the field blank filter.

(b) The concentration of arsenic in an air sample is calculated by using the following equation:

$$C = \frac{A}{F \times t}$$

Where C = concentration of arsenic in $mg/m^3$

A = corrected amount of arsenic on the sample filter in µg

F = air flow rate in litres per minute

THE DETERMINATION OF TOTAL ARSENIC (As) ON AIR SAMPLING FILTERS

1. Principle of Method

(1) Air, possibly containing arsenic in particulate form, is drawn at a fixed flow rate for a known duration through a cellulose membrane filter to collect the analyte.

(2) The filter is digested with a mixture of perchloric and nitric acids to destroy organic matter. This step is also carried out to convert all arsenic compounds present on the filter to pentavalent arsenic.

(3) The digest is treated to remove all traces of nitric and perchloric acids and a suitable portion of the digest is transferred to a reaction flask of a hydride generation system. The pentavalent arsenic is reduced to the trivalent form by the addition of acidic potassium iodide solution.

(4) Arsine, generated by the addition of alkaline sodium borohydride to the trivalent arsenic digest, is flushed into the heated quartz cell of an atomic absorption spectrophotometer (AAS) where it is decomposed and the absorption of the arsenic measured at 193.7 nm.

2. Apparatus

graduated: 1 mL.

(14) Ethanol (95%).

(15) Phenolphthalein indicator solution.

Dissolve 0.5 g of phenolphthalein in 50 mL of ethanol (95%) and add 50 mL of distilled, deionized water.

(16) Nitric acid/perchloric acid mixture (4:1).

Mix 80 mL of concentrated nitric acid and 20 mL of perchloric acid (70%). Allow to cool to room temperature.

Mix 50 mL of nitric acid and 50 mL of sulphuric acid. Allow to cool to room temperature.

(18) Dilution solution.

Add 50 mL of sulphuric acid and 200 mL of hydrochloric acid to approximately 700 mL of distilled, deionized water. Mix well and allow to cool. Dilute to 1000 mL with distilled, deionized water.

(19) Solution A.

Accurately weigh out approximately 0.767 g of arsenic pentoxide and dissolve in 15 mL of 20% (w/v) potassium hydroxide solution. Neutralise with 20% (v/v) sulphuric acid using phenolphthalein as indicator. Make up to 500 mL with sulphuric acid (1% v/v).

A 1 litre solution of 0.7671 g of dry arsenic pentoxide is equivalent to 1000 µg As/mL. An appropriate correction factor must be applied for the actual weight recorded.

(20) Solution B.

Dilute 5.0 mL of solution A to 500 mL with distilled, deionized water.

This is equivalent to 10 µg As/mL.

(21) Solution C.

Dilute 2.0 mL of solution B to 100 mL with distilled, deionized water.

This is equivalent to 0.2 µg As/mL.

(22) Solution D.

Dilute 5.0 mL of solution C to 100 mL with dilution solution.

This is equivalent to 0.01 µg As/mL.

Note: Solutions B, C and D must be prepared fresh daily.

4. Procedure

(1) Cleaning of equipment:

(a) Before use, all new glassware should be soaked to remove any residual grease or chemicals.

(b) Glassware should be cleaned by soaking in 20% v/v nitric acid for at least 6 hours and then be rinsed thoroughly with tap water and deionized water, in that order, and then dried.

(2) Analysis of sample:

(a) Transfer each sample filter to a clean 100 mL Griffin beaker and add a few boiling chips.

(b) Add 10 mL of a (4:1) nitric acid/perchloric acid mixture, cover with a watch glass, and heat until the mixture is gently boiling.

(c) Continue gentle boiling for 2 hours.

(d) Cool to ambient temperature.

(e) Add 10 mL of a (1:1) nitric acid/sulphuric acid mixture.

(f) Return the beaker to the hot-plate and raise the rate of heating until the mixture is boiling vigorously.

Note: The mixture soon turns a yellow/green colour.

(g) Continue vigorous boiling until the solution turns completely colourless indicating that the last of the perchloric acid has been driven off.

(h) Allow the digest to cool and transfer it quantitatively, with distilled, deionized water, to a 100 mL volumetric flask. Add 20 mL of hydrochloric acid and make up to volume with distilled, deionized water.

(i) Transfer a suitable portion of the digest to the reaction vessel making sure that the portion does not exceed 20 mL.

Note: It may be necessary to do preliminary determinations to determine a suitable portion to give a measurable response.

(j) Adjust the volume of the digest in the reaction vessel to 20 mL with dilution solution if necessary.

(k) Add 1.0 mL of potassium iodide solution and allow to stand for 15 minutes.

(l) After 15 minutes hook the reaction vessel up to the hydride generator.

(m) Flush the system for 30 seconds with nitrogen to remove all traces of air in the system.

(n) Add 7 mL of the sodium borohydride solution and allow to react for 10 seconds.

(o) Flush the system for 30 seconds with nitrogen to complete the reaction and sweep the last traces of hydrogen and arsine out of the system.

Note: In this type of apparatus the passage of nitrogen through the system serves a two fold purpose. It acts as a carrier gas for the arsine generated and provides a mixing action for the reaction solution.

(p) Note the peak area of the As peak on the integrator.

(q) One filter is handled in the same manner as a sample filter, except that no air is sampled through this filter. This filter is labelled as a blank and must be analyzed in accordance with the total procedure. If pretreated filters were used, as indicated in the Air Sampling Method, a similar filter is used for the blank.

(r) It is also necessary to determine the blank value for the batch of filters used to prepare the sample filters.

Note: The method described above utilises measurement of peak area to determine the absorbance by arsenic in the quartz cell. Peak area measurement gives results which are superior to those of peak height, with respect to precision.

5. Calibration and Standards

(1) To a series of 4 reaction vessels add the following amounts of solution D: 0.0, 1.0, 3.0 and 5.0 mL respectively.

(2) To the flasks add dilution solution in the same order as solution D was added: 20.0, 19.0, 17.0 and 15.0 mL, so that the final volume is 20 mL. The flasks now contain 0.0, 0.01, 0.03 and 0.05 µg of arsenic respectively. The first flask of the series is the reagent blank.

(3) Complete the procedure described in section 4(2)(k) to 4(2)(p) inclusive.

(4) Construct a standard curve by plotting the peak area against ug arsenic.

(5) The linear relationship between peak area and amount of arsenic holds true up to at least an amount of 0.05 µg arsenic .

6. Calculations

(1) The value of the digest blank must be substracted from each sample provided that the amounts of analyte in all filters are greater than those in the field blank filters.

(2) From the calibration curve (section 5), read the µg of arsenic corresponding to the absorbance of the sample.

(3) Calculate the quantity of arsenic on the filter in µg.

$$A = \frac{\mu g \times 100}{B}$$

A = amount of arsenic, in µg, on the filter

µg = micrograms arsenic (section 6 (2))

B = aliquot used for analysis (4(2)(i))

7. Detection Limit

The absolute detection limit was found to be 0.002 µg arsenic.

Notes: The data listed in sections 7 to 9 were obtained using a Perkin-Elmer 703 AAS, a Perkin-Elmer MHS-20 hydride generator system and a Hewlett Packard 3390 reporting integrator.

The equipment listed above is specified for clarification purposes only and should not be taken as an endorsement by the Ministry.

AIR SAMPLING METHOD FOR ARSINE

1. Principle of the Sampling Method

Air, possibly containing arsine, is drawn at a specified flow rate for a known duration through a glass tube containing 20/40 mesh activated charcoal. Subsequent to oxidation of the adsorbed arsine with 0.01 mol/L nitric acid, the resulting solution is analyzed for arsenic. Both personal and area samples may be collected by this method.

2. Equipment

The sampling train used to obtain an air sample of arsine is to include the following components and satisfy the criteria suggested:

(1) A battery operated portable pump which:

(a) is capable of delivering, for 6-8 hours, not less than 0.20 litres of air per minute with the glass tube containing activated charcoal in the sampling train. The maximum deviation from the prescribed flow rate is not to exceed $\pm$ 5% and the pump should be equipped with a pulsation damper;

(b) is intrinisically safe, i.e. certified by an accepted agency as safe for use in potentially explosive atmospheres;

(c) includes a calibrated flow meter or a mechanism for maintaining a constant flow rate;

(d) has an on-off switch and flow rate control or adjustment mechanism which are as tamper-proof as possible.

(2) A sample collection device* (glass tube) which is constructed from glass tubing approximately 70 millimetres (mm) in length, 4.0 mm in inner diameter and 6.0 mm in outer diameter and which contains in sequence the following materials:

(a) a plug of silanized glass wool immediately behind the inlet port;

(b) 100 mg of 20/40 mesh activated charcoal in the front section;

(c) a 2 mm portion of urethane foam;

(d) 50 mg of 20/40 mesh activated charcoal in the back-up section; and

(e) a 3 mm long plug of urethane foam immediately before the outlet port.

Each tube must be flame-sealed at both ends and be supplied with two plastic caps for sealing the tube after it has been used for air sampling.

(3) A tube holder which:

(a) includes an alligator clip for attachment to clothing;

* Other arsenic compounds which exist as vapours or aerosols will interfere with the analysis. It is expected that interference from particulate arsenic compounds or fumes may be eliminated by placing a pre-filter before the charcoal tube (see Air Sampling Method for Arsenic and its Compounds, except Arsine).

(b) includes an adapter for flexible tubing to ensure a leak-proof fit for the sample collection device; and

(c) provides adequate protection against tube breakage.

(4) Tubing of sufficient length with appropiate wall thickness to prevent collapsing when air is drawn through and with appropriate inner diameter which will provide a leak-proof fit to the tube holder and to the inlet port of the portable pump.

(5) A mercury thermometer for ambient air temperature measurement, accurate to $\pm$ 1°C.

(6) A barometer for measuring atmospheric pressure, accurate to $\pm$ 5 mm Hg ($\pm$ 0.67 kPa).

3. Sampling Procedure

(1) Preparation of pumps:

(a) The pump battery pack must be fully charged, according to the manufacturer's instructions, before use in any work-shift. If air sampling is carried out for more than one shift on the same day, a fully-charged battery pack must be substituted for the used one.

(b) Flow meters or constant flow devices on the pumps must be calibrated at 0.20 litres per minute with the glass tube in line by using a primary standard, such as a bubble meter, and the recommended procedure in the manufacturer's instructions for using such a primary standard apparatus after:

(i) not more than 40 hours of operation;

(ii) receiving unusually harsh or potentially damaging treatment;

(iii) being disassembled for maintenance.

(2) Sampling:

(a) Assemble the sampling train by connecting one end of the tubing to the inlet port of the pump and the other end to the adapter on the tube holder. The ends of the glass tube must be broken to form openings of at least 2 mm before it is inserted into the tube holder.

(b) Check for air leaks in the sampling train by turning on the pump and sealing the open end of the tube. The air flow indicator on a pump with a flow meter must drop to the zero flow position and oscillate slightly. If this does not occur, find and either repair the leak if possible, or replace the faulty component.

(c) Label the tube with an appropriate sample number.

(d) Attach the pump, preferably to the worker's belt or place it in a pocket, draw the flexible tubing over the shoulder and fix the tube holder to the worker's clothing as near as possible to the breathing zone with the tube vertical and the air inlet port facing upward. Ensure that the sampling train will not interfere with the worker's normal duties.

(e) Check again that the sampling train is properly assembled and switch on the pump. Allow the flow rate to stabilize for a short duration, then adjust the rate to the pre-calibrated mark of 0.20 litres per minute, if the pump has a flow meter. Pumps with constant flow devices must not be reset after the flow rate control mechanism has been calibrated to deliver air at this rate. A calibrated external flow meter may be used to check the airflow rate.

(f) Note the following information for each sampling train:

(i) date of sampling;
(ii) company name;
(iii) model and serial number of the sampling pump;
(iv) calibration date of the sampling pump;
(v) name of worker being monitored;
(vi) job title;
(vii) work or operation performed;
(viii) tube or sample number;
(ix) air flow rate;
(x) time of initiation of sampling.

(g) Ensure that for any sampling performed during any survey, two control or blank glass tubes are obtained from the same source and the same batch as the sample tubes. One of the blank tubes is handled in the same manner as the sample tubes (break, seal and transport) except that no air is drawn through it.

(h) The maximum sampling duration for obtaining an air sample should not exceed 50 minutes. A shorter sampling duration should be used to avoid significant breakthrough if a high concentration of arsine and/or the presence of other volatile arsenic compounds are known or suspected. However, the minimum sampling duration for obtaining an air sample should not be less than 15 minutes. A sufficient number of sequential air samples must be taken to cover a full workshift or operation during which the worker is exposed to arsine. Where it is necessary to obtain a better estimate of the worker's time-weighted average exposure, air sampling should be conducted for a sufficient number of workshifts or days in a work week.

(i) During any sampling interval, the sampling train must be checked periodically to ensure that it is functioning properly. The air flow rate must not be readjusted after the initial flow rate is set. If the flow rate changes significantly, terminate sampling and take another sample.

(j) The ambient air temperature and pressure in the sampling area should be recorded at least once.

(k) When another substance is known or suspected to be present in the air, such information, including the suspected identity, should be recorded since the substance may interfere with the analysis of arsine as arsenic.

(l) To terminate sampling, perform the following sequence of steps:

(i) check the air flow rate just prior to termination of air sampling;

(ii) record the time of termination of sampling;

(iii) switch off the pump and carefully remove the sampling train from the worker;

(iv) remove the glass tube and cap the inlet and outlet ports;

(v) pack the capped tubes tightly to minimize breakage and ship them to the laboratory in an airtight plastic container placed inside a thermos containing ice.

(m) Where a maximum concentration determination is required, it shall be determined by following the procedure specified above with the following exceptions:

(i) an air sample should be taken for a period of time, generally 15 minutes, in order to allow accurate determination of the concentration of arsenic; and

(ii) a sufficient number of air samples should be taken during the time periods when peak concentrations are anticipated from a knowledge of the work process, work operation, work cycle, or work practices.

4. Analysis and Calculation of Results

(1) Follow the analytical method entitled "Determination of Arsine Calculated as Arsenic on Charcoal Used for Air Sampling" in carrying out the analyses of sample tubes for arsine as arsenic.

(2) Correction of analytical results for the field blank are made for each sample provided that the various amounts of analyte in all sample tubes are greater than the amount of analyte in the field blank tube.

(3) When the amount of arsenic in the back-up section exceeds 25% of the total arsenic found in both the front and back-up sections of a sample tube, there has been a significant breakthrough and the concentration of arsine determined as arsenic for the sample is likely underestimated. If a significant breakthrough is found in most of the samples analyzed, the sampling strategy used should be reviewed and, if necessary, revised.

(4) The concentration of arsine as arsenic in a sample of air can be calculated by using the following equation:

$$C = \frac{A}{F \times t}$$

where C = concentration of arsine as arsenic in $mg/m^3$

A = corrected amount of arsenic in the charcoal tube in $\mu g$

F = air flow rate in litres per minute

THE DETERMINATION OF ARSINE CALCULATED AS ARSENIC ON CHARCOAL USED FOR AIR SAMPLING

(3) A suitable portion of the desorbate is transferred to the reaction flask of a hydride generation system. The arsenic is reduced to the trivalent form by the addition of acidic potassium iodide solution.

(4) Arsine, generated by the addition of alkaline sodium borohydride to the trivalent arsenic, is flushed into the heated quartz cell of an atomic absorption spectrophotometer (AAS) where it is decomposed and the absorption of the arsenic measured at 193.7 nm.

(14) Phenolphthalein indicator solution.

Dissolve 0.5 g of phenolphthalein in 50 mL of ethanol (95%) and add 50 mL of distilled, deionized water.

Accurately weigh out approximately 0.767 g of arsenic pentoxide and dissolve in 15 mL of 20% (w/v) potassium hydroxide solution. Neutralise with 20% (v/v) sulphuric acid using phenolphthalein as indicator. Make up to 500 mL with sulphuric acid (1% v/v).

A 1 litre solution of 0.7671 g of dry arsenic pentoxide is equivalent to 1000 µg As/mL. An appropriate correction factor must be applied for the actual weight recorded.

(17) Solution B.

(j) Add 7 mL of the sodium borohydride solution and allow to react for 10 seconds.

(k) Flush the system for 30 seconds with nitrogen to complete the reaction and sweep the last traces of hydrogen and arsine out of the system.

Note: In this type of apparatus the passage of nitrogen through the system serves a two fold purpose. It acts as a carrier gas for the arsine generated and provides a mixing action for the reaction solution.

(l) Note the peak area of the As peak on the integrator.

(m) One tube is handled in the same manner as a sample tube (break, seal and transport), except that no air is sampled through this tube. This tube is labelled as a blank and must be analyzed in accordance with the total procedure.

(n) It is also necessary to determine the blank value for the batch of charcoal used to prepare the sample tubes.

Note: The method described above utilizes measurement of peak area to determine the absorbance of arsenic in the quartz cell. Peak area measurement gives results which are superior to those of peak height, with respect to precision.

5. Calibration and Standards

(1) To a series of 4 reaction flasks add the following amounts of solution D: 0.0, 1.0, 3.0 and 5.0 mL respectively.

(2) To the flasks add dilution solution in the same order as solution D was added: 20.0, 19.0, 17.0 and 15.0 mL, so that the final volume is 20 mL. The flasks now contain 0.0, 0.01, 0.03 and 0.05 µg of arsenic respectively. The first flask of the series is the reagent blank.

(3) Complete the procedure described in sections 4(2)(g) to 4(2)(l) inclusive.

(4) Construct a standard curve by plotting the peak area against µg arsenic.

(5) The linear relationship between peak area and amount of arsenic holds true up to at least an amount of 0.05 µg arsenic.

6. Calculations

(1) The value of the charcoal tube blank must be subtracted from each sample provided that the amounts of analyte in all tubes are greater than those in the field blank tube.

(2) From the calibration curve (section 5), read the µg of As corresponding to the absorbance of the sample.

(3) Calculate the quantity of arsenic on the tube in µg.

$$A = \frac{\mu g \times N}{B}$$

A = amount of arsenic, in µg, on the tube

µg = micrograms arsenic (section 6(2))

B = aliquot used for analysis (4(2)(e))

N = 10 for the front portion of the tube and 2 for the back portion of the tube

(4) Corrections for the blank must be made for each sample.

$$\mu g = \mu g \text{ sample} - \mu g \text{ blank}$$

where

µg sample = µg found on both sections of the sample tube µg blank = µg found on both sections of the blank tube

7. Detection Limit

The absolute detection limit was found to be 0.002 µg arsenic.

8. Precision

The precision study was carried out using arsenic pentoxide as the standard material.

| Standard solution being measured | | % Relative standard deviation |
|---|---|---|
| (µg As) | (µmol As) | n = 10 |
| 0.01 | 0.000134 | 3.6 |
| 0.02 | 0.000268 | 4.2 |
| 0.05 | 0.000670 | 2.4 |

9. Recovery Study Using Arsine

| Amount of Arsine added to the sample | | No. of Samples | Mean % Recovery (as Arsine) | Relative Standard Deviation (%) |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| (µg) | (µmol) | | | |
| 0.5 | 0.0067 | 10 | 92.5 | 4.6 |
| 1.0 | 0.0134 | 10 | 95.2 | 5.8 |
| 2.0 | 0.0268 | 10 | 98.7 | 1.9 |

10. Interference

(1) When the amount of water in the air is so great that condensation actually occurs in the tube, arsine vapors may not be trapped efficiently.

(2) When another substance is known or suspected to be present in the air, such information, including the suspected identity, should be transmitted with the sample.

(3) Other arsenic compounds which exist as vapors will interfere with the analysis.

Notes: The data listed in sections 7, 8 and 9 were obtained on a Perkin-Elmer 703 AAS and a MHS-20 hydride generator.

The equipment listed above is specified for clarification purposes only and should not be taken as an endorsement by the Ministry.

CODE FOR MEDICAL SURVEILLANCE OF ARSENIC EXPOSED WORKERS

OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY DIVISION

July 15, 1983

MEDICAL SURVEILLANCE PROGRAM

1. Purpose

The objective of a medical surveillance program is to protect the health of workers by:

(a) identifying workers with conditions which may be aggravated by exposure to arsenic and establishing a baseline measure for determining changes in health;

(b) evaluating the effects of arsenic exposure on workers;

(c) enabling remedial action to be taken when necessary;

(d) providing health education.

2. Program

The medical surveillance program shall consist of the following:

(a) pre-employment and pre-placement examinations;

(b) periodic medical examinations;

(c) clinical tests;

(d) health education;

(e) record keeping.

3. Medical Examinations

The examination shall include the following:

(1) History: The initial medical and occupational history shall include enquiry for previous exposure to arsenic (both occupational and non-occupational), personal habits (smoking, personal hygiene and diet), history of past or present dermal, respiratory, haematological, hepatic and neurological disorders.

Clinical signs and symptoms differ for inorganic arsenic and arsine.

Inorganic Arsenic: At the periodic examination when there is exposure to inorganic arsenic compounds the history shall be updated to include:

(a) history of frequency and duration of exposure to arsenic since previous examination;

(b) enquiry for signs and symptoms that may be an early indication of arsenic intoxication;

acute local
- skin irritation or rash
- mucous membrane irritation

acute systemic
- diarrhea, nausea and vomiting
- abdominal cramps
- headache, dizziness, weakness, inability to walk or move, palpitations, shortness of breath

chronic
- perforated nasal septum
- skin thickening and pigmentation with late cancerous degeneration
- anemia
- sensory and motor neurologic defect
- lung and liver cancer

Arsine: At the periodic examination when there is exposure to arsine the history shall be updated to include:

(a) history of frequency and duration of exposure to arsine since previous examination;

(b) enquiry for signs and symptoms that may be an early indication of arsine intoxication;

The classical triad is abdominal pain, haematuria and jaundice.

acute systemic
- headache, weakness, dizziness
- shortness of breath
- garlic-like odor on breath
- abdominal pain, nausea and vomiting
- jaundice and liver enlargement
- severe hemolytic anemia
- haemoglobinuria and renal failure

chronic
- as above over a prolonged period of time

(2) General Physical Examination: At the pre-placement examination a general physical examination is required. Particular attention must be directed to those systems which may be affected by arsenic. Personal hygiene shall be noted. The co-ordinating examining physician shall determine the frequency of the periodic examination but it shall usually be at least 2 yearly unless clinical test results, symptoms or signs indicate that it should be more frequent.

4. Clinical Tests

Clinical tests aid in the assessment of a worker's fitness for and continued exposure to arsenic.

Arsenic Absorption Tests

| NORMAL VALUES in unexposed | |
|---|---|
| URINE | up to 0.70 µmol/L |
| HAIR | up to 5 ppm |

Blood levels of arsenic decline too rapidly to be useful for monitoring workers. Hair and nail arsenic analyses, because of possible contamination, are not useful screening tests for arsenic in the working environment.

Urine is the most appropriate body fluid for the clinical monitoring of workers occupationally exposed to arsenic and may be used since it is a measure of the systemic absorption from recent exposure to inorganic arsenic including arsine. However, it should be noted that organic-arsenical substances from the recent ingestion of fish or shellfish may give an erroneously high urinary arsenic determination. This should be considered when interpreting the results.

The frequency of total urinary arsenic tests depends on the extent of the hazard, and the worker's previous test results and should usually be at one to three month intervals.

If symptoms or signs of arsenic intoxication are present, the worker shall be removed from arsenic exposure regardless of the clinical test results.

A determination by the co-ordinating examining physician shall be made as to whether the worker is fit with limitations or unfit, and action taken in accordance with section 16 of the Arsenic Regulation. Subsequently, a decision shall be made by the coordinating examining physician as to whether the worker may return.

Sample Collection: Urine - to minimize contamination of the specimen and obtain comparable samples the urine specimen shall normally be collected at the end of the work week and prior to the beginning of the shift. Collect 50 mL in an arsenic-free plastic container with screw cap (no liner). Add six drops of glacial acetic acid to the specimen immediately after collection. Record with sample any recent ingestion of fish or shellfish.

5. Health Education

Personal hygiene is important and workers must be advised of the danger of eating, drinking and smoking in arsenic exposed areas. All workers shall be made aware of the hazards from arsenic and their examination results shall be discussed.

6. Medical History and Examination Records

Under the provisions of the Arsenic Regulation the co-ordinating examining physician in charge of the medical surveillance program shall maintain health records for each worker examined. Such records should include:

- name in full of worker;
- maiden name of mother;

- date of birth;
- sex;
- Social Insurance Number;
- occupational or job titles;
- date occupations or jobs commenced;
- date occupations or jobs ended;
- the kinds of operations or processes in which the worker was involved;
- concentrations of airborne arsenic and/or arsine to which the worker was exposed;
- use of respiratory equipment;
- date of visits to physician's office;
- medical examination reports;
- health assessments;
- results of clinical tests;
- copies of referral letter to a hospital or physician;
- copies of Forms 7 and 8 to the Workers' Compensation Board if completed;
- all relevant correspondence concerning health, and any information concerning the actions taken in response to abnormal clinical tests.

A worker's health records shall be kept in a secure place by the co-ordinating examining physician for:

(a) a period of forty years from the time such records were first made, or

(b) a period of twenty years from the time the last of such records were made,

whichever is the longer. Where the co-ordinating examining physician or his successor is no longer able or willing to keep the records, the records are to be forwarded to the Chief Physician of the Occupational Health Medical Service of the Ministry of Labour, who will keep them in a secure place.

Treasurers' Sales of Lands for Taxes

Each year, municipal and county treasurers compile a list of properties against which taxes are outstanding for at least two successive years, which is a period sufficient to permit sale of the owner's assets to reimburse the municipality. These lists are submitted by the municipal representative to the Ministry of Government Services for publication in The Ontario Gazette.

The Gazette is published every Saturday. Tax sale lands are included only in the issue of the first Saturday of each month. Each property is described so that it may be properly identified. Also shown are the amount of tax arrears and costs, and the date, time and place where the sale will be held, which is usually in a public building in the locality. Sales are held three months or later following the date of publication in the Gazette and are subject to a reserve bid equal to the amount of tax arrears and costs.

The previous owner may by law redeem the property any time within one year and one day after the date of tax sale by paying to the municipality all arrears plus costs levied. Where redemption occurs, the municipality reimburses the purchaser of tax sale lands for the amount paid at the sale plus an additional amount to be determined in each case.

If the land is not redeemed in the manner described above, the purchaser at sale, receives from the municipality a tax deed or certificate which should be registered in the appropriate Land Titles or Registry Office. A purchaser should ascertain from either of these offices, information relating to any of the charges or liens against the land and consider the advisability of employing the services of a solicitor to determine the extent, if any, of his liability.

The foregoing applies to tax sale lands which were privately owned. In the event the land is the property of the Crown as represented by the Province of Ontario, only the improvements on the property, such as buildings, may be sold. In this case, an intending purchaser should for his own protection ascertain from the local office of the Ministry of Natural Resources whether or not the land or any part can be purchased or leased from the Ministry. If it cannot, then the purchaser of the improvements would be required to remove them from the land.

In some cases, the owner, prior to sale, may pay the tax arrears and costs. Where this occurs, the land is removed from the tax sale lists.

EXEMPTION—GANARASKA REGION CONSERVATION AUTHORITY AND THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWN OF PORT HOPE—PHOP-2

Having received a request from the Ganaraska Region Conservation Authority and the Corporation of the Town of Port Hope that an undertaking, namely:

> blasting at the site of the Port Hope Flood Control project as described in condition #6 the approval issued with respect to the Environmental Assessment for Port Hope Flood Control (Order in Council 3192/82)

be exempt from the application of the Act pursuant to section 29; and

Having been advised by the Ganaraska Region Conservation Authority and the Corporation of the Town of Port Hope that if the undertaking is subject to the application of the Act, the following injury, damage or interference with the persons and property indicated will occur:

A. Blasting twice per week as stated in the condition of approval is impractical and costly to the proponent.

B. Blasting twice per week will increase the construction period of the project and conflict with the requirement that works in the Ganaraska River be completed prior to fish migration (September 15). This delay could increase costs unnecessarily by causing further river related works to be carried out in the following season.

C. Blasting at a frequency of two times per week on a sufficient scale to meet the September 15 deadline for construction would not allow the contractors to meet Ministry of the Environment (MOE) guidelines for noise and vibration as set out in the MOE Model Municipal Noise By-law.

Having weighed such injury, damage, or interference against the betterment of the people of the whole or any part of Ontario by the protection, conservation and wise management in Ontario of the environment which would result from the undertaking being subject to the application of the Act;

The undersigned is of the opinion that it is in the public interest to order and orders that the undertaking is exempt from the application of the Act for the following reasons:

A. The proponent underestimated requirements for blasting frequency in order to meet other conditions of approval. For example, limited time for construction works in the river.

B. The proponent will adhere to the Ministry of the Environment Model Municipal Noise By-law and carry out a pre-blast survey and a monitoring program during blasting.

C. Adhering to the requirements of the Noise By-law and the other provisions of the approval will limit the times during which blasting may be carried out and the impact of the noise and vibration on adjacent households.

D. The proponent plans to blast twice per day at times to be publicized in the local newspaper.

This exemption is subject to the following term and condition:

1. Except for the limitation on the frequency of blasting, the proponent will adhere to all the provisions of the approval including the other provisions of condition #6 of the approval issued with respect to the Environmental Assessment.

ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT ACT

O. Reg. 484/83.
Exemption—Credit Valley Conservation Authority—CDV-01.
Made—July 28th, 1983.
Approved—July 28th, 1983.
Filed—August 2nd, 1983.

EXEMPTION—CREDIT VALLEY CONSERVATION AUTHORITY—CDV-01

Having received a request from the Credit Valley Conservation Authority (CVCA) that an undertaking, namely:

The activity of implementing the Master Plan prepared by Hough-Stansbury and Michalski Ltd., dated May, 1982 for Crookes Park including lakefilling and providing site development for an area on and adjacent to Lake Ontario in the City of Mississauga extending from the limit of Ontario Hydro Lakeview Generating Station in the east to Cooksville Creek in the west and also including an area at the southern extension of Enola Avenue called the Adamson Estate, the areas referred to being designated as Crookes Park, be exempt from the application of the Act pursuant to section 29; and

Having been advised by the CVCA that if the undertaking is subject to the application of the Act, the following injury, damage or interference with the persons and property indicated will occur:

A. The existing lakefill and shoreline will be subject to erosion due to wave action and uncontrolled runoff which will cause increased lake sedimentation in the area;

B. The CVCA's schedule for implementation of the undertaking will be delayed and, if the undertaking were to proceed later, project costs to the Province of Ontario and the City of Mississauga, the benefiting municipality for this project, would be increased;

C. The site will no longer be available to contractors as a dumping location, and the distance to other sites will increase trucking rates and charges, and therefore, increase construction costs of local road reconstruction projects;

D. Any delay in project implementation would lengthen the time frame of social disruption to neighbourhood residents due to a detraction from the area's aesthetics in connection with the construction phase of the undertaking;

E. The delay in providing boat launching and parking facilities would aggrevate the problems encountered in Port Credit in conjunction with the salmon fishing derby thereby adversly affecting traffic, public safety and other social and economic factors of the area.

Having weighed such injury, damage, or interference against the betterment of the people of the whole or any part of Ontario by the protection, conservation and wise management in Ontario of the environment which would result from the undertaking being subject to the application of the Act;

The undersigned is of the opinion that it is in the public interest to order and orders that the undertaking is exempt from the application of the Act for the following reasons:

A. The initial phases of Crookes Park were exempt from the Act and the proponent has carried out the project implementation to date in an environmentally acceptable manner;

B. The revised Master Plan, associated reports and other environmental studies have been carried out with the participation of a wide range of affected public and private groups;

C. The undertaking lakefill construction is 70% complete. Most of the potentially deleterious effects have already taken place. Subsequent construction is primarily to protect the existing landforms and provide for completion of the lakefill including construction of a breakwater to assist in the protection of these landforms;

D. The undertaking will have a positive environmental effect in conjunction with provision of shoreline erosion protection;

E. Application of the Act would result in increased costs due to the costs of preparing the environmental assessment and due to increased project implementation costs resultant from any delays in scheduling. Such cost increases would be directly allowable to the public sector, particularly the Province of Ontario and the City of Mississauga;

F. Application of the Act would result in delays in project implementation and thereby remove the beneficial effects of economic stimulation to the private sector at a time when such stimulation is critical to the local economy;

G. The public has been notified of the purpose of the project, and public opinion on the development, especially as expressed at the public meeting on the draft Master Plan in May, 1981, has been favourable. Any negative social impact would be further aggravated by the delay in implementation that would be necessary to prepare an environmental assessment.

This exemption is subject to the following terms and conditions:

1. The CVCA shall submit in writing to the Director, Central Region, Ministry of the Environment (MOE), by July 29, 1983, for approval:

   (a) a yearly operating plan for 1983 showing the location of and describing the scheduling and procedures for filling, stockpiling and armouring;

   (b) a design for an overall environmental monitoring program to apply to the period of construction and stabilization;

   (c) the detailed design of an environmental monitoring program for 1983;

   (d) a plan or plans for the design and timing of placement of final armouring for all existing and proposed fill areas; and

   (e) a program to ensure that the fill which exceeds the MOE's Lakefill Quality Guidelines as they may be amended by the Minister of the Environment from time to time is not received at the site. The program shall be administered by the CVCA.

2. The CVCA shall submit to the Director, Central Region, MOE, for approval prior to February 1, of each year, a yearly operating plan and detailed design for the yearly environmental monitoring program and a report on the carrying out of the operating plan and the results of the environmental monitoring of the preceding year.

3. The CVCA shall submit to the Director, Central Region, MOE for approval a report, taking into account the current and future operations at the Lakeview Generating Station, which may include plans, modelling and analysis, dealing with:

   (a) the construction methods and construction scheduling of the entrance to the proposed boat basin and any other structures in relation to the probability of:

      — the thermal plume from the Lakeview Generating Station impinging the intakes of the MOE's South Peel-Lakeview Water Treatment Plant; and — the thermal plume entrapping the intake of the Ontario Hydro Lakeview Generating Station.

   (b) the area to be affected and the magnitude of the effects on water quality and the aquatic ecosystem by redirecting the thermal, chlorine and other chemical water discharges from the Lakeview Generating Station.

   (c) the proposed measures to overcome the effects to water quality in the aquatic ecosystem.

   The report must include a recommendation from the Director, Thermal Generation Division, Ontario Hydro and a recommendation from the Director, Small Craft Harbours Branch, Fisheries and Oceans Canada with regard to the content and implications of the report to their respective areas of concern.

4. Prior to commencing construction of the breakwall to cross the MOE waterlot, the CVCA shall,

(a) submit for approval by the Regional Director, Central Region, MOE, a report containing engineering drawings, specifications and construction schedules showing the sections of the breakwall to cross the intake pipes at the South Peel-Lakeview Water Treatment Plant and demonstrating that the pipes will not be harmed by any of the proposed construction and that it will not interfere with the installation of additional intake pipes; and

(b) enter into an agreement with Her Majesty the Queen in Right of Ontario as represented by the Minister of the Environment to obtain the necessary licence to cross the intake pipes and to indemnify Her Majesty from any loss, damage, claims, costs or increased expense Her Majesty might suffer or incur in connection with the construction or existence of the breakwall.

REGULATION TO AMEND REGULATION 746 OF REVISED REGULATIONS OF ONTARIO, 1980 MADE UNDER THE PENSION BENEFITS ACT

1. Section 1 of Regulation 746 of Revised Regulations of Ontario, 1980 is amended by striking out "and" at the end of clause (g) and by adding thereto the following clauses:

(ba) "administrator of the plan" includes the employer, insurer, trustee or any other person responsible for the administration of the pension plan;

(bb) "bridging supplement" for purposes of the Act and this Regulation, except where otherwise provided, means a periodic payment made to a member of a plan on his retirement that,

(i) will supplement the income of the member between the date of his retirement and the commencement of payment of benefits to the member under the terms of the Old Age Security Act (Canada), Canada Pension Plan or the Quebec Pension Plan, as the case may be, and

(ii) will terminate in whole or in part upon the commencement of payment of benefits to the member under the plans referred to in subclause (i),

but does not include any special allowance;

(bc) "defined benefit pension plan" for purposes of the Act and this Regulation, means a pension plan under which pension benefits,

(i) are determined, in whole or in part, with reference to the remuneration of an employee for each year of service or for a selected number of years of service, or

(ii) are expressed, in whole or in part, either as,

(A) a fixed amount in respect of each year of service or for a selected number of years of service, or

(B) a fixed periodic amount;

. . . . . .

(fa) "multi-employer pension plan" means a pension plan organized and administered for employees of two or more employers who contribute to the plan by reason of agreement, by-law or statute to provide a pension benefit that is determined by periods of service with any or all of the participating employers, but does not include a pension plan where all participating employers are affiliates within the meaning of the Business Corporations Act;

. . . . . .

(ga) "special allowance" means a periodic payment made to a member of a plan on his retirement that,

(i) will supplement the income of the member between the date of his retirement and the commencement of payment of benefits to the member under the terms of the Old Age Security Act (Canada), Canada Pension Plan or the Quebec Pension Plan, as the case may be, and

(ii) will terminate in whole or in part upon the commencement of payment of benefits to the member under the plans referred to in subclause (i),

the amount of which may be adjusted depending on the income of the member resulting from his employment subsequent to retirement; and

2. Section 14 of the said Regulation is revoked and the following substituted therefor:

14.—(1) Upon the termination or winding up of a pension plan, the administrator of the plan shall file with the Commission a windup report prepared by a person authorized by section 8, setting out the nature of the benefits to be provided under the plan and a description of the methods of allocation and the priorities for determining the full or partial benefits of the members thereof.

(2) In addition to the windup report required under subsection (1), where the windup involves a defined benefit pension plan, the administrator of the plan shall provide the Commission with such information as it requires to determine the persons whose pension benefits are guaranteed under section 31 of the Act, the amounts of such guaranteed benefits, the amounts to be contributed to the plan under section 32 of the Act and such other information as the Commission requires.

(3) Where a pension plan is terminated or wound up, all funds held for the purpose of providing pension benefits and any other benefits provided under the plan shall continue to be subject to the requirements of this Regulation.

(4) No assets of the plan shall be applied toward the provision of any benefits until the Commission has approved the windup report required under subsection (1), except that the administrator of the plan may pay as they fall due any periodic payments to persons entitled thereto and may pay any refunds of the employee contributions to persons entitled thereto.

(5) Where the plan has been terminated otherwise than by declaration of the Commission under subsection 28 (2) of the Act, and after the windup report required under subsection (1) has been approved by the Commission, the administrator of the plan may pay, prior to the completion of any additional funding required under section 32 of the Act,

(a) the accumulated value of any additional voluntary contributions; and

(b) the value of any pension benefits earned as of the date of termination or winding up with respect to service and remuneration until that date in accordance with the plan provisions, to the extent that such benefits have been funded.

(6) Notwithstanding the terms of the plan, where a pension plan is terminated or wound up, no part of the assets of the plan shall revert to the benefit of the employer unless,

(a) provision has been made for payment of all pension benefits and other benefits under the terms of the plan to employees, former employees, pensioners, dependants and estates;

(b) provision has been made for the increased value or amount of benefits with respect to service in Ontario which may result from the application of section 26 of the Act;

(c) in calculating benefits for the purposes of clause (a), all benefits provided to members of the plan in respect of service as of the date of termination or winding up shall be treated as fully vested without regard to age or service conditions for vesting under the terms of the plan; and

(d) the pension plan provides for such reversion to the employer.

(7) In the case of the termination of a pension plan that is exempted by section 32 from the provisions of subsection 28 (2) and sections 30, 31, 32 and 33 of the Act, or that is not a defined benefit pension plan, for the purposes of subsection 20 (9) of the Act, the person preparing the windup report required under subsection (1) shall reduce the amounts of the additional pension benefits to which a person may otherwise be entitled to such extent as will in his opinion prevent unfair impairment of the other pension benefits accrued under the plan, provided that the aggregate value of any additional pension benefits already paid or proposed to be paid after such reduction shall be not less than the value, as estimated by the person preparing the report, of special payments made in respect of such additional pension benefits.

(8) Where a pension plan is terminated or wound up in part, the rights and interests of the employees and former employees thereby affected shall be not less than those to which such employees and former employees would have been entitled if the whole of the pension plan had been terminated or wound up on the same date as such partial termination or winding up.

(9) Subject to subsection (10), the cancellation of a certificate of registration of a pension plan or the suspension or cessation of employer contributions to a pension plan shall be construed as a termination of the plan except where a surplus or experience gain is utilized to provide contributions.

(10) Where employer contributions to a pension plan cease as the result of the adoption of a new plan, the original pension plan shall be deemed not to have been terminated or wound up under this section or under any section of the Act and the benefits of the original plan shall be deemed to be benefits associated with the new plan in whole or in part in respect of service prior to the establishment of the new plan, whether or not the assets and liabilities of the original plan have been consolidated with those of the new plan. O. Reg. 500/83, s. 2.

3. The said Regulation is amended by adding thereto the following sections:

14*a*.—(1) This section applies only to defined benefit pension plans other than those referred to in section 32.

(2) In this section and sections 14*b*, 14*c*, 14*d*, 14*e* and 14*f*,

(a) "basic Ontario liabilities" means that portion of the remaining liabilities that is allocated under paragraph 4 of subsection (3) for service in Ontario;

(b) "Ontario assets" means the portion of the fair market value of the plan assets allocated for service in Ontario under paragraph 5 of subsection (3);

(c) "Ontario windup liability" means the sum determined under paragraph 9 of subsection (3);

(d) "remaining liabilities" means the value of benefits determined as required under paragraph 2 of subsection (3);

(e) "windup funded ratio" means the ratio of the Ontario assets to the Ontario windup liability.

(3) A windup report for a defined benefit pension plan shall be prepared in the following manner:

1. The accumulated value of any additional voluntary contributions shall be determined and provision made for the immediate payment of an amount equal to such value from the plan.

2. The remaining liabilities consisting of the value of all benefits under the plan including,

   i. the accrued benefits for members not yet vested under the terms of the plan, and

   ii. the value of any escalated adjustments as defined in section 3 which have been granted, but not including,

   iii. the value of benefits determined under paragraph 1,

   iv. the increased value or amount of any benefit resulting from the application of section 26 of the Act, and

   v. the value of any escalated adjustment as defined in section 3 that is related to a future change in a general price or wage index, shall be determined using assumptions and methods appropriate for a termination plan.

3. The remaining liabilities apportioned in respect of any participant in the plan shall not be less than the value of any required contributions made by the participant to the plan.

4. The remaining liabilities shall be allocated to each of the following categories of service:

   i. Service in Ontario.

   ii. Service, if any, in a designated province.

   iii. Any other service.

5. Subject to section 14*b*, the excess of the fair market value of the plan assets over the accumulated value of any additional voluntary employee contributions determined under paragraph 1 shall be allocated in proportion to the remaining liabilities that are attributable to the categories of service set out in paragraph 4.

6. The Ontario assets shall be dealt with as set out in paragraphs 10 and 11.

7. The portion of the plan assets allocated for the provision of benefits resulting from service in a designated province shall be dealt with in accordance with the legislation of the province.

8. The portion of plan assets allocated for the provision of benefits resulting from any other service shall be dealt with on an equitable basis as determined by the person preparing the windup report.

9. After completing the procedures set out in paragraphs 1 to 8, the person preparing the windup report shall determine the Ontario windup liability consisting of the sum of,

   i. the liability for all benefits that are guaranteed under section 31 of the Act, and

   ii. the liability for any other benefits with respect to service in Ontario that are vested under the terms of the plan prior to the application of the provisions respecting termination or windup of the plan, the Act or the regulations.

10. Where the Ontario assets exceed the Ontario windup liability, the Ontario assets shall be applied first to provide for such Ontario windup liability with the remaining assets applied to provide on an equitable basis acceptable to the Commission for the benefits that are included in the calculation of the basic Ontario liabilities but not included in the calculation of the Ontario windup liability.

11. Any surplus remaining after the application of assets as set out in paragraph 10 may, subject to the requirements of subsection 14 (6), revert to the employer. O. Reg. 500/83, s. 3, part.
